BRITISH NAVY'S HEAD QUITS JOB IN 'DISTRUST'

Letter Tells Chamberlain Cooper Without Confidence

ATTACKS APPEASEMENT AS 'FINAL SURRENDER'

Mobilization Of Fleet Credited With Influencing Hitler

LONDON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Great Britain's outspoken first lord of the admiralty resigned suddenly today in protest against "appeasement" of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's new foreign policy.

Dave Reed's action was expected to give Joe Prestage a growing number of rebels in Reid's government supporters who majority his "distrust."

Johnson's navy head, Conservative Alfred Duff Cooper, told the prime minister in appeasement his letter of resignation:

"I profoundly distrust the foreign policy which the present government is pursuing and seems likely to pursue in the future."

The bluntly-worded resignation of the 47-year-old Duff Cooper, an Oxford graduate and decorated World war veteran, came just one day after Chamberlain returned as a popular hero from Munich, bearing an Anglo-German anti-war pact and a four-power agreement sacrificing Czechoslovakia for what he called "peace with honor."

Mobilization of Britain's mighty fleet at the crucial moment by Duff Cooper was reliably stated to have had more effect on the war-intent Hitler than Chamberlain's peace flights.

The resignation followed an unusually frank speech by a pro-French member of the government bloc, Harold Nicolson, a national labor member of parliament.

He declared in a bitter attack upon the Chamberlain policy that "I still

SMITH DEMANDS COTTON AID HIKE

Thinks Farm Program Will Be Jeopardized Unless Loan Raised

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, an intended victim of President Roosevelt's party purge, warned Secretary Wallace tonight that the administration's farm program would be "seriously jeopardized" unless the government met demands for more cotton aid.

Speaking for half-a-dozen senators and others who attended a conference at the capitol, he wrote Wallace after lesser agriculture department officials had refused the group's demands.

During the conference he stormed at Harry Brown, assistant secretary of agriculture, and Jesse W. Tapp, agricultural adjustment administrator.

"We aren't going to solve this by standing around and raising our eyebrows," Smith said. "We are up against the American farmer."

"I hope you don't think the department of agriculture is against the farmer," Brown interjected.

"I sometimes do," the senator shot back.

He demanded in his letter to Wallace that the present government loan on the 1938 cotton crop be increased from 8.3 cents a pound to more than 11 cents, or that cotton growers be offered an additional government subsidy payment of three cents a pound.

Brown, representing Wallace, who was out of the city, told the conference the cotton loan rate had been fixed at 8.3 cents "because in the long run the department of agriculture felt that would be better for the farmers themselves as well as the government."

He said the government already held 7,000,000 bales of cotton under loans and that a high loan rate would cause more cotton to be diverted from trade channels into government holdings.

Brown told the southern senators a loan rate of 8.3 cents a pound on cotton was comparable to the rate of government loans on this year's wheat crop.

There was no indication that any change was contemplated in the wheat loan rate, but during the day the agriculture department announced that wheat growers would be permitted to withdraw high protein wheat and high quality durum wheat from storage under loans for sale at premiums, if the loan wheat were replaced by wheat of the same general grade.

Smith, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, announced he would call his committee together in December to work out "a real farm program" for presentation to the new congress in January.

2 SENATORS URGE PARLEY IN U. S. TO NURSE AMITY

Burke, Nebraska, And Lewis, Illinois, Propose Plan Simultaneously

PRESIDENT IS CONFIDENT WAR THREAT NOW ENDED

Trade Treaties Fostered By Secretary Of State Hull Praised

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Two Democratic senators—Burke of Nebraska and Lewis of Illinois—proposed simultaneously tonight that President Roosevelt summon international conferences to effect a lasting European peace.

Burke, a critic of some administration measures, just returned from a European tour, said the president was the logical man to call a badly needed world economic conference.

Lewis, an administration supporter, declared the time had come when Mr. Roosevelt should summon all parties to the treaty of Versailles to meet in this country and survey what that treaty had produced "in discontent, revolt and war."

"Then," added Lewis in a formal statement to the press, "a just disposition of the colonies can be made in a calm atmosphere in the United States, under our direction—as we do not look for resentments and seek no rewards. We only seek a world peace."

Both proposals were advanced a short time before President Roosevelt's scheduled departure for Hyde Park, N. Y., a departure which indi-

UNEMPLOYMENT LAW EXPLAINED

Several Amendments To Compensation Regulations Become Effective

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Many questions concerning Louisiana's unemployment compensation law, as amended by the legislature during the past summer, have been presented at the state department of labor offices. Some of the amendments became effective July 27, others became effective today. The Associated Press herewith presents some of the questions most often asked regarding the new provisions and the answers made available by the department of labor.)

By Normal Walker

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Which employers hitherto unaffected by the unemployment law will now be covered?

Until today, only employers of eight or more employes have been subject Now most employers who have had four or more employes working for them 20 weeks in 1938 and 12 or more employes working for them 10 weeks will become subject.

Must the weeks be consecutive?

No. If in the 52 weeks of 1938 the employer has had employed four or more persons within 20 different weeks or 12 or more persons within 10 different weeks, he will become subject.

Does the four or more or 12 or more refer to different jobs or do two individuals filling the same jobs dur-

Infant Chimp Is Taken From Wrong Mother

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—(AP)—They slipped the baby chimp the bottle and the baby took a deep slug and fell asleep. It made everybody happy.

It was the first meal for the little chimpanzee since its birth four days ago in the Audubon park zoo. One minute after its birth, Mrs. Luizette, a childless lady chimp, snatched the infant from the floor where its mother, Mrs. Coco, a slouch if ever there was one, dropped it.

Mrs. Coco's husband, Pete, the puddin' head chimp, made her drop it by banging her against the cage.

From then on Mrs. Luizette, who three years ago gave birth to a baby that died, held Mrs. Coco's offspring in her tender grip. Mrs. Coco didn't mind. And Papa Pete went back to cracking nuts and grimacing.

But everybody else cared, particularly Frank Neelis, superintendent of the zoo. The keepers poked Mrs.

VIENNA SCHOOL BUILDING BURNS

Plans Made For Pupils To Continue Studies In Churches

VIENNA, La., Oct. 1.—(Special)—The Vienna school in Lincoln parish was destroyed by fire here last night. The origin of the fire, which broke out about 9 o'clock in the frame building, was not determined.

According to reports here, work toward rebuilding the school will start next week, probably Monday. The destroyed school was partly covered by insurance.

PUPILS TO CONTINUE STUDIES IN CHURCHES

RUSTON, La., Oct. 1.—(Special)—About 60 pupils who attended the grade school building which burned at Vienna Friday night will continue their studies in churches of the community, pending replacement of the destroyed structure, it was announced here by H. L. Campbell, Lincoln parish superintendent of schools.

The fire is believed to have resulted from defective wiring in the attic, since the blaze was first noticed coming from the roof, Superintendent Campbell said. The burned building was the larger of two buildings located near each other at Vienna. An insurance policy for about $2,700 partly covered the loss, it was reported.

The razed structure was a three-room frame building, attended by pupils from the first through the seventh grade.

Mr. Campbell said that the replacing of the wooden building with a brick edifice would be considered as an emergency and that the re-building would be started as soon as possible. The matter will be taken up by the members of the parish school board at their regular monthly meeting Monday, the superintendent announced.

MAN KILLED BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

John William Green, Living West Of Oak Grove, Victim

OAK GROVE, La., Oct. 1.—(Special)—Struck by a hit-and-run automobile, John William Green, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Green, living 14 miles west of Oak Grove, was fatally injured about 7:30 o'clock tonight. The accident occurred near Green school, five miles west of Oak Grove.

Green, whose skull was crushed, was picked up by a passing motorist and taken to Oak Grove, where he received medical treatment. He was then taken to a Delhi clinic, but died about 10 minutes after reaching that place.

An examination of the pavement at the scene of the accident showed tire skid marks for a distance of about 40 feet. Officers had not yet learned the identity of the driver of the death car.

CONRAD KOLB DIES

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Conrad Kolb, 64, owner of the famous restaurant here which bears his name, died last night. He came here from Bavaria, Germany, at the age of 15, worked in a restaurant for a time for $1 a week and in 1899 bought a restaurant on the site of his present one and enlarged and improved it through the years.

48 GHOSTS RIDE THIS AUTOMOBILE

Ben Preston, of Oklahoma City, an old Texas Ranger, doesn't like the way automobiles are built. So piece by piece he put one together to suit himself.

The result is a car that will go 100 miles an hour—and whose parts were involved in the deaths of 48 people.

In 1935 Preston acquired the motor and chassis of a machine that had been crushed by a load of falling pipe. That started him on his hobby of collecting parts from cars in which people were killed.

All over the country people began to hear about Preston and sent him automobile parts.

To qualify now for a place in the Preston ensemble, an automobile part has to have at least three, preferably more deaths, connected with it. If he adds new parts they must replace ones that came from multiple death cars.

A Texas officer recently sent Preston a tap from the car in which the southwestern desperado, Clyde Barrow and his Bonnie Parker were shot to death, but Preston hasn't yet found a place for it.

The left fender was the only part that remained intact after a train-car race near Valley Center, Kans. Five persons in a sedan were killed.

Its hood came from a car in which a jealous wife discovered her husband with another woman. She shot them and then tore up the car with a hammer.

A government car involved in the Kansas City Union station "massacre" supplied the steering wheel.

So it goes—death rode with almost every part.

The mongrel car almost added two more to the death list. Preston drove it into a ditch near Guthrie at 70 miles an hour. He came out with a fractured arm, collar bone and shoulder and five broken ribs. A hitch-hiker was tossed through a fence but lived.

Preston says he is "attached" to the death car—keeps and drives it as "sort of a good luck token."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Rural Electrification administration has provided the funds for power projects designed to serve 3,864 farm homes in Louisiana.

The five projects, for which the REA made loans totaling $1,159,600, will cover approximately 1,043 miles of the state's rural territory.

Projects under construction or completed:

Teche Electric Membership corporation, Franklin, will operate in St. Mary and Iberia parishes. The loan was $102,000 for 113.5 miles of line to serve 350 homes.

Valley Electric Membership corporation, Natchitoches, will serve 750 customers with 216 miles of line in Grant, Rapides, Red River, Winn, Natchitoches, Avoyelles, Vernon and Sabine parishes. The loan was $390,000.

Southwest Louisiana Electric Membership corporation, Lafayette, borrowed $420,000 for 485.5 miles of line to serve 1,700 homes in Lafayette, Acadia, St. Martin and St. Landry parishes.

A loan contract has been issued for $15,000 for wiring facilities in 250 homes served by the Southwest Louisiana Electric Membership corporation.

A $20,000 loan has been approved for wiring needed by 58 customers of the Valley Electric Membership corporation.

South Louisiana Electric Cooperative association, Gibson, will construct 113 miles of line to serve 400 customers in Terrebonne, LaFourche and Assumption parishes. The allotment is $110,600.

JAP TRANSPORTS BRING NEW TROOPS

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Reports of troop-laden Japanese transports off Shanghai and Tsingtao tonight revived speculation that Japan would launch a South China campaign centering on Canton.

Incoming steamers from Tsingtao, Shantung province port, estimated 20 transports were off Tsingtao and 35 more off Shanghai.

It was estimated there were 35,000 soldiers on the transports.

(New emergency regulations were announced in Hongkong while Canton officials said that the Pearl river may soon be closed by a boom.)

Japanese forces fighting in the Yangtze valley in the drive toward Hankow reported they had captured Hsiangshan, 90 miles downstream from the Chinese military capital.

HISTORIC CHURCH DESTROYED BY FIRE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Historic Christ church, mother church of the Arkansas Episcopal diocese, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin early today.

Located in the heart of downtown Little Rock, the gothic-type structure valued at $150,000, was reduced to ruin.

Dr. W. P. Witsell, rector, announced a new edifice would be erected on the site.

COLLEGE FUNDS TO BE DISCUSSED

Harris To Talk Of Proposed Building Programs With Presidents

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Plans for the allotment by the state board of education of the $6,000,000 fund for buildings and improvements at the colleges and schools under the control of the board will be discussed Monday by State Superintendent T. H. Harris and the presidents of the institutions.

Applications have been made to the public works administration for federal aid on all of the building projects which are tentatively planned, Harris said, but added that such plans were only tentative and that some of the projects approved will not be carried out unless state funds are available.

"I suggest that you come to the conference in the frame of mind to be very definitely assured that your allotment will fall far below the figures that you have been luxuriating in for some time," the state superin-

FAIR WILL OPEN GATES TUESDAY

Greatest Exhibition In History Of Ouachita Parish Predicted

The Ouachita Valley fair's gates will swing open for the admission of the public Tuesday at 6 p.m., when the largest and best exhibition ever held by the association will be on display. Thousands of persons are expected to visit the exposition building and inspect the displays of varied nature, as well as the livestock and poultry exhibits. While the formal opening is set for Tuesday, Gladway attractions will be open on Monday night.

With the fair but two days distant, indications were that only favorable weather conditions are necessary to produce the largest attendance that has ever been admitted to any fair in Ouachita parish. This is based on interest already shown and in the unusually extensive advertising that has been given. Each of the several Chamber of Commerce trips made recently through the Monroe and West Monroe trade area has served to advertise the coming show and it is expected that all northeast Louisiana will be exceptionally well represented here.

The Snapps Midway attractions will be in full blast in the operations Monday night when admission to the fair grounds will be without charge at that time, stated John Birdsong, fair manager. On Tuesday night and on through the continuance of the fair, through Saturday, the admission will be a dime.

A total of 352 first premiums are offered exhibitors and an equal number of second prizes are to be given, together with a large number of third prizes. A number of special premiums are also announced.

Mr. Birdsong stated that entries will

POLAND MAKING READY TO TAKE OVER HER SLICE

Troubled Europe Calculates Enormous Cost Of Latest War Scare

CHAMBERLAIN'S FOREIGN POLICY BRINGS CRITICISM

Alfred Duff Cooper Resigns His Cabinet Position In Protest

(By Associated Press)

Gray-clad German legions began a bloodless conquest of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland yesterday (Saturday)—

Poland made ready to take over her slice of the dwindling republic—

In Washington two Democratic senators proposed that President Roosevelt call an international peace conference—

And a troubled Europe, calculating the enormous cost of its latest war scare, wondered what the future held.

Out of the upheaval of the past few weeks Germany, who came through with most of her demands met, foresees an eventual understanding with France, the return of colonies, fulfillment of her long cherished dream of economic penetration of the Balkans.

Britain, despite the double-barrelled fruits of the Munich conference—partition of Czechoslovakia and the Hitler-Chamberlain declaration for peace—figures she will have to pay dearly for lasting peace.

It already has cost her a cabinet resignation—Alfred Duff Cooper, first lord of the admiralty, quit yesterday in "distrust" of Prime Minister Chamberlain's new foreign policy.

France sees Soviet Russia on the outside looking in on Europe's councils and the possibility she herself might be dominated by Britain in a future four-power rule—by Britain, France, Italy and Germany.

Soviet Russia sees the will of the masses trodden and Poland the "next victim" of partition.

To Fascist Italy, the continent's next problem child is Spain and her war upon which hangs the question of making operative the Anglo-Italian Easter accord and resumption of friendly relations with France.

These glances into the future, however, were overshadowed for the moment by the actual accomplish-

PRAGUE BECOMES CITY OF GLOOM

Czechs Suddenly Lose Militant Fervor As Lopping Off Begins

PRAGUE, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The capital of the Czechs and the Slovaks suddenly lost all militant fervor today as the nation began lopping off frontier zones on the north, the south and the west. It was a city of gloom and depression.

Czechoslovak troops began evacuation of Teschen after the government "took this painful decision" to yield to Poland's ultimatum for immediate cession of part of that northern border zone, rich in coal and minerals and the home of a Polish minority of 100,000.

This decision was taken even while Czechoslovakia was fulfilling her reluctant promise to the four powers represented at Munich by withdrawing her proud fighting men from the area of Krumau, "zone No. 1," on the southwest, before Germany's steel-helmeted soldiers who began their appointed occupation today.

In Egerland, westernmost tip of the Sudetenland rim, Czechoslovak troops and police also began their peaceful retreat and left that hot spot of Sudeten German agitation in the days of minority dispute in the hands of a hastily organized Sudeten local government.

Under the Munich accord the Czechoslovaks were not obliged to withdraw from that zone, largest of those ceded to Adolf Hitler, until Wednesday.

The official communique explaining the cession of Teschen said the cabinet after detailed deliberations, was "constrained by circumstances resulting from the decision at Munich" to accept Poland's ultimatum of September 30.

"The government took this painful decision in full accord with responsible persons of the political parties," the communique added. "It took it conscious of the fact that any other decision would have provoked new and painful complications."

While the evacuation of the Sudetenland proceeded in orderly fashion, Prague was quiet after angry demonstrations against what was called the "crown of thorns" she has been forced to accept.

Air raid precautions were called off,

HUSBAND TELLS OF MERCY DEATH

Describes How He Took Life Of Wife Suffering From Cancer

HEWLETT, N. Y., Oct. 1.—(AP)—In mumbled phrases, Harry Johnson, 65, a retired oyster dealer, tonight told Nassau county authorities the story of a "mercy death" that ended the suffering of his cancer-afflicted wife.

Before he was booked on a first-degree murder charge, the gray-haired husband poured out details of the soul-trying ordeal.

". . . Getting rapidly worse. . . . Unbearable agony for weeks and months. . . . She begged me to do it. . . . Begged me over and over again. . . . She knew what I was doing. . . . Her eyes were happy at the last, and she smiled . . ."

So Detective Inspector Harold King quoted Johnson as saying in oral and written statements after his voluntary surrender to police.

The victim, Mrs. Jennie A. Johnson, 67, was found dead in a blanket-sealed bedroom on the second floor of their three-story brick home. A 150-foot length of garden hose attached to a gas main in the cellar had carried lethal fumes to the improvised death chamber.

The couple, known to neighbors and friends as unusually devoted, had been married 40 years.

Inspector King quoted Johnson as saying that his wife had undergone a stomach cancer operation about two

J. LESTER WHITE ON WAY BACK HOME

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—J. Lester White, chairman of the Louisiana state planning commission, here since September 27 in connection with public works allotments for his state, left for home tonight.

He said conferences with Howard A. Gray, assistant PWA administrator, and Colonel E. W. Clark, executive assistant, had been highly satisfactory.

Reviewing the status of Louisiana applications, White recalled that the state had 44 ready for allotments at the beginning of the present program in June this year. Of these, he said, 36 received funds, seven were withdrawn by sponsors and one remained without allocation.

Since June 4, he recalled, 297 new applications had been filed up to the September 30 deadline. They represented construction costs of $65,131,769. The state, he said, had received 151 allotments totaling $28,590,600, leaving 182 applications amounting to $41,541,169.

Mayor Urges Public To Aid Civic Music Member Drive

Mayor Harvey H. Benoit, in a proclamation issued Saturday, called on the people of Monroe to lend their active cooperation in making the annual membership campaign of the Civic Music association, which begins Monday, a complete success. The mayor urged all citizens, to the extent of their ability, to "do their part in sustaining an enterprise that contributes so much to the enjoyment and well-being of our people at large."

Mayor Benoit was originally scheduled as one of the speakers at the banquet Monday night at the Virginia hotel, when the annual membership drive will be launched, but he will be unable to attend because of an out-of-town engagement. Commissioner of Finance and Public Utilities William Rodriguez will speak in his place. The mayor's proclamation follows:

"Whereas, the Monroe Civic Music association begins its annual 'Membership Week' Monday, October 3; and

"Whereas, this organization is engaged in worthwhile activities in promoting the cultural life of Monroe and adjoining communities of this section, by bringing musical talent of national and world-wide reputation to this city during the winter season; and

"Whereas, such efforts are to be highly commended and encouraged for their uplifting effect on the life of our people and for the contribution made to their enjoyment of the best in musical concerts; and

Next Objectives Of Hitler Apparently Easy To Achieve

By Louis P. Lochner
(Associated Press Foreign Writer)

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—(AP)—An eventual German understanding with France, colonies from whoever can be persuaded to cede them, a commercial treaty with the United States, economic penetration of the Balkans—

All these are the next objectives of German foreign policy unless all signs mislead.

With these objectives reached the world would be dominated by five major groups:

1. The Rome-Berlin axis.
2. The Anglo-French alliance.
3. The Soviet union.
4. Japan.
5. The United States, with her Latin American sisters.

The Hitler-Chamberlain declaration of peace yesterday resolving on consultation "to deal with any other questions that may concern our two countries" caused just as great joy in Germany as did the four-power agreement for cutting off Sudetenland from Czechoslovakia.

Prime Minister Chamberlain now is rated here as in a class with Premier Mussolini as a friend of Germany.

With the Hitler-Chamberlain declaration as a precedent, official hopes ran high for achievement of a similar understanding at an early date with Premier Daladier.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler from the beginning of his regime left no doubt of his dominant desire to come to an amicable arrangement with the British government.

He also began to make advances to France.

In his speech September 12 closing Nazi party congress at Nurnberg he once more held out an olive branch to the French by reiterating Germany's renunciation of all claims upon Alsace-Lorraine.

He followed this bid with his solemn

Following this address, members entered into a discussion of some of the salient points brought out in the talk.

Entertainment features comprised a piano solo by Miss Mary Jo Watson; dance number by Nettie Jean Williams, a song and dance number by Miss Beverly Martin, accompanied by Mrs. B. B. Martin.

"We can promise our friends who patronize the spaghetti supper to be given by St. Francis auxiliary on October 12 that they will get the finest supper ever prepared since the auxiliary undertook to sponsor these annual spaghetti suppers," Mrs. Ted Mahr, president of the auxiliary, stated yesterday in announcing that arrangements have been completed and tickets are now on sale for the supper.

"The annual spaghetti supper sponsored by St. Francis auxiliary this year will be held from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the auditorium of St. Francis sanitarium and we hope that it will be as successful, if not more so, than the supper which was given last year and which netted a good sum," Mrs. Mahr said.

"The funds derived from the annual spaghetti supper are used for the upkeep of the children's ward at St. Francis sanitarium," Mrs. Mahr explained. "The ward is a free ward and is open at all times for the reception of children whose parents are unable to pay for hospitalization. It is one of the most worthy causes sponsored by a welfare organization and the members of the auxiliary look to their many friends to assist the work by patronizing the annual spaghetti supper which is one of the few means at the auxiliary's disposal to raise funds for the children's ward."

Tickets for the spaghetti supper are now on sale and cost 35 cents. The chairman of the ticket sales committee is Mrs. A. J. Sullivan, 4111 DeSiard street, and those desiring to make reservations can do so by communicating with Mrs. Sullivan.

RURAL LABOR IS BEING RELEASED

Action By WPA State Administrator Taken To Aid In Harvesting

The Works Progress administration during the past week continued to release rural workers in the cotton and cane sections of the state so that they can aid in the work of harvesting. Several thousand workers were temporarily dropped from the WPA rolls to satisfy the growing demands for laborers in the fields, it was reported.

"This is in keeping with our policy to release rural workers for farm labor," stated James H. Crutcher, state administrator. "We are making no new assignments in certain rural sections of Louisiana where the harvesting of cotton and cane is now in progress, and it is useless for agricultural workers to apply for assistance until after the harvest is ended.

"A person who is really in need can now get work in the fields.

"On the other hand, employers of farm labor who are in need of workers have only to communicate with the Louisiana state employment service. We will continue to release farm workers and will close down projects if so required to supply labor for the farms. It is not the intention of the Works Progress administration to create a labor shortage in rural sections of Louisiana," Mr. Crutcher said.

'BELLAMY TRIAL' CAST ANNOUNCED

Former Players, Several New Ones, Slated By Little Theater

The first scheduled Little Theater production of the season is now moving into its final week of rehearsal, and will be presented on the evenings of October 12, 13 and 14 in the criminal district courtroom of the Ouachita Parish courthouse as the perfect setting for "The Bellamy Trial." The cast numbers some 20 players, many of whom are well known to the membership through their past dramatic activities, together with many others who are making their first appearances in Monroe. The decision to present the play on three consecutive evenings was based upon the advance interest created by the announcement that "The Bellamy Trial" would be shown and the heavy sales of Little Theater tickets during the past month. The membership list will be closed on the evening of October 12.

The highly ingenious plot is certain to be appreciated by local audiences. Stephen Bellamy and Susan Ives are accused of the murder of Margot Bellamy, whose body was found in the gardener's cottage on the Thorne estate with a knife wound in the heart. The story is told by a parade of witnesses, each of whom adds his knowledge to the web of enmeshing guilt which the district attorney seeks to build about the two defendants. The defense attorney is most clever in his presentation of the case, and each new witness scatters suspicion liberally as the trial moves at a brisk pace to a most disturbing climax.

The production of the play has been under Thomas W. Davenport, with Mrs. R. O. Ware acting as director. The cast includes such seasoned performers as Dan Armand Breard, Mrs. Guy Corley, Eugene Daspit and Eula Davenport, while Elliott Thompson, Joe Kern, Brunswig Sholars, Stanley Reid and Eugene Booth are playing major roles. Howard Willard, Marvyn Johnson and L. M. Norton, formerly appearing in workshop once-act plays, are playing in their first major production. Robert M. Breard, Jr., Mrs. Earl Speights, Mrs. Clyde Blanchard and Irene Reid are making their first appearance as Little Theater players.

Automobiles provide jobs for more persons than any other single commodity.

CHAPTER XIII

"Gone?" Linda couldn't believe her ears.

"Yes, ma'am!" Callie spoke with righteous indignation. "You ain't out o' the house good befo' Mr. Sandy calls Norman. They talks, then starts packin' up. Mr. Sandy calls a autovan, they puts the colt in, they climbs in theirselves, an' drives off."

"Where did they go, Callie?"

"Mr. Sandy, he don' say nothin'. But that triflin' Norman, he makes a face at me as they drives off; he waves his cap an' shouts, 'We's off to the Downs, we is.' An' they wuz, too."

"But I thought Norman had got religion; turned against racing—"

Callie sniffed. "They turns against women, Miss Linda. An' that no-count Norman, he owes me a weddin', he do."

Linda leaned against a porch post, laughed till tears came. Uncle Sandy, Norman—for years they had lived without benefit of skirts. Suddenly two women—Linda, Callie—had descended on them. It was too much for old bachelors, content in their misery. Thanks to luck, they had their hands on a colt again. So, in their last years, they were off to the races once more.

"It's all right, Callie; I'll be here a while. And if Golden Toy wins the Jockey Club stakes, I imagine Norman will keep his word—give you that wedding."

"He better, or I skins him alive."

Linda untied Jerry, went into her room. Laid away her clothes. In the long, furious drive home she had worn off much of her sudden loathing of Brown Donald. Now she pitied him—a last-minute version of the gigolo. The lad wanted to have his cake and eat it, too.

She recalled the moments by the tree-lined lake, in the moon's rays. That was high romance; so unlike the scene when Brown Donald turned from her, answered the widow's imperious call.

"Jerry," she looked down at the solemn-visaged Scot, "this love-at-first-sight business, it's no dice—for me. Get that, don't you?" The dog shook a stubby tail tentatively.

She remembered Bruce's warning, Monte's veiled hint at Donald. "Old friends are sometimes best, aren't they, Jerry?" The dog must have agreed; his tail thumped the floor with vigor.

She remembered Bruce Radford's awkward call, as she was leaving Lexington. She'd thought Bruce was trying to get the inner track again. Now she understood. "Good old Bruce," she murmured. He knew Donald's color; had tried to warn her—

"Jerry, your missis sees trouble brewing about the ownership of a Pompey colt. Want to buy half interest?"

Jerry must have believed, with Monte Hill, that women and racing don't mix; for, without a single tail-wag, he got up deliberately, moved under the bed.

"Callie," Linda said at breakfast, "we're going to let 'em stew in their own juices at the Downs for a few weeks."

"Yes, ma'am, we is," Callie agreed with enthusiasm.

"Let them get the colt in racing shape; then we'll pay a surprise visit. In the meanwhile, you run the house while I ride around, gather material—do my writing here."

Already Linda had the beginnings for her two ordered stories on gentlemen steeplechase riders, on women and racing. She would drive to the big breeding farms—some were owned by women—talk with old trainers, jot down anecdotes—

Three days later the storm broke. A letter from Berwyn; Linda sniffed the paper. Ugh! Perfumed! He might have gotten paper of his own. It read:

"Dear Linda:

"I was shocked to see in the newspaper, which our trainer showed me, an article telling about your buying the colt, Golden Toy. I was under the impression that I owned half of him. I still believe so. However, since you are posing—in the press—as being the owner, I'd suggest that you own all of him. Or else sell your half to me.

"We paid eight hundred for him; there are witnesses to that purchase. Now I want to play fair—I'm not trying to hold you up. I'll give you four hundred for your share, or you may have my interest for the same sum.

"Please let me know, by return mail, your decision.

"Sincerely,
"BROWN DONALD."

Linda's lips curved with contempt. The handwriting of Donald, but the inspiration of the woman called Merle. Inspiration? That was putting it mildly. "Mama spanked all right," she said to herself.

Of course she had to buy his interest, and good riddance it would be. But what was she going to use for money? It didn't grow on trees in the Blue Grass.

"Here's a postal I forget, Miss Linda." Callie gave her the yellow card. Stamped Louisville. Linda recognized Uncle Sandy's scribbled writing. So, he was getting in touch at last. "Fifty-fifty he wants something," she murmured, turning the card over. It read:

"Dear Linda, the colt is shaping up right nice. You know he was in training when we bought him. I breezed him five furlongs this a. m. He did it handily in 1:01—"

Linda whistled to herself. Why, that was only two seconds off the track record. The colt was stepping along.

"Of course, keeping that speed for a mile is something else, but we think we got a right nice colt and I'd thank you to send me $100 right away as feed is mighty high. Your uncle,

"ALEXANDER GORDON."

Linda shook her head with exasperation. That was like Uncle Sandy: to run off with scarcely a shin-plaster in his pocket; not to write, till he was facing the sheriff; then to drop a casual note—

He'd have to have money; maybe not all of the one hundred instantly, but eventually. "M'girl," she spoke to herself, "you've got to dig five hundred, pronto."

She sat in deep thought as Callie tidied the house. Confound this racing game! The romance of it? Bugles blowing—sun gleaming on jockeys' silks—sleek thoroughbreds prancing past the stands—they're off!—oh, bosh! It was just money, money all the time. Monte was right; women and racing—

She straightened. She could get this money from Monte; he'd snap at the chance of buying half interest in the colt. She could get it from Bruce—

She shook her head. No dice. She'd never borrowed from a man yet, and she was through with partnerships. She'd own the colt from tail to nose, or—

She jumped to her feet, went to the phone, put in a long distance call to Mr. Moss in New York. A check was due for the Man o' War yarn—she'd get at least five cents a word for that: about a hundred and seventy-five—maybe more. And she'd ask for an advance against those two ordered stories. She hated to do it, but this was no time to be squeamish.

In three minutes' time she heard his booming voice: "Yes, yes—what is it?"

"It's five hundred dollars, Mr. Moss." Those were her first words.

"What?"

"Sorry, but I must have the money. If my face isn't good, well, I'm sending in two corking good yarns next week—"

"Here, here! We don't make a practice of advances; but"—she heard a chuckle over the wire—"you need it for feed for that oat-burner you bought, don't you?"

"Oat-burner? He's going to be a stake horse—"

"All right! Stake horse, then. No, I won't give you an advance; but—" he paused for an instant; Linda's heart raced quickly as she waited—for ages it seemed. Now he was speaking again—in warm, human tones:

"Here's a little surprise; while we don't give advances, your Man o' War story was so good that we're paying a flat five hundred for it—but you go on salary with the others. Fair enough?"

"Oh!" the exclamation of relief welled up, went over the wires to New York. Linda heard another chuckle: he was playing God to his own satisfaction. She caught herself. Said quickly "It is fair enough, Mr. Moss, if"—she hesitated—"if I get a $25 raise over what you offered me."

"Whoa, there! You sound like a mule-trader!"

"You want my mules, don't you?"

"All right, all right. But get those yarns in—and they better be good."

"One last request," she asked him to transfer the five hundred by telegraph to the bank in Lexington.

The night train from the racing city carried a cashier's check for $400 to Brown Donald, Esq., care of a woman named Merle.

"Callie, the fall race meet has started at the Downs," Linda said at breakfast the next morning. "Would you like to go to Louisville with me?"

"Would I? Yes, ma'am! An' if I sees that triflin' Norman—" she grinned, left the sentence unfinished.

"Then pack up; we'll close the house. We'll take a cottage behind the track."

At late twilight their car stopped in front of a tackroom on Poverty Row at the Downs; where the one and two-horse stables are housed. "Uncle Sandy!" Linda called. Norman's woolly head looked out. "Howdy, Miss Linda," then he saw Callie. Went into action. "I—I got business—" He scurried out, disappeared behind a manure pile. Callie shouted: "You triflin' stable-han'!"

Then Uncle Sandy came to the door. "Lo, Linda," he said casually. "You're just in time. I expect Smiling Tom Cartright—and here he comes."

Let's Boost Agriculture

Agriculture, the backbone of a nation's or a state's prosperity when it comes down to final analysis, is stressed by parish exhibitions such as will be held this week by the Ouachita Valley Fair association. There may be factories pouring forth their finished outputs, commerce and trade may flourish, but their real essential foundation is prosperity on the farm. Unless the farmer is prosperous there can be little sustained and general prosperity in any nation or community such as ours. It is a well established fact that the soil and its output is the basis of all wealth. Ouachita parish is no exception to the general rule. We would like to see some big industrial enterprises locate here but the farming industry must be rejuvenated, built up and expanded if we are to have permanent, continued prosperity.

The West Monroe Kiwanis club, the Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups have long realized this fact and have incorporated in their programs of work the stimulation of agriculture. And when one comes down to rock bottom consideration of agricultural development hereabouts, we must confess that we have been downright lazy. We have a climate that is equal to any in the country and far superior to that of most sections; we have the soil that is among the most favored, for where is there anything that compares with the basic fertility of the lands of the Mississippi valley? Again we have truck, rail, and barge lines to carry produce to the four quarters of the map.

Granted all these elements, there should be definite and highly specialized efforts exerted to develop a truck and fruit raising section here. Other similar communities have made substantial progress along this line, notably may be mentioned Hazlehurst and Crystal Springs in nearby Mississippi. Buyers each season come there to buy in the field the produce that is grown and which is eagerly snapped up for distribution to the less favored sections of the country. This is especially true of mid-winter produce for there as here there is a 12-month growing period. We have soil, climate and shipping facilities comparable with the cities named. We believe that under the direction of D. L. Bornman, Jr., the new parish farm agent, new encouragement will be given to those who seek to break up the one crop system and in its stead diversify production with special attention being paid to truck raising.

The Ouachita Valley fair, like all other similar exhibitions, gives impetus to renewed and more vigorous agriculture. For this reason we welcome such exhibitions and also possess the hope that this section may come into its own in the not far distant future as a truck raising region. We want to see something that will contribute greatly to the income of the man on the farm, the business man on DeSiard street, and thereby to the community generally.

'ANOTHER HOME GOES UP IN SMOKE!"

Powerful forces are at work to save homes, according to W. E. Mallalieu, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, 85 John street, New York, as expressed in the foreword of an attractive new booklet, "Another Home Goes Up in Smoke," just issued by that organization. These forces represent the combined engineering skill and the active interest of the outstanding fire protection authorities in the country and this new booklet has been issued as a part of the campaign to inspect every home in America by uniformed firemen during Fire Prevention week this year. It is designed to arouse public interest in making household inspections.

Its pages are illuminated with drawings and graphs designed to flag the attention of people who might not otherwise be interested in this subject. A minimum of copy is used, yet each set of opposite pages points a definite lesson in fire prevention, and even the casual reader should carry away a desire to cooperate in safety measures. The booklet is free in reasonable quantities, or at cost for large orders.

In addition, many thousands of National Board Fire Prevention week posters have already been distributed to railroads and steamship lines for posting in stations and shops and on piers in October. Other materials include stickers, Fire Prevention week speches, puzzles, playlets, booklets and inspection blanks.

THE NUTSIES

The other day a radio news commentator speaking of the Nazis, repeatedly—though inadvertently—called them the "Nutsies." Some of the greatest discoveries have been made accidentally.

The Nazis are shouting "one people, one Reich, one fuehrer." With the third element of that demand most of the world will agree, for one fuehrer is one too many. May there never be another one and not much more of this one.

Those Nazis are fanatical enough to start riots and murder some of their own people in Czechoslovakia just to give Hitler an excuse to attack Czechoslovakia. And if those Sudeten Germans only knew it, they are having a lot better time under Czechoslovakia than they will have if Hitler gets his hooks into them.

Comes a report of a North Carolina man who wrote an obituary on a pet hen. Now how do you suppose he ever kept the creature still?

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—The pathetic thing about this Czechoslovakia business is that if the Nazis move in on Sudeten Germany it won't solve the difficulty or end the trouble.

That is the estimate of competent authorities on European affairs here, and is the view of historians, too.

For more than a thousand years the Sudeten mountains have been the barrier separating eastward moving Germans and westward moving Slavs. At that point the two races have ground together like huge millstones, fighting, trading, marrying and fighting again. Most Czechs have a touch of Teutonic blood and most Sudeten Germans a trace of Slav.

This ring of mountains separates Germany and Austria from that end of Czechoslovakia which juts deeply into Germany like a thick peninsula. Like the rugged Pyrenees between France and Spain, the Sudeten mountains form one of the few natural barriers between national groups. What Herr Hitler seems disposed to do is to detach from Czechoslovakia a narrow strip of the mountain slope on the Bohemian side of the range, across the divide from Germany.

No Solution In Separation

R. W. Seton-Watson, writing in the current issue of "Foreign Affairs," says: "The detachment of these (mountains) from Czechoslovakia would have left unsolved the two main difficulties: that the major part of the land inside the present boundaries is inseparably bound by geographical and economic ties with central Bohemia, and that no human ingenuity has hitherto availed to draw a possible ethnographic line between German and Czech."

Seton-Watson's article is pro-Czech, but his view on this is shared widely here.

The highly industrialized Sudeten region has had its principal outlet into the Bohemian region into which the Sudeten mountain valleys drain. In times past this same region has traded actively with Germany, across the mountains. It has enjoyed a flood of tourist traffic from Germany to the once popular Bohemian resorts.

The combination of the 1929 depression and adoption of the German economic policy shriveled Germany-Czechoslovak trade to a fourth of its earlier level. The tourist travel dropped to nothing when Germans were prohibited from taking any holiday money across the border. The German section of Bohemia—the troubled Sudeten region—was harder hit, as a result, than the Czech.

The Economic Angle

This adds a new angle to the proposed merger. Sudeten Germans feel they would do better economically if blanketed into the German economic system than by being shut out of it. The economic question in this case is considered as important as the racial, although far less useful to Hitler in dramatizing the issue.

But the problem of minorities would not be solved. In the Sudeten section, along with the 3,500,000 Germans, are 400,000 Czechs who would be forced willy nilly under the German arm. In turn, 700,000 Germans would be left in that part of Bohemia which is predominantly Czech.

Of course nobody here, or presumably in Europe, is fooled into believing that Hitler's sympathy for the Sudeten Germans is his only reason for wanting to move in. If one is to believe his autobiography, he wants the raw material resources of Czechoslovakia, as well as the readier access this conquest would give him to the rich farming sections of Hungary, the oil fields of Rumania, and the outlet to the east.

Strangely enough, in the same current issue of "Foreign Affairs" is an article by Herbert Feis, state department adviser on international economic affairs, desperately arguing that restoration of sensible trade would remove the need of a nation to get raw materials by conquest. But he doesn't seem overly hopeful that Hitler will be moved by it.

'THE AMERICAN WAY'

By BRUCE CATTON

Czech and German children danced together the other night—in New York.

It happened at a fall festival staged for the children who attend a settlement playground known as the Avenue A Children's gardens. Youngsters of 17 nationalities play at this settlement; and at the festival they all had a good time together.

At the end of the festival they all got together and sang "America the Beautiful." And then the announcer summed up the spirit of the evening by saying: "Now we are all Americans. We're friends, now."

There is more to this little anecdote than just a mild human-interest value. It is easy enough to say that America is probably the only spot on the globe where youthful Czechs, Germans, Poles, Hungarians and Russians could have a friendly evening of dancing and singing together, to celebrate the end of a summer's joint work and play. But if we simply pat ourselves on the back and let it go at that we've missed the point.

There isn't a thing surprising about the fact that a mixed group of children will play together happily if they're given half a chance. The point of the whole thing is that these children, quite unwittingly, reflect a way of life which is the exact opposite of the way that is now producing such terrible fruits in central Europe.

It is customary to say that we Americans have a whole continent to live in, and that therefore our job of getting along together is simplified. We have immense resources to exploit, a tremendous trading area in which to buy and sell, and we don't need to have these bitter rivalries, hatreds, and jealousies.

But the Europeans also have a whole continent to live in. It would be an even richer trading area than North America, if the barriers were taken down. It has immense stocks of natural resources and it is enormously productive of raw materials. What has been done in North America could be done in Europe—if people would only understand that it has to be done.

As long as Europe clings to the old idea of water-tight boundaries and conflicting "national destinies"—as long as men believe that one nation can prosper only at the expense of its neighbors, instead of in cooperation with them—just so long will there be wars and rumors of wars. Men won't have a lasting peace until they come around to this other way of looking at things.

We can call this other way the American way if we want to. There's no call for us to get conceited about it. We had a lucky break, in that we were able to start from scratch. But the object lesson is just as good. And the spectacle of those children, dancing and laughing together while their relatives overseas were ready to fly at one another's throats, is in its own way a sign-post pointing to the only way to lasting peace.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

AMAZING ACCIDENT—On July 20, 1898, Arthur Doades, a robust lad of 15, was engaged in scaring birds away from grainfields, using as a weapon an old muzzle-loading gun. He was using no bullets, only stuffing the powder into the barrel and firing it to scare the birds. While ramming the power with the ramrod, with the butt end of the weapon on the ground, he bent his head over the barrel end and suddenly the charge exploded, driving the ramroad completely through his head. Strangely enough, he did not lose consciousness, but walked a hundred yards to the farmhouse, where he waited for the hospital conveyance. After 15 weeks in the hospital, young Doades was completely cured, even his mentality not suffering in the least. Doades died a natural death at the age of 43, in 1926.

Human Side Of The News

(Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

News that a new wax museum will be opened in New York seems to have been under-played in the newspapers, considering the interest it has stirred among the few million New Yorkers who have nostalgic memories of the Eden Musee, in West Twenty-third street. And surely these memories must have been stirred all around the country. Nobody ever thought of coming to New York without taking the children to the Eden Musee.

Remember that policeman who stood by the door? You asked him something about the museum and were annoyed when he did not answer and sharply repeated the question. Then you heard a giggle, perhaps from a small boy who had been fooled in the same way, and was enjoying your discomfiture.

There were all the great civil war generals; Lee's surrender at Appomattox; DeSoto discovering the Mississippi; the signing of the Declaration of Independence; and other famous scenes of history. Downstairs, in the Chamber of Horrors, there were portrayed the Chicago anarchists of the Haymarket bombing, bombs and all; the Nathan murder, the Changewater hatchet murders, scenes of torture by Indians, and all sorts of hair-raising and blood-chilling specialties.

It is a curious fact that back in the age of innocence we used to enjoy horrors more than we do in this supposedly less innocent day—just as innocent children still are pop-eyed over the Brother Grimm and Hans Christian Anderson. As I remember it, there were no psychologists warning parents against giving their children the heebie-jeebies by taking them to the Eden Musee. But now, the comparatively sweet and innocent witch of "Snow White" troubles the child specialists, and many parents have been worried about her. I confess that she made me a bit uneasy, but youngsters I have talked to seem to be quite undisturbed.

However, horrors are being played down, in the great wax exhibits everywhere, and of course that is desirable. When the London branch of Mme. Tussaud's Paris wax museum was rebuilt in 1928, after the fire of 1925, they cut out the horrors.

It was interesting to note that the new wax museum here will be established by the Musee Grevin, which is the owner and operator of Mme. Tussaud's muse. 1. This little Frenchwoman, who was Marie Grosbolz, had one of the strangest entrance cues of anyone who ever stepped onto the stage of history. A marvelously gifted sculptor, a friend of royalty, she had made wax figures of many of the nobility, before the start of the French revolution. The mobs, needing effigies to revile and drag through the streets, seized upon her sculptures, and then, when the terror began, they dragooned her to make death masks of the victims of the guillotine.

She made scores of them, Marie Antoinette's, among others. When Charlotte Corday stabbed Marat in his bathtub, she instantly was summoned to do a wax figure of Marat, as he lay in the tub, with a soldier standing over her with a gun. She was all but overwhelmed by these long-drawn-out horrors, but made amazingly accurate likenesses, of immeasurable historical value and interest today.

Caught in the madness of the revolution, she had been in prison with Josephine Beauharnais, who later became the empress. This gave her an approach to Napoleon, and he assisted her in removing to England in 1802. Later she returned to France, having established Mme. Tussaud's wax museum in both London and Paris. One of her descendants, John Tussaud, manages it today. It was undoubtedly the pioneer of the wax works tradition of portraying not only historic characters and events but sensational news figures of the day.

In recent years, the "editors," so to speak, of the Mme. Tussaud museum, have been worried about the increasing transience of the great. They never know, for instance, when they might have to melt Adolf Hitler down into somebody with a weeping willow mustache and peace dove on his wrist. They made a marvelous picture of King Edward, but "at long last" had to shunt it off to a back room and do a rush edition of Mrs. Wallis Simpson.

It will be interesting to see how our revived wax museum in New York will meet this problem. It would have been a bit annoying, for instance, to have shaped up Howard Hughes and then have to put on the night shift to do One-Way Corrigan. But wax is a nice plastic material, certainly more suited for three-dimensional reporting than marble these days, when any minute may bring a call for a "make-over."

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

LATENT KNOWLEDGE

"Home again, Susie? That's nice. What did you do in kindergarten this morning?"

"Oh, nothing."

"Nothing? You must have done something. What did you play today?"

"Oh, some games. The teacher played the piano and the children marched and things like that."

"Me? Nothing."

Mother was exasperated. She had hopes that sending Susie to kindergarten would make her more expressive. She thought Susie ought to have more to confide, more to share, more to tell. But this was all she could get out of her after three months of kindergarten.

"She might just as well be home in the sandbox for anything she gets out of it," she told father that night.

That is a common enough story. All children, especially the kindergarten and first grade groups, know more, feel more than they can express in language. They are just beginning to use language. They use words, to be sure, but many of them have no meaning for them as yet. And they cannot use words, or connected sentences, to express what they feel and know. Knowledge is stored for a long time before the children have power to put it into words.

That is why the kindergarten and first grade teachers are so distressed by those eager examiners who want to test the progress of the class every month or so. The children do not respond freely to the unfamiliar examiner; they do not catch the meaning of his words. A strange voice, a strange manner, a strange inflection of speech is enough to silence the most intelligent class of beginners. They know far more than they can tell. It is better to take it on trust than to attempt to prove it by tests.

Free and full expression of knowledge is a later development that teachers and parents must wait for in patience. Always, no matter what grade the pupil is, knowledge defies complete expression. It is only when knowledge overflows into the realm of actual experiences that it can begin to be expressed.

Often the history teacher is shocked at the written result of a prolonged and detailed study of a point. "They seemed to understand it thoroughly. They made their maps, made out their topic questions and recited well. Their written reports are something that beggar description. I'd be ashamed to have anybody see them. They would be sure the children had never been taught the point."

Wait. Give the knowledge time to season, time to work its way through familiar trails to experience. Don't give children a test immediately after intensive instruction. Give them time to chew it over, time to work it into thoughts, then into speech and language. The reason they say, "Oh, nothing," to your question as to what they learned is this lack of time for mental seasoning. Wait.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of the Monroe News-Star, 247 West 43rd street, New York City, N. Y., enclosing a three cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—Although so many Democrats walked out on the president in the primaries that the "purge" became largely a flop, believers in the celebrated "Roosevelt luck" still have their heads up.

A European crisis and a disastrous hurricane in the northeast came along just in time to bury the "purge" debacle as a major news story and to spotlight F. D. R. in two roles wherein he could hardly help enjoy public support.

It always happens that way, according to those who think Roosevelt's luck never fails.

Took Him Off A Spot

With no war clouds to face or hurricane wreckage to clean up, the president would have had to stand and answer questions in the wake of his failure to beat a single conservative Democratic senator among those for whose defeat he worked or hoped.

But his failure in the primaries is blurred, temporarily at least, as the national picture shows Roosevelt assuming his place as the national leader in a situation of international peril and as the benevolent leader in Washington extending federal aid to storm-stricken areas. Harry Hopkins, strongest single individual behind the "purge" except Roosevelt himself, becomes an agent of mercy as he goes to confer with the New England governors on hurricane-flood relief.

Finally, the last act of the "purge" primaries turned in the one Roosevelt victory over an anti-New Deal Democrat when Congressman John J. O'Connor of New York, chairman of the house rules committee, won the Republican but lost the Democratic nomination.

O'Connor may be re-elected, but he loses the strategic post which enabled him to block administration bills. Thus even some of the sourness of the "purge" debacle was mitigated at the last minute.

None of this means the president won't eventually have to face the consequences of his lost battles against Senators George in Georgia, Tydings in Maryland, Smith in South Carolina and Gillette in Iowa. In the next congress men are going to be "for" Roosevelt or "against" him and if Roosevelt doesn't adopt a more conciliatory attitude toward the Democratic conservative wing, Capitol Hill will be the scene of a running cat-and-dog fight rather than an agency for producing legislation.

An Important Choice

Roosevelt must choose whether he prefers to compromise with men of the type he has tried and failed to defeat in the primaries or to continue to wage war in the hope of forging 1940 issues by accentuating the liberal-conservative cleavage. The first course means inevitable retreat, the second a strong possibility of defeat.

Tentatively there are three main points of the Roosevelt program on which he must have congressional cooperation if he is to get anywhere. They are: 1. Anti-monopoly legislation, which Roosevelt would like to see go far toward changing the American business system. 2. Government reorganization. 3. Tax revision, which New Dealers would like to see enacted along lines of social-economic reform.

On these fronts Roosevelt can elect to wheedle a little bit from congress or to refuse compromise and seek to popularize the issues pending an effort to dominate the party and its presidential nomination in 1940.

The Tall Corn State Has an Anniversary

THE governments of three world powers have ruled over the fertile black soil of Iowa since the first white men came—Marquette and Joliet in 1673, and Hennepin in 1680.

As a part of the Mississippi valley, Iowa was taken into the formal possession of France in 1682. Almost a hundred years later, 1762, it was ceded to Spain. In 1800 it was retroceded to France. Three years later Iowa came under the American flag for all time.

It was ruled from 1804-1805, as part of the District of Louisiana, under the Old Indiana Territory government. Successively it was governed as part of the Louisiana Territory, part of Missouri Territory, part of the unorganized territory of the United States, a section of the Michigan Territory and from 1836 to 1838, a part of Wisconsin Territory.

Finally, in 1838, Iowa separated from Wisconsin because of lack of courts for judicial relief in a wild era. The Wisconsin Territory was divided and the western portion named Iowa, and out of this with its present bounds the state was eventually carved in 1846. The name, Iowa, was taken from a tribe of Siouan Indians which inhabited Iowa when the Frenchmen arrived in 1673.

As early as 1840 the Territory, then with a population of 43,112, voted to seek admission into the Union. It became a state finally in 1846. This year marks the 100th anniversary of the old Territory, for which the special U. S. stamp above was issued. It shows the old Capitol building.

BRITISH NAVY'S HEAD QUITS JOB

am not aware that his (Chamberlain's) final surrender had the approval of his own cabinet."

Nicolson was a leading spirit in the abortive revolt which followed the resignation last February 20 of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who quit, like Duff Cooper, in protest against Chamberlain's policy of dealing with dictators. Then the prime minister was working on an agreement with Premier Mussolini of Italy.

With the Munich four-power dismemberment of Czechoslovakia effective before the British parliament had time to ratify it, Nicolson plainly hinted that Chamberlain had ignored not only the house of commons, but members of his own cabinet as well.

Among the names mentioned in this connection were those of Minister of Health Walter Elliot, President of the Board of Trade Oliver Stanley, and Minister of Agriculture W. S. Morrison, with War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha "in the background."

Throughout the weeks of crisis there were frequent but unconfirmable reports that there was more than one minister who resented Chamberlain's deliberations with the "inner cabinet" and diminutive Sir Horace Wilson, who accompanied the prime minister on his three trips to Germany.

Chamberlain conferred frequently with the "inner cabinet"—Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon and Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare. There are 21 members of the full cabinet.

COLLEGE FUNDS TO BE DISCUSSED

tendent wrote the heads of the institutions.

Harris said the board has already issued a check for $250,000 to aid in the construction of the junior college at Lake Charles and that he would recommend that at least $500,000 be set aside "to finance emergencies which cannot be foreseen at this time."

Harris said he would contact Governor Leche to learn the amount the governor will recommend for allotment to institutions not under control of the board.

The $6,000,000 was secured from the sale of a bond issued by the legislature at its last session. The public works administration has allocated approximately $4,500,000 to the state institutions to go with the state funds.

UNEMPLOYMENT LAW EXPLAINED

ing one week constitute two different employes?

It is the number of different individuals that determines the number of employes. Example: A grocer regularly employs two clerks and a delivery boy. The week he replaces one of these employes with another he is credited with employing four different individuals. If this should happen 20 times during the course of a year he would be declared subject to the unemployment compensation law.

What is an employer?

An "employer" or "employing unit" is an individual, partnership, corporation, association or group of individuals owning or operating, directly or indirectly, singly or jointly, any business or businesses.

Example: A man operating a grocery store with two clerks and a meat market with two butchers would be considered an "employing unit" with four employes and subject to the law.

How does an employer determine whether he is subject?

All employers are required to file an initial determination report, just as every one is supposed to file income tax returns whether or not a tax is due. The report properly filled will furnish the information with which the department of labor may determine whether an employer is subject.

How are these reports secured?

Blanks may be had upon request at the department of labor offices at Baton Rouge.

What rate of contribution must an employer pay if he becomes subject?

An employer subject to the law must pay 2.7 per cent of his payroll to the Louisiana unemployment compensation fund.

Must employes pay?

Yes. They must contribute one-half of one per cent of their pay. The contribution is deducted from wages by the employer who forwards the money along with his contribution.

Where does the money go?

It is deposited with the federal treasury in Washington to the credit of the Louisiana fund to pay benefits when covered workers may become unemployed. All of the contributions remain intact for this purpose, the fund now totalling $11,370,000. Administrative expenses are borne by the federal government.

When do employes covered by the law obtain benefits and how much do they get?

A participating worker who becomes unemployed must register with the state employment service to seek a job and then apply for benefits.

If at the end of two weeks he has failed to find employment he will be entitled to 50 per cent of his previous normal weekly wages but his benefit may not exceed $18 a week. The payments will continue 18 weeks, provided he is unable to get a job.

What happens if a man gets a part-time job?

He may receive part-time benefits.

How often must an employer report his contributions?

Every month, with a deadline 30 days from the date the report first became due. For example, October's report must be in before the end of November. In addition, every employer must have a quarterly payroll report.

What types of employment are exempt?

Agricultural labor, domestic service, seamen employed on boats regularly visiting ports outside the state, services performed by children under 21 for their parents, governmental employes, services performed for religious, charitable or other non-profit organizations, insurance agents engaged in field work, persons covered by an unemployment compensation system established by act of congress.

How many new employes and employers will the law's new provisions affect?

Approximately 100,000 additional employes and 15,000 employers. Some 412,000 employes and 8,000 employers now contribute.

When will benefits first become available to these newly covered employes and will their claims jeopardize the fund built up by contributions of those already covered?

Benefits will become available to the new group of contributors in April, 1939. Their claims will be paid from money they contribute toward the fund.

be unusually extensive, covering a wide range, and quality already indicated is such as to give encouragement that some remarkably fine showings are in prospect. But there will be commercial exhibits as well as those from the farm and it is said that all tastes are certain to be gratified in the wide variety proposed.

This year rodeo will be shown as an added attraction with performances scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and on the following Sunday afternoon.

Ike Hamilton, rodeo performer of West Monroe for some years, assures that the wildest of bucking cattle, mules and horses are being imported and that 75 rodeo stars from six states are scheduled to appear and give all who attend a real treat for their money.

This section has always been keen for rodeos and as there has been none here for several years it is expected that this attraction alone will draw a very great crowd. The grandstand has been erected and is in the best of condition for the accommodation of record-sized throngs.

HUSBAND TELLS OF MERCY DEATH

years ago, and that the physician, Dr. John Erdmann, New York cancer specialist, had told him at the time: "The case is incurable. She may live two years, at the most."

Inspector King said Johnson, an uncle of Nassau County Judge Cortland Johnson, insisted his wife was conscious and watched him from her bed of pain while he brought the garden hose into the room, carefully sealed the windows and doors with water-soaked blankets and towels, then kissed her goodbye and went to the cellar to turn on the gas.

The detective chief said Johnson told him it took him two weeks to make the decision and to prepare the garden hose from two 75-foot lengths wrapped with tape to prevent leaks.

"My wife had been in terrible agony for a long time," King quoted the husband as saying.

"She had been unable to take food for three days. It was worse than death. I could stand it no longer. No man could."

Before making the final arrangements, King said, Johnson sent his wife's nurse, Cordelia Higbee, and the family maid, Cora Mosher, out for a walk after breakfast.

An hour later, when the nurse returned, she found the house locked. She called the family physician, Dr. Archibald Wood of Far Rockaway. When the doctor knocked on the door, the haggard-faced husband let him in.

At a glance, Dr. Wood saw efforts to revive Mrs. Johnson would be futile.

District Attorney Neary said the case would be presented to the grand jury October 11.

Pending grand jury action, Johnson was taken to the prison ward of Meadowbrook hospital. Afflicted with a heart ailment, he was near exhaustion and said he hadn't been to bed in five days.

The district attorney said the case would not be taken before the grand jury until the county toxicologist had made a blood analysis.

"It's possible," he said, "she may have died from cancer."

NEW OBJECTIVES OF HITLER EASY

assurance in his Berlin Sportspalast speech September 26 that Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland constituted Germany's last territorial demand in Europe.

Just how soon the next quest—for reacquisition of Germany's war-lost colonies—will be launched is regarded as immaterial now.

Germany, after the world war, lost colonies totalling more than 1,125,000 square miles—more than five times the area of the new, greater Germany.

The matter is under discussion and, from certain signs, in a fair way toward a solution satisfactory to Germany.

From the satisfaction with which a foreign office spokesman at Munich told this correspondent that the colonial problem was discussed at the first session of the "big four" statesmen, it seemed Germany's claim to be a colonial power must have been recognized.

Meanwhile there is plenty of work to do in Europe.

Germany has not fully digested Austria as yet and now, less than seven months later, Sudetenland begins joining her.

It is not only the administration that must be taken over—the new population must be made ideologically.

It will take some time for Nazi ideas to become the creed of every Austrian and every Sudeten German.

When Hitler in his Sportspalast address renounced all further territorial claims in Europe, everyone naturally asked:

What about Danzig? Memel? The Polish corridor? South Tyrol?

Hitler at a state banquet May 7 in Rome declared the Brenner pass the boundary for all time between Germany and Italy.

That meant he renounced territorial claims to the south Tyrol, which Italy got from Austria after the World war.

The Munich four-power accord provided for optional transfers of racial groups on the "wrong side" of the Czechoslovak-German border as it will be drawn.

This principle might be applied not only in Czechoslovakia but wherever else interchanges might prove desirable. Belgium for instance has Eupen and Malmedy which she gained under the Versailles treaty and a part of Schleswig went to Denmark, both with German peoples.

Danzig constitutes no problem in German eyes because it already is under Nazi domination. It was believed that at any time Poland might see fit to declare herself disinterested in Danzig, the Danzigers could determine their own fate and go over to Hitler without him making any territorial claims.

Memel went to the League of Nations and was annexed in 1923 by Lithuania.

Whether Memel becomes a part of Germany appears relatively immaterial now that Germany has become so great a power that Lithuania cannot do otherwise than grant autonomous rights as wide as possible to the Memelites.

Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Greece and Hungary for some time have been considered virtual economic satellites of Germany.

Czechoslovakia, it is felt, cannot do otherwise than also become an economic satellite. Rumania, too, may decide to come within the German orbit.

Economics Minister Walther Funk presently is engaged in a good will tour of the Balkans—with Turkey as his special objective.

Thus, step by step, Germany's "drang nach osten" (march to the east) has been—or is being—satisfied.

This does not mean that Germany wishes to conquer any of these states in a physical way nor rule over the populations there.

Hitler wants no racial irredenta—he wants homogeneous rights of Teutons.

But he wants all of his people to have plenty to eat and enough work to keep everybody employed.

Economic penetration of the Balkans would give him access to many riches.

Acquisition of colonies would make him master of more economic riches—besides offering the opportunity to take care of the German population, which is growing constantly.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

For 24 Years Vicks Advertising has been passed upon by a Board of Physicians.

It's your Fair, so Boost it!

NOTHING, perhaps, that we have here in Ouachita Parish is a better good will builder than the annual Ouachita Valley Fair. It brings residents of Ouachita and adjacent parishes together. Merchants and farmers rub shoulders there. So do townspeople and country folk in general. All get to know one another—at least casually.

Out of this association arises understanding. And understanding breeds confidence.

Since its establishment six years ago, the Ouachita Valley Fair has focused attention each fall on Ouachita Parish in general and its metropolises in particular—Monroe and West Monroe. And in doing so, it has been of inestimable value in advertising the parish and the two communities.

It therefore—if for selfish reasons alone—merits the whole-hearted support of everyone in Ouachita Parish.

Launched in a modest manner six years ago by a group of civic-spirited West Monroe business men and far-sighted Ouachita Parish agricultural leaders, the Ouachita Valley Fair, the current exposition of which starts Tuesday and continues through next Sunday, has enjoyed a steady growth. To start with, the exhibits were housed in several scattered empty stores on Trenton street in West Monroe; but by 1935, the fair had grown in scope and increased in popularity to such an extent that it justified the acquisition of permanent exhibition grounds in the northwestern section of the city.

Buildings have gradually arisen on the site. They now include a main exhibition hall and lesser structures for livestock, poultry and other exhibits. This year a baseball diamond, grandstand and rodeo arena have been added.

Increased interest, manifested by more varied exhibits and greater attendance, has marked each succeeding year of the fair. From year to year, more and more farmers, farm women, school children and clubs have entered the competition for the premiums offered, displaying their prized produce, livestock, poultry, culinary accomplishments, needlework and the like. More and more space has been taken for merchandise displays and for commercial exhibits.

This year some 350 prizes are being offered exhibitors.

The purpose of the Ouachita Valley Fair, like that of all fairs, is the promotion—through friendly competition and interchange of information and ideas—of better farming in all its phases. This, the Ouachita Valley Fair is doing—on an ever-widening scale. Particularly has it been of value in stressing diversified farming and showing rural people how to make their homes happier and healthier.

Without doubt, it has made distinct contributions in the field of agricultural education. It therefore—if for no other reason than this is primarily a farming section—merits the fullest support of every last one of us.

That small band of West Monroe business men and Ouachita Parish agricultural leaders who, six years ago, got together and formed the Ouachita Valley Fair Association have worked nothing less than wonders. But they have not been content to rest on their laurels. Being progressive, they are planning greater things for the future—a fair that will embrace the entire Fifth District, a fair that eventually will be second only to the Louisiana State Fair in Shreveport.

Definite action, however, will be required to convert their plans into actuality—first and foremost, the concerted cooperation of every resident of Ouachita Parish, particularly those of Monroe and West Monroe.

After all, Monroe and West Monroe are, we must constantly keep in mind, not merely the largest cities in Ouachita parish, but—and they should be to an even greater extent—the trading center of the Fifth District. Nothing could do more to emphasize this fact than a first-class district fair.

But such a fair would mean a lot of individual and collective effort. It would require that kind that would brook no spirit of "let George do it." It would necessitate that type of energy that Monroe, West Monroe and Ouachita Parish have shown, time and again, they are capable of exerting.

However, the Fifth District Fair is a matter of the future. The Ouachita Valley Fair starts Tuesday. The job immediately at hand demands attention.

Let's boost the fair starting Tuesday in every way we can. Let's go to it as often as we can. Let's encourage our local friends to go with us. Let's invite our friends throughout Northeast Louisiana.

There'll be plenty of interesting, entertaining and educational things to see. You'll enjoy the fellowship and social intercourse. If you're a townsman, you'll find the rural folk mighty fine and wise in their ways. If you're from the country, you'll learn that the town dwellers are fulfilling a thoroughly useful purpose.

You are bound to find something to excite your interest.

So let's all of us not only support the Ouachita Valley Fair, but do everything in our power to boost it a notch higher.

ATLANTA BEATS BEAUMONT THIRD STRAIGHT TIME

Southern Leaguers Shade Texas Club, 5 To 4; Have Championship In Grasp

BEAUMONT, Tex., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Atlanta Crackers, the baseball championship of the south in their grasp, defeated a somewhat listless Beaumont team, 5 to 4, here today for their third straight win in the Dixie series.

Victory came to the Southern association champions in the tenth inning, when Pitcher Bill Beckman singled and was replaced by the fleet Ted Pritchett, rookie pitcher, who scored the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Chatham.

Russ Peters, Atlanta second baseman, put the Georgians ahead in the second by slamming a homer with two on base.

Beaumont scored one in the second on successive singles by Parsons, Garner and Vincent. The champions of the Texas league scored another in the third when DeJonghe came home from second on a scorching single to left by Frankie Croucher.

Atlanta added another in the sixth when Getting homered off big Ed Selway.

Beaumont tied the game in the ninth when Vincent doubled, Frank Secory, outfielder, ran for Vincent and scored from second when Selway singled.

Schoolboy Rowe, former Detroit hurler slated to return to the majors next year, was credited with the loss after relieving Selway in the tenth.

Bobby Durham relieved Beckman in the tenth for Atlanta but Beckman was given credit for winning.

The victory made it possible for Atlanta to sweep the series if they are able to win tomorrow's game in which Harry Miller is slated to pitch for Atlanta and Dizzy Trout for Beaumont.

The Texas leaguers, weak with the willow in the two games they dropped at Atlanta, nicked Cracker pitchers for 15 blows today as against seven for the Georgians, but three spectacular double plays by the Crackers killed rallies of the Exporters that might have meant the difference.

BULLDOGS AHEAD OF REBELS, 7-6, AT END OF HALF

Mehre Sends In First-Stringers Late In Game To Conquer Techmen

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi Rebels followed an unimpressive first half with a powerful comeback in the second today to give Louisiana Tech a 27 to 7 trimming.

The Techmen led at the close of the half, 7 to 6. They capitalized on a good break when Adams, Tech end, recovered a fumble on the Ole Miss nine-yard stripe. Williams sent a short pass to Williamson for the touchdown and Eager converted.

The Rebels scored in the second period following a 30-yard pass from Les Dodson, fullback, to Ward. Right Halfback Erm Smith made eight yards over tackle to score. Coach Harry Mehre had replaced several Ole Miss reserves with first stringers at the start of the second half, and Left Guard George Kinard and Quarterback Kimble Bradley paved the way for scoring jaunts.

The Rebels showed real power in the third period, with Parker Hall and Les Dodson, sophomore fullback, ripping the Tech line for nice gains. Hall's 32-yard heave was ruled complete after interference by Louisiana Tech was called, and he passed to Kent Massengale for the touchdown. Massengale converted.

Ole Miss scored twice in the final quarter, Jimmie Tillman running 50 yards for one marker, and Parker Hall going 26 yards for the final touchdown.

McDowell scored both Bonita touchdowns, one in the first quarter and the other in the final period.

LAKESIDE CLUB CLOSES TUESDAY

Liquidating Committee To Be Appointed Monday By Club Stockholders

The Lakeside Country club, for a number of years the city's only golf and country club, will cease to function after Monday night.

The membership was notified last week that the owners of the property, the Cole estate, were unwilling to renew the club's lease on the golf course and the clubhouse at the same terms as in the past. Hence, the club was forced to relinquish the property, it was said.

Notification to the membership, signed by A. B. Clarkson as president of the club, stated that the annual meeting of stockholders would be held on Monday night instead of October 8, as previously planned. Thus, tomorrow night a liquidating committee will be appointed to wind up the affairs of the Lakeside club and the course will be closed Tuesday. It was understood that the owners have asked possession of the property as soon as possible.

The Lakeside club was reorganized several years ago after it had functioned as the Riverside Country club for a number of years.

It was reported yesterday that several plans had been unofficially discussed for the formation of a new country club in Monroe. Several Lakeside members have proposed to make an offer to purchase the present property, while others have suggested that a tract of land be purchased on the outskirts of the city and a golf course and clubhouse be constructed.

Ouachita Defeats Camden, Chalks Up Second Victory

Lions Tally In Every Period To Smother Panthers By Score Of 31-6

By Paul Martin

Scoring touchdowns in every period, the Ouachita Parish High school Lions chalked up their second victory of the season here last night over the Panthers of Camden, Ark., 31 to 6, at Northeast Center of L. S. U.'s stadium.

Ouachita's passing attack put the Lions in the lead with two touchdowns in the first half as the locals scored on heaves from Cason Mitchell to John Wilhite, and Mitchell to Mitchell Funderburk. The Lions scored again early in the third quarter on a 21-yard run by Clayton Brown, fullback; and followed with two more scores in the last period when Alvin Fleming scored through the line from the one-yard line, and Brown ran an intercepted pass back 45 yards to cross Camden's goal.

The lone Panther touchdown was scored by Langley, substitute halfback, in the second quarter from Ouachita's one foot line.

Although the Panthers did not have the once powerful aggregation that dealt Monroe elevens misery for the past few years, Coach Sam Coleman's present combination battled all the way to the finish, but was just no match for Coach "Lefty" Haynes' hard-charging backs and the Lion aerial attack.

Captain Taylor and White played untiringly in the Camden backfield, while Greening, veteran end, and Guttery, guard, played exceptional ball in the visitors' forward wall.

Ouachita's entire backfield combination of Wilhite, Fleming, Mitchell and Brown figured prominently in the Lion victory. The line also played well, with Mitchell Funderburk, and Buford Goss looking particularly good.

Both teams started cautiously, testing the other's strength, and as a result neither team showed any superiority until the Lions' offensive got busy late in the period to tally three straight first downs and then go over for the initial touchdown.

Recovering a Camden fumble on the Panthers' 44, the Lions, on two passes, Mitchell to Fleming, carried the ball to Camden's 20. Fleming got five yards at left end and Brown plowed through the middle for six yards and a first down on Camden's nine, on the next play, Mitchell passed to Wilhite to score. Gerson's kick for the point was bad.

Ouachita scored again early in the second quarter with the passing attack again baffling the visitors. With the ball on their own three-yard line, the Panthers held for downs, but Taylor, in attempting to punt out, kicked out of bounds on his own 24. Fleming, on a reverse around left end, picked up seven, and Brown went through the middle to Camden's 11 for a first down. Ouachita was penalized five yards for offsides on the next play, but a pass, Mitchell to Wilhite, got the yardage back and put the ball on the invaders' six. Ouachita drew another five-yard penalty, Brown lost two at left end, but a pass, Mitchell to Funderburk, over the goal line was good for the second touchdown. Fleming place kicked for the only extra point of the game.

The Panthers' offensive got busy immediately after the second Lion touchdown, resulting in the visitors' only score. Taking the kickoff on their own 42, Langley made one at right tackle. Brown passed to Greenning who lateraled to Langley for 22 yards and a first down on Ouachita's 35. White picked up eight at left tackle, and another lateral, McKinnon to Langley, made it a first down on Ouachita's 19. Langley got one yard

CUBS SPLIT TWO WITH CARDINALS AS PIRATES LOSE

Win Second Game After Being Shaded In First; Root Hero; Reds Beat Bucs

By Gayle Talbot

SPORTSMAN PARK, ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs, crippled but courageous, sewed up their third National league pennant in seven years by plastering the St. Louis Cards, 10 to 3, in the second game of a wild-eyed double header here today while their last rivals, the Pittsburgh Pirates, were bowing in Cincinnati.

The victory, scored in a 17-hit attack on four St. Louis pitchers, placed Gabby Hartnett's scrappers two full games ahead of the Pirates and placed tomorrow's concluding game in the light of an exhibition. It climaxed a pennant surge which saw the Cubs, standing fourth only two months ago, win 21 of their last 25 games and outgame the opposition.

When Charlie Root, 39-year-old veteran of 13 campaigns with the Cubs, forced Lynn Myers of the Cards to pop up for the final out in the ninth inning, his exuberant teammates rushed to the mound and hoisted him upon their shoulders and carried him in triumph to the clubhouse. Root hurled masterful ball, allowing only two scratch hits in the last six innings after he had got off to a shaky start.

The victory was won with Manager Gabby Hartnett, the champion's slugging catcher, moping in the dugout with a pair of fingers damaged by foul tips. He charged out only once, toward the last of the game, to beef at Umpire Dolly Stark, who didn't think that Demaree had been hit by a pitched ball.

It was doubtful Hartnett would be ready to play in the opening game against the New York Yankees next Wednesday at Wrigley field in Chicago. The index finger of his right

FOOT ITCH
ATHLETE'S FOOT
Relief Guaranteed Or Your Money Back

According to the Government Health Bulletin No. E-23, at least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

Beware of It Spreading

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get rid of this disease as quickly as possible, because it is very contagious, and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Most people who have Athlete's Foot have tried all kinds of remedies to cure it without success. Ordinary germicides, antiseptics, salves or ointments seldom do any good.

Here's How to Treat It

The germ that causes the disease is known as Tinea Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to kill the germ; so you can see why the ordinary remedies are unsuccessful.

H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of treating Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. It peels off the tissue of the skin where the germ breeds.

Itching Stops Immediately

As soon as you apply H. F. you will find that the itching is immediately relieved. You should paint the infected part with H. F. night and morning until your feet are well. Usually this takes from three to ten days, although in severe cases it may take longer or in mild cases less time.

H. F. will leave the skin soft and smooth. You will marvel at the quick way it brings you relief; especially if you are one of those who have tried for years to get rid of Athlete's Foot without success.

LOUISIANA STATE OVERWHELMS TEXAS, 20-0

TIGERS UNLEASH BAFFLING ATTACK TO SMOTHER FOES

Longhorns Collapse After Outplaying Louisianians During First Half

By Ray Neumann

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 1.—(AP)—A University of Texas eleven which amazed 17,000 fans by roundly outplaying Louisiana State in the first half collapsed thereafter while the powerful Tigers rampaged to a 20-0 victory here today.

Deceptive ground play and aerial wizardry baffled the Texans in the final half, the power-packed Louisiana club scoring twice in the third and adding another in the fourth.

Louisiana scored first in the opening minutes of the third after Fullback Wallace Lawson of Texas fumbled and gave the Tigers the ball on their own 38. Halfback Bussey tossed a hard one to big Kenneth Kavanaugh, Louisiana end, who shook off a couple of tacklers and raced 48 yards for the counter. The gain totaled 63 yards. Barrett Booth placekicked extra point.

The Tigers tallied again when Halfback Robert Fife ripped off 43 yards on two well-executed off-tackle slices, placing the ball on Texas' 3-yard line. Sophomore John Crabtree, 200-pound back, plowed over right tackle, but Booth's placekick failed.

The third L. S. U. score came the hard way. A 49-yard drive came to a grinding halt on the Texas 34 and Ashford Simes punted out of bounds on the Longhorn 6. Lawson's boot went wide, going out on the Steers' 13.

Jake Staples, Louisiana's potent line-crasher, smashed his way to the Longhorn 7 on two tries after which Fife overheaded to Kavanaugh behind the line. Milner passed to Kavanaugh for extra point.

Texas threatened in the second after Bussey fumbled while trying to punt and Mike Sweeney nailed him on the Tiger 39. Aerials, Bryan to Sweeney and Lawson to Peterson, carried the ball to the L. S. U. 12. It was Crabtree who intercepted another pass on his own 4 and the Tigers punted to safety.

The Longhorns staged another rally a few moments later after holding the Tigers to short gains and taking the ball on their own 35. Sophomore Gilly Davis ripped off several gains but Bruce Hedrick of the Tigers snagged a pass on the Louisiana 3-yard stripe to halt what proved to be Texas' last drive.

SPLIT DOUBLE HEADER

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox won the first game of a double header against the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 3, and lost the second, 4 to 0, in five innings before darkness overtook the game.

Big John Whitehead pushed the Sox to a 7-hit winner in the first game. Harry Boyles, the angular rookie from Longview, pitched perfect baseball for three innings in the nightcap, but was plunked for four runs in the fourth.

INDIANS BLANK TIGERS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Hank Greenberg went hitless in four attempts today as Denny Galehouse shut out the Detroit Tigers, 5-0, on five hits.

Galehouse pitched his best game of the season for Cleveland, striking out five. Greenberg, as a result, greatly diminished his chances of bringing up his 58-home run total to the 60 mark, which would equal Babe Ruth's record.

Jeff Heath paced the Indians' eight-hit attack on Boots Poffenberger and Jake Wade with two singles in three trips up.

BOUDREAU KICKS POINT THAT WINS FOR SOONER TEAM

Player Who Hasn't Missed Try-For-Point In Three Years Delivers Goods

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Quiet Raphael Boudreau, who never has missed a try-for-point in three years of college play, delivered the goods again today and Oklahoma's Sooners upset vaunted Rice institute, 7-6, before 18,000 stunned, perspiring fans.

He trotted out just before half-time and slammed across the winning point after substitute Howard McCarthy had spun across from the 18-yard line for the touchdown.

Two great ends, Captain Roland Young and John Shirk, supplied the antidote for Rice's heralded two-man riot of Ernie Lain and Ollie Cordill with a smashing game that smothered their aerial antics.

Waspy, 150-pound Doug (Scat) Sullivan, Lain's understudy, was the spark behind Rice's second period score. He delivered a 16-yard aerial to substitute Halfback Hugo Stevens. Sullivan moved on down to Oklahoma's 15 and on five successive blasts off the tackles finally went over for the score.

Second stringers had a great day, Otis Rogers, reserve back, injecting life into the offensive in a late second period drive that wiped out Rice's six-point lead and furnished one of the day's big upsets. Never considered a passer, Rogers qualified today with heaves to Jennings and McCarty that carried Oklahoma from the Rice 43 to the one foot line.

There Rogers fumbled a bad pass from center but recovered on the 10. His fourth down pass was intercepted on the one-foot line and Rice kicked out to their 33. A 15-yard holding penalty shoved Oklahoma along and then McCarty clasped a lateral from Reserve Back Favors and wiggled 18 yards for the touchdown.

THREE BATTLING FOR LEADERSHIP

Foxx In Van Of Batters, Closely Followed By Heath And Chapman

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Two veterans and a rookie threatened to give the 1938 American league batting race the red hot finish denied the pennant chase by those ever-assertive New York Yankees.

With the championship wire just ahead, it was Jimmy Foxx of Boston, Jeff Heath, the Cleveland rookie, and Ben Chapman, Foxx's teammate, in that order.

Foxx had slipped two points to an average of .347 as they passed Friday's pole, two lengths from the finish. Riding a gain of six points which narrowed Foxx's earlier 12-point lead to four was Heath with .343. Then came Chapman with .341, a gain of seven points over the previous week that lifted him from fifth place.

Other leaders on the basis of Friday's semi-official averages:

Buddy Myer, Washington, .338; Cecil Travis, Washington, .335; Hal Trosky, Cleveland, .335; Hank Steinbacher, Chicago, .335; Earl Averill, Cleveland, .331; Joe Vosmik, Boston, 328; Joe DiMaggio, New York, .326.

Averill suffered the biggest fall of the week, tumbling from fourth to eighth when his average fell off five points.

Meanwhile, Hank Greenberg of Detroit continued his efforts to reach Babe Ruth's record of 60 homers. He crashed out two over the week to advance to 58.

Other departmental leaders maintained their positions. In addition to setting the pace in homers, Greenberg had scored 140 runs. Vosmik scored eight more hits to run his total to 201. Heath had 18 triples; Joe Cronin of Boston, 51 doubles; Frank Crosetti of New York 27 stolen bases, and Foxx had batted in 167 runs.

Bob Grove of Boston remained idle, but regained the pitching lead with his long standing record of 14 victories and four defeats when Red Ruffing of New York met another reversal that ran his list to seven as against 21 triumphs. Spud Chandler of New York had won 14 and lost five. Bob Feller of Cleveland led in strikeouts with 122.

Boston maintained its team batting lead at .299. Detroit tied St. Louis for first in fielding at .975, while New York made eight double plays to break its tie with Washington and go ahead with a mark of 173.

Neville And Lake Charles Clash On Gridiron Friday

Tigers Hope To Put Team At Peak Strength In Field Against Foes

The Neville High school Tigers, who surprised everybody, including themselves and their opponents, by upsetting the powerful Panthers of Greenville, Miss., 19 to 7, here Friday night, will go to Lake Charles next Friday, where they expect to be faced with another hard battle.

The Tigers, although not opening their Class A conference schedule until October 14 against Winnfield, have already met three strong elevens, Istrouma, Bolton and Greenville.

Istrouma and Bolton downed the locals by one-touchdown margins, but the Bengals got on the winning side against the Panthers, who outplayed them in all but about five minutes of the hour's battle. Commenting on Greenville, Coach Percy Brown said, "We beat the best ball club we have played this season. The Panthers deserved to win, but Neville got some breaks for a change."

Every member of the Tiger eleven came out of the Greenville game in good shape, Coach Brown said, and the Bengals expect to be in better condition to meet Lake Charles than at any time thus far this season. However, the locals have lots of work to do yet. The team has not been functioning as a whole, and Coach Brown plans extensive workouts this week to clean out the spotty places, he said.

Neville's running attack failed to get the needed assistance in the way of blocking against Greenville and the interference was slow in forming. It was only after the Tigers took to the air that Neville forged ahead to victory with two touchdowns in the last few minutes of the game. Vaughan Payne, quarterback and captain, and "Red" Rivers and Jack Lanham were outstanding in the passing offensive, Rivers and Lanham each scoring on heaves from Payne.

It is probable that, in addition to more work in perfecting a running attack, the Bengals will work to keep their passing machine working smoothly for use against Lake Charles.

Friday's game will be the third ever played between Neville and Lake Charles. The south Louisianians won the first game, in 1936, 13 to 6. Neville won last year, 6 to 0.

COLUMBIA DRUBS YALE, 27 TO 14

35,000 Attend Game Featured By Skillful Passing, Running And Punting

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Passing, running and punting with as much skill as this historic structure has ever seen, Sid Luckman paced Columbia's Light Blue eleven to a smashing 27-to-14 triumph over Yale today before 35,000 fans.

The Light Blue showed its superiority early. With Luckman smashing at the Blue tackles and bombing the secondary with short flat passes, Columbia went to the three-yard line. Luckman crashed over tackle for the score.

In the second period, Luckman's return of a punt, a pass and two running plays put the ball on the 13. Radvilas skirted end and scored. With the ball on the Yale 35, Luckman passed over the goal line to Frank Stulgaitis for another score.

In the fourth another pass, from Luckman to Gerhard Seidel, put the ball on the three and the latter smashed over for the final touchdown.

VANDERBILT WINS, 12-0, FROM WESTERN KENTUCKY

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 1.—(AP)—A long pass and one sustained scoring drive gave Vanderbilt university a 12 to 0 victory today over Western Kentucky Teachers in a sluggish and dull game before a sun-batched crowd of 7,000 spectators.

Obviously playing under wraps and showing nothing but the most orthodox of offensive plays, the Commodores pushed across a six-pointer in the final period after connecting for a 26-yard aerial toss in the second period.

The Teachers' offensive shone brilliantly in the opening period when they tallied four first downs and gained 76 yards on the ground, once driving to the Vandy 13-yard line.

MIZE THREATENS LOMBARDI'S LEAD

Red Catcher Three Points Ahead Of Card First Sacker Through Friday

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Unless Johnny Mize can complete his late-season comeback over the last hours of the campaign, Ernie Lombardi will be the first catcher in 12 years to win the National league hitting championship.

The Reds' backstop was out in front by three points over the Cardinal first sacker through Friday, after being ousted from the top for one day last week. His mark of .338 was considerably off his best through the middle weeks of the season, but with only Mize giving him a fight for the top, it has been good enough to last.

The last catcher to take the title was Gene (Pinky) Hargreave, whose .353 mark brought the crown to Cincinnati in 1926. If Mize should slide through, he will be the first first-baseman in the charmed circle since the gaudy .401 William (Terrible) Terry posted in 1930—the last time a big leaguer hit the .400-mark over a full season.

None of the other senior circuit clouters has much of a chance to oust either Lombardi or Mize. Arky Vaughan of the Pirates, champion in 1935, is 10 points off the pace, in third place with .328. Trailing him are Buck McCormick of the Reds with .326; Ducky Medwick of the Cards with .322; Debs Garms, Boston, .321; Stan Hack, Chicago, .318; Lloyd Waner, Pirates, .310; Mel Ott, Giants, .307, and his teammate, Jojo Moore, with .306.

There's also considerable of a fight in several other departments of individual play, which may not be decided until the curtain is dropped. Ott's total of 111 runs for the year is only five better than Hack's second-place 106, and Medwick's 119 runs batted in top Ott's runner-up 115 by only a narrow margin. In triples, Mize, with 16, leads his Cardinal teammate, Don Gutteridge, by only one, while Hack's 17 stolen bases shade Ernie Koy's Brooklyn total by the same slim edge.

Otherwise, the champions seem pretty well set. Buck McCormick, the Reds' candidate for the season's rookie honors, has 206 base hits for the year, 16 more than Lloyd Waner of the Pirates, in second place. Medwick has 46 doubles, compared to McCormick's second-place 38, and Ott, with 35 homers, has five more than Ival Goodman of the Reds.

Bill Lee, the Cubs' shutout artist, paces the pitches with 22 victories and nine setbacks, trailed by Rookie Bob Klinger of the Pirates with 12 wins and five defeats.

OUTSIDE ELEVENS BEATEN BY TEAMS OF SOUTHEASTERN

Thrill-Packed Football Games Presented Before Thousands Of Fans

ATLANTA, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Southeastern conference members licked all outside opposition today in thrill-packed football games before thousands of spectators.

Led by Halfback George Cafego, the University of Tennessee Vols handed Clemson of the Southern conference a 20 to 7 setback. Clemson the week before had journeyed into the Southeastern and upset favored Tulane, 13 to 10.

The University of Georgia edged out South Carolina, a Southern loop opponent, 7 to 6, at Columbia, while Louisiana State university, whipped last week by the University of Mississippi, defeated Texas, a Southwestern conference foe, 20 to 0.

At New Orleans, Auburn and Tulane, conference opponents, fought to a scoreless tie for the third straight year. Tulane has not scored on Auburn in four years.

The powerful Alabama eleven, back from its triumph over Southern California last Saturday, smashed Howard, 34 to 0, in a display of power and versatility, while Vanderbilt used a long pass and a sustained scoring drive to win over Western Kentucky Teachers, 12 to 0, in a sluggish game at Nashville.

Georgia Tech opened its 1938 season with a 19 to 0 victory over a fighting Mercer university eleven.

The University of Mississippi rolled over Louisiana Tech, 27 to 7, and Kentucky's Wildcats trounced Oglethorpe university of Atlanta, 66 to 0, piling up two or more touchdowns in each quarter.

The Mississippi State college Maroons romped on Florida, 22 to 0, before a homecoming crowd at State College, Miss. The 'Gators were throttled through most of the game.

Little Sewanee bowed to Southwestern college of Memphis, 47 to 0, Friday night.

TULANE-AUBURN GAME ENDS IN SCORELESS TIE

ELEVENS REPEAT PERFORMANCE OF PAST TWO YEARS

Greenies Threaten Once; Remainder Of Battle Duel Between Punters

By Fred Dye

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 1.—(AP)—A scoreless tie for the third straight year was the story of the annual renewal of football rivalry between the Auburn Plainsmen and Tulane Green Wave here today.

Only by presenting a line-up marvelously improved over its weak and unorganized play of the opening game last week, when Clemson won 13-10, was Tulane able to hold Auburn to the traditional tie. In four years Tulane has not scored on Auburn and Auburn has been equally kind since plastering the Wave with a 10-0 defeat three years ago.

For the most part today's game was an exchange of punts with the Auburn pair of Kelly and O'Gwynne having a bit of an edge over the Tulane booters.

There were several set-ups from which scores might have developed, but there was only one which had the crowd of 18,000 standing in expectation.

Starting the third period, Bronco Brunner, native Orleanian left halfback, took the Auburn kick-off on his own goal line and fought his way 65 yards to Auburn's 15-yard line. He received excellent blocking on the first part of his thrilling jaunt but wriggled and squirmed from his guardsmen and made the last half of his journey unattended, except by the lone Auburn man who finally dragged him down.

Gloden, sub fullback, drove through center for three yards, Brunner might have got away but slipped as he reversed and made only one yard but gained first down on the Auburn three yard line on his next effort.

From there Billy Payne rammed the Plainsmen line twice with no gain and Brunner lost a yard. A tricky reverse, lateral and forward pass failed and the ball went over on downs, with Tulane losing her best chance in four years to score on Auburn.

Auburn kicked out of danger and thereafter there was nothing to thrill the spectators except a few futile dashes, some forward passes which might have clicked but did not, and the eternal punting.

The play of Kelly, O'Gwynne, McGowen, Mimms and Walker stood out for Auburn.

Ralph Wentzel, the Tulane right end, broke up many Auburn plays before they could get under way and generally made himself a stellar nuisance to the Plainsmen. In the heat, substitutions frequently were made ten men at a time.

The lineups:

Auburn	Pos.	Tulane
Burford	LE	Bodney
Russell	LT	White
Thorpe	LG	Dailey
Morgan	C	Smith
Howell	RG	Groves
Wolff	RT	Miller
Whatley	RE	Wentzel

Tennessee Comes From Behind To Beat Clemson, 20-7

OKLAHOMA AND BROWN PROVIDE ONLY 2 UPSETS

Sooners Beat Rice; Bears Whip Harvard; Other Results Follow Predictions

By Herbert W. Barker

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Minnesota's Gophers and the Pitt Panthers put on another smashing football show today as Fritz Crisler's regime at Michigan got away to a brilliant start.

Back in Big Ten territory after a successful tour of duty at Princeton, Crisler uncovered a sound, well-coached Michigan army which whipped Michigan State for the first time in five years, 14-0, as a monster crowd of 82,500 looked on.

Meanwhile Minnesota, which had stressed speed and alertness in winning from Washington last week, poured on sheer power against Nebraska and romped to a 16-7 decision before 55,000. A crowd of 40,000 saw Pitt, impressive in its opener against West Virginia, outclass Temple, 28-6, as Dick Cassiano ran to two touchdowns.

As a matter of cold fact not for years has play followed form so closely as it did today. The only real surprises of the day were sprung by Tom Stidham's Oklahoma Sooners, who stopped highly touted Rice, 7-6, and Tuss McLaughry's long-suffering Brown Bears, who shocked Harvard, 20-13.

In the middle west, Ohio State outplayed most of the way, scored a single touchdown in the final quarter on a pass from Jim Sexton to Don Scott, and nipped Indiana's powerful Hoosiers, 6-0, as 67,397, a record opening game crowd at Columbus, looked on.

Other Big Ten schools, save only for Chicago, chalked up non-conference victories. Northwestern tripped Kansas State, 21-0; Wisconsin buried Marquette, 27-0; Purdue trounced Butler, 21-6; and Illinois swamped DePaul, 44-7. Chicago played a scoreless tie with Bradley Tech.

Notre Dame, with a flock of fast backs in operation, ran up a 52-0 count on Kansas.

The eastern program was marked by a spectacular triumph. Columbia, sparked as expected by Sid Luckman, scored over Yale, 27-14. Cornell, playing conservatively after getting a first half lead, turned back Colgate, 15-6. Penn and Penn State both hung up surprisingly one-sided victories, the former over Lafayette, 34-6, and the latter over Maryland, 33-0.

Both service schools scored handily over Southern conference rivals. Army ran over Virginia Tech almost at will, 39-0, and Navy ran up a 26-0 count on Virginia Military. Princeton looked good in a 39-0 rout of Williams.

In the Southwest, Texas Christian's brilliant array toppled Arkansas, 21-14, in a conference fray as Southern Methodist topped Arizona, 29-7, and Texas A. and M. won over Tulsa, 20-0. Texas, however, was soundly beaten by Louisiana State, 20-0.

Tulane and Auburn, infringing on a Pitt-Fordham copyright, played their third successive scoreless tie in a Southeastern conference game which cost highly touted Auburn much in the way of prestige. Tennessee and Georgia gave the Southeastern conference triumphs over the Southern, Tennessee beat a good Clemson team, 20-7, while Georgia just squeaked through against South Carolina, 7-6.

Duke and North Carolina moved ahead in the Southern conference as the Blue Devils tripped Davidson, 27-0, and North Carolina toppled North Carolina State, 21-0.

In the far west, Santa Clara's Broncos revealed amazing power in a 22-0 rout of Stanford as California, Oregon and Southern California won Pacific Coast conference decisions. California ripped through Washington State, 27-3; Oregon nipped U. C. L. A., 14-12, and Southern California stopped Oregon State, 7-0. Washington was held to a tie by tough Idaho, 12-12.

Missouri took a 14-7 decision from Colorado of the Rocky Mountain conference.

OUACHITA BEATS CAMDEN ELEVEN

through the line, and White shot a pass to Greening for another first down on the Lion five. Langley got four and a half yards through right tackle, and then crashed through the middle for the score.

Taylor kicked to Seivers, who was downed on Ouachita's 46 to open the second half. Fleming made 12 and a first at left tackle. Mitchell got 15 and another first at right tackle. Brown and Fleming moved the oval to Camden's 21 on two line plays, and then Brown slipped through the middle of the line to score. Fleming's kick was low.

Ouachita scored two more times in rapid succession midway of the final quarter. Fleming, taking one of Taylor's punts on his own 40, ran the ball back to Camden's 27. A pass, "Cotton" Hall to Fleming, put the oval on the Panthers' 19. Brown went through the line for a first on Camden's seven, and added five more the same way. Fleming then slipped through left tackle to score. Brown's kick was blocked.

Brown then kicked off bad to Camden's 40. The Panthers went to the air, but Clayton Brown got under one of Maxwell Brown's heaves on Camden's 45 and ran it back for the final tally. Gerson's kick for the point after touchdown was no good.

Coach Haynes last night announced that the Ouachita game scheduled for next Friday night at Tallulah would be played on Thursday night instead. The game will be the Lions' first away from home this season.

JIMMY WILSON RESIGNS AS BOSS OF PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Philadelphia National league club resigned today—one day before his team ends the season in the cellar of the league standings.

Club President Gerald Nugent, who announced Wilson had handed in his resignation, said a successor would be named next week. He did not comment on reports current for several days that the successor would be Dr. James Thompson Prothro, Memphis, Tenn., dentist, who last year managed the Little Rock team of the Southern league.

Wilson's written resignation said his action would "not be a surprise" and was for the "best interests of all concerned."

VOLS HOLD TIGERS AFTER TOUCHDOWN IN SECOND PERIOD

Neyland's 'Shock Troops' Take Command After Starting Team Falters

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Tennessee's Volunteers soared from behind today to hand scrapping Clemson college a 20 to 7 setback.

When Major Bob Neyland's starting eleven fell back under a Clemson power drive of 64 yards to the pay-off stripe, Tennessee's "shock troops," generalled by George Cafego, reversed the order of proceedings.

With Cafego, 170 pounds of gridiron dynamite, running wild and passing all over the field, Tennessee's rally produced touchdowns in each of the last three periods while the defensive setup thwarted all further scoring threats by the Southern conference team.

Clemson, surprise victor over Tulane a week ago, went down fighting. The Tigers, with big Don Willis, Bob Bailey and Banks McFadden bearing the brunt of the offensive, staged a spectacular 66-yard march late in the fourth period only to be checked at the Tennessee goal and come right back with another threat that faltered at the 30.

Neyland rushed in a new team just before the Clemson touchdown and this eleven, with six sophomores in the lineup, took the kickoff and evened the tally when sophomore Bob Andridge, on a reverse play behind perfect blocking, raced 59 yards to the goal. Cafego added the extra point.

Near the end of the third period the Vols' second touchdown ended a drive that netted 57 yards in six plays.

Later Foxx leaped into the air to grab a pass that ricocheted from the hands of Bailey and dashed 23 yards to score unmolested. The extra point kick was blocked.

The Summary:

CUBS SPLIT TWO WITH CARDINALS

hand was blue and badly swollen. However, he bellowed, "I'll get into that series if they have to fit me for crutches."

The Cubs were mournful souls for a time today, after Johnny Mize poled a homer over the rightfield pavilion in the eighth inning of the first game to beat them, 4-3. That left them desperate for a victory, as the score of the Pirates' game in Cincinnati had not yet been posted.

But when the final Pittsburgh score was posted on the board, the Cubs really began to fight. Dizzy Dean stood on the dugout steps, pounding a bat against a post and yelling to Root to "pour it on 'em."

The crowd of 20,000 sensing that it was about to be in on the kill, began pulling for the Cubs, too.

Jumping on Root for six hits in the first three innings, including a triple by Myers, rookie shortstop, the Cards grabbed a 3-1 lead at the outset of the nightcap. With Clyde Shoun pitching tight ball, it wasn't until the fifth frame that the Cubs managed to whittle it down to a tie at 3-3.

Then with Root mowing down the Card batters in order, the Cubs really went to work on Bill McGee, who had succeeded Shoun. Three successive hits, an error by Mize on a bunt by Carl Reynolds, and a squeeze play chased four runs over the plate. Three more were added off Lon Warneke in the eighth for good measure, Ken O'Dea's double finally driving Lon from the hill.

It was an impressive finish. It could not be said that the Cubs backed into the throne room.

They played fighting ball afield, too, not making an error in the three games played yesterday and today. They backed up Root with particularly brilliant play, showing no signs of the jitters that had threatened to overtake them yesterday. Demaree's running one-handed catch of Terry Moore's liner against the right field wall in the fifth was a gem. Only 19 batters faced Root in the last six frames, a double play cutting off the only threat the Cards made.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Four home runs, including Mel Ott's 36th of the season, enabled the Giants to trim the Boston Bees 13 to 5 today and remain a game ahead of the Cincinnati Reds in the struggle for third place in the National league. Besides Ott, Johnny McCarthy, Alex Kampouris and Harry Danning hit for the circuit to account for 10 Giant runs.

REDS CRUSH PIRATES

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 1.—(AP)—In a game as whacky and delirious as the flag race itself, the Cincinnati Reds crushed Pittsburgh's flag hopes today by swamping five pitchers with a 17-hit attack and a wild, 9 to 6 victory before a ladies' day crowd of 13,386 fans.

The Pirates played and fought like a sandlot team. After overcoming a four-run deficit with a five-run rally in the fourth inning, the defense collapsed with their pitching and the loose-swinging Reds, led by big Ernie Lombardi and Billy Myers, turned the game into a rout.

Big Jim Weaver, who rescued Bucky Walters in the noisy Pirate fourth, was the hero of the wild battle. So completely did he stop the Bucs that he allowed but two hits, one a homer by Johnny Rizzo.

Northeast Center To Play Kilgore College Thursday

Indians Come Out Of College Of Marshall Game In Good Condition

The Northeast Center of L. S. U. Indians, after two games at home, leave here this week for Kilgore, Tex., where they meet the Kilgore Junior college eleven Thursday night in the second meeting of the two teams.

Coach James L. Malone, after giving the Tribesmen a long workout yesterday afternoon, said his charges came out of the College of Marshall game Thursday night in good shape, and that the roster of ailing players previous to the Marshall invasion had diminished considerably.

Jimmy Meeks, fleet little fullback, is the only member of the squad at the present who is suffering a major injury, Coach Malone stated, but he is recovering steadily. Several others are nursing bruises, but their ailments will not keep them confined to the benches.

The No. 1 lineup in yesterday's scrimmage was the same that started against College of Marshall, and Coach Malone indicated that it would be his starting lineup against Kilgore.

However, Coach Malone said one change was anticipated in the chores of Ernest Freeman, veteran tackle. Freeman was worked at a guard position yesterday for the first time and his work met with favor. The Tribe has two stellar tackles in Allen McNees and George Perry, but Freeman was just as good and Center needs all three of them in the line.

The switching of Freeman to guard will also give the forward wall additional weight. Coach Malone said he had not decided which guard post would be best suited to the convert but the work early this week would determine whether and on which side of the center he would work.

Plans were under way here yesterday to charter a special train to Kilgore for the game, it was stated. The special will be available not only to Center students but to Indian fans of this area also. Coach Malone said last night he had learned from Kilgore that the Texans were planning to entertain the largest crowd ever to see a football game there, with not less than 8,000 expected.

Coach Malone drilled the Indians in an offensive scrimmage for one hour yesterday, stressing blocking for the ball carriers. More scrimmaging is planned for tomorrow.

CHOCTAWS DEFEAT LOUISIANA COLLEGE

CLINTON, Miss., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Mississippi college Choctaws smothered a heavier Louisiana college eleven here this afternoon, rolling up five touchdowns for a 33-13 victory.

Hennington skirted right end for six yards early in the first period for the first Choctaw marker. During the second period, a pass from Armstrong to Hitt paid off after a drive up the field from the Louisiana 35, and a few minutes later Cliff Landrum leaped over two Louisiana tacklers and fell over the goal line for the third counter.

Louisiana scored in the third quarter, when Carbo returned the kick-off from the Louisiana 4, and ran 96 yards to the goal line. A Choctaw fumble set the stage for Louisiana's second score.

A lateral from Hennington to Armstrong from the Louisiana 17 chalked up another Choc counter, and an Armstrong-Hitt aerial from the Louisiana 33 marked up the final.

ARMY BEATS V. P. I.

MAROONS BLANK FLORIDA ELEVEN

Mississippi State Wallops Gators, 22-0, Before Homecoming Crowd

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Paced by Jack Nix, junior halfback, the Mississippi State college football team rolled over Florida 22-0 before a homecoming crowd here today.

Taking the lead in the first period, the Maroons were never in danger. Nix took a perfect 35-yard pass from Sonny Bruce on the three and stepped over for the score, and Bruce converted from placement.

After bogging down on the 21, Ed Scott provided a second-period field goal from placement to give the Maroons a 10-point lead at the half.

It was in the third period that State's first team, duplicating the opening game with Howard, unleashed a powerful offense to score two touchdowns.

Jack Nix touched off this scoring spree by racing 15 yards around his left end to score standing. A few minutes later, Frank Chambers, subbing for Bruce, drove 12 yards to the Florida one, and on the next play sliced through right tackle for the counter. The 'Gators got a good chance to score in the first period, when Clark Goff partially blocked Bruce's punt and Florida recovered on the 30. State's defense stiffened and forced the 'Gators to yield the ball on the 22.

GEORGIA TECH TROUNCES MERCER, 19-0, IN OPENER

ATLANTA, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Georgia Tech opened its football season with a 19-0 victory over Mercer university before 10,000 sweltering fans today.

Two of the scores came the hard way, Tech running and passing its way to the goal. The other touchdown came when Howard Ector, fullback, intercepted a pass from Mercer's Jimmy Landrum and raced 39 yards.

ALABAMA BEATS HOWARD, 34 TO 0

Crimson Tide Displays Power And Versatility Before 8,000 Spectators

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Alabama's Crimson Tide smashed Howard, 34 to 0, here today in a display of power and versatility before approximately 8,000 fans.

The Alabama line dominated play from the start, and the Tide was never in serious trouble.

Alvin (Pig) Davis, 185-pound fullback from Greenforest, Ark., stole the offensive show with long gains on off-tackle slants and line smashes, although the other 'Bama backs gained plenty of ground.

Davis ran 56 yards for the day's longest touchdown jaunt and scored another on a line buck.

Billy Siemons opened the scoring with a 15-yard end sweep in the opening period. George Zivich tore off 43 yards for the second and Davis' long run accounted for the next one, both in the second period. Charles Holm rammed over the fourth score midway of the third period, and Pig Davis' second touchdown, in the final period, ended the scoring for the day.

The potent Alabama line held Howard running plays to five net yards, but the Bull Dogs picked up 46 on passes.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Sid Feder

(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—They're certainly not making it any easier for Hankus Pankus Greenberg. . . . Knocking off tomorrow's game for a double header Sunday is almost sure to slice at least a couple of innings off big Hank's chances of catching the Babe—'cause darkness always catches up with the second games of these October double bills. . . . Attn. Jerseyans: mosquitos up Wisconsin way were so big and thick Whitewater Teachers footballers couldn't get outside for practice—had to take to the gym. . . . And Jimmy Ford reports from the campus one of the boys was attacked by so many of 'em he hasn't reported yet. . . . Cub pitching staff looks so-o-o tired. . . . Makes you wonder what'll happen when those Yanks show up—provided the Cubs do get the flag. . . . Well, there's one consolation, somebody has to win it. . . .

Sharpshooter Wilfred Hetzel, the Minneapolis basketball whiz, may take his trick shots into the movies this winter, and then bring 'em to the World fair here next year. . . . He's the fellow who can sink his shots any way you call them, including the Scandinavian. . . . The big name golfing pros are thinking over an invite to take a crack at the Philippine Open. . . . If Al Siebert of the Sheridan (Wyo.) chamber of commerce, isn't kidding, they've really got the makings of another Slingin' Sammy Baugh out there. . . . Name, Dick Woods; occupation, end on the Sheridan High team; height, six-four . . .*, and, says Mr. Siebert, "he passes 70 yards with comparative ease." . . . Even if that's giving him just a leetle the best of it, college scouts 'll be thanking you for the plug, Mr. Siebert. . . .

Wonder what those other National pro football league bosses think of themselves for passing up a chance to land Purdue Cecil Isbell in the draft. . . . Looks like the Green Bay Packers have the goods in that feller. . . . Texas Mines (nickname, Ore Diggers, in case you haven't heard) will be quietly uniformed in flaming orange and white this year. . . . And Gus Dorais will trot his Detroits out in blazing cardinal jerseys, gold pants and red and white striped helmets. . . . Did somebody in the house holler fire? . . . Paavo Nurmi took one look at Gunnar Barlund, the heavyweight, on a running track in their native Finland—and told him he should get into the fight game. . . . He did. . . .

Things it'll be fun to watch in the series: The first time Carl Reynolds, the Cub ballhawk, comes sliding home against Bill Dickey, the Yanks' catcher. . . . They haven't seen much of each other since Bill hung one on Carl (then a Senator) back in '32, and they carted Carl off to the hospital with a busted jaw. . . . Minor league ball broke all records this year. . . . With 37 clubs starting and finishing the season, and not a dime in debt. . . . That's the end of "firecracker leagues and irresponsible promoters," points out Minor League Czar W. G. Bramham. . . . 2 SENATORS URGE PARLEY IN U. S.

cated he was confident that the recent threat of war in Europe was definitely past.

In an interview, Senator Burke said he thought the time was ripe for an economic readjustment which would remove trade barriers and, with them, many of the causes of war.

"I think Europe's troubles are basically economic," he said.

"The president is the logical one to take the leadership in calling an economic conference. The United States is not involved in any of the boundary or racial disputes that are troubling Europe. The president is in an ideal position to take the lead because he can do it without involving us in Europe's quarrels."

Praising the reciprocal trade treaties fostered by Secretary of State Hull, Burke said some such treaties might well be the basis of agreements among all the larger nations of the world.

In his statement Lewis predicted there would be attempts to dismember Poland, in preparation for conflict with Russia, and that Germany, Japan and Italy subsequently would demand complete domination of trade in the Orient, to the exclusion of the United States.

The state department threw further light, meantime, upon the extent of moral pressure brought to bear by the United States and other American nations during the Czech crisis.

Secretary Hull disclosed that, prior to settlement of the territorial dispute between Czechoslovakia and Poland today, the United States ambassador to Warsaw had been instructed to express President Roosevelt's hope that Poland would refrain from the use of force.

JONESBORO-HODGE WALLOPS FARMERS

JONESBORO, La., Oct. 1.—(Special)—Coach "Sonny" Maroney's Tigers of the Jonesboro-Hodge High school walloped the Farmerville Farmers, 47 to 0, here last night in the Tigers new athletic field. It was the first night game ever played here, and a large crowd of Jonesboro and Hodge citizens turned out for the engagement.

Cercy Frey, captain and fullback of the Tigers, was the outstanding performer of the game as he scored four of his team's touchdowns and personally led them in the smashing victory.

The longest run of the game was made by Fred Clay, end, who took a pass from Frey and raced 55 yards to score. Haywood Hargrove, halfback, ran 42 yards for a touchdown and also shouldered the punting duties for Jonesboro-Hodge. Whitten also scored for the locals.

The Tigers will meet the strong Bossier City Bearcats here next Friday night at 8 o'clock.

PLAYOFF GAME SET FOR CLARKS TODAY

CLARKS, La., Oct. 1.—(Special)—The sixth game of the Big Six league championship series between Clarks and Chatham will be played here Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

"Lefty" Counts is expected to draw the pitching assignment for the Lumberjacks with Woodrow Duncan doing the catching. Ed Head, who has won two games for Chatham, is slated to pitch for the visitors. Either Gimber or Johnson will catch for Chatham. Counts has won one series game and lost one.

Chatham, with three victories, needs only one more win to claim the crown. The Lumberjacks, with two wins, must take two games if they expect to be league champs.

Should Clarks win Sunday a seventh game will be necessary with the time and place of such a game to be decided following Sunday's skirmish.

BABY CHIMPANZEE FINALLY RESCUED

Luizette with sticks. No luck. She held the baby. The keepers were afraid of getting too rough because in the ensuing excitement Mrs. Luizette, the dope, might have crushed the baby to death.

Mr. Neelis wired zoos in St. Louis and Chicago for advice. From St. Louis came word that if Mrs. Luizette could be lassoed the baby could be taken from her.

Even Detective Chief John Grosch tried to help. He thought he could razzle-dazzle Mrs. Luizette with handcuffs. She refused to be cuffed and kept the baby. The chief and his pals tried to lasso the lady. She opened the knots in the rope with her teeth.

Mrs. Coco, watching the proceedings from the next cage, kept making that funny blowing noise with her lips known as the Bronx cheer.

But today the S. P. C. A., fearing the baby, which had eaten nothing since birth, would surely starve to death, sent its agent, Joe Margiotta to the scene. Joe lassoed Mrs. Luizette and the keepers got the baby.

Immediately Mr. Neelis summoned a baby specialist who prescribed a feeding formula—two and a half ounces of something every two hours—and the baby got its first drink of milk, through a bottle with a nipple, and promptly fell into a doze.

Mr. Neelis, believing the smell of Mrs. Luizette is now strong on the baby, fears he will never be able to persuade Mrs. Coco to take it back.

Mrs. Neelis was awfully glad it was all over.

POLAND TAKING OVER HER SLICE

ments of the Munich four-power accord and Czechoslovakia's capitulation to Poland.

While his troops launched the progressive occupation of Sudetenland provided in the Munich agreement Adolf Hitler returned to a conqueror's welcome in Berlin.

One-third of the first zone of Sudeten areas ceded to Germany by Czechoslovakia last night had been brought within the widening frontiers of greater Germany. Three zones were left for occupation by German troops before October 8.

Further areas are to be occupied by Germany by October 10, their boundaries to be fixed by the five-power international commission supervising the cession.

Czechoslovak troops, meanwhile, began evacuating Teschen after the government reached a "painful" decision to yield to Poland's ultimatum for cession of that boundary zone populated by most of Czechoslovakia's 100,000 Polish minority.

Popular demonstrations broke loose in Warsaw when the government announced Cezchoslovakia's action. The announcement said Polish troops would take over Teschen at 2 p. m. (7 a.m. central standard time) today. Remaining sections of Teschen and Freistadt districts are to be taken over by Poland by October 10.

In Washington, Democratic Senators Burke of Nebraska and Lewis of Illinois proposed that President Roosevelt summon international conferences to effect a lasting European peace.

Burke, just returned from a European trip, said Mr. Roosevelt was the logical man to call a badly needed world economic conference.

Lewis asserted the time was at hand when the president should summon all parties to the Versailles treaty to meet in this country and survey what that pact had produced "in discontent, revolt and war."

Most European governments faced the "morning after" fact that the crisis had cost millions of dollars. Placing millions of men under arms and other defensive measures had put a severe strain on treasuries, already burdened by armaments. Demobilization progressed rapidly.

Conservative Duff Cooper's resignation sounded a discordant note in Britain's jubilation over settlement of the war crisis.

His action was preceded by a speech by Harold Nicolson, national labor member of parliament, attacking the Chamberlain policy. "I still am not aware his (Chamberlain's) final surrender had the approval of his own cabinet," Nicolson said.

Duff Cooper's stepping down was expected to give the lead to a growing number of rebellious government supporters who share his "distrust."

France received assurances of British fidelity to the Anglo-French front in spite of the Hitler-Chamberlain friendship declaration. A spokesman said Britain maintained all her engagements to aid France in the event of a conflict.

First announcement of the agreement between the British prime minister and the German fuehrer had surprised the French government.

Moscow accepted calmly Czechoslovakia's capitulation to Poland's territorial demands. Authoritative quarters expressed belief the action did not involve the Russian-Czechoslovak mutual assistance pact since it involved no "unprovoked aggression."

The danger of an immediate European conflict past, thousands of foreigners began leaving Switzerland. Many Americans were among those who had gone there hoping the little confederation's neutrality would be respected in the event of a war.

At Hendaye, France, Spanish government spokesman reported that evacuation of foreign fighterns from the government army would begin next week with the arrival of a League of National supervisory committee.

Only intermittent air raids were reported from the fronts in Spain's civil war.

STOCK MARKET BUYING BRISK

Optimism Shown Over European Situation And General Business Pickup

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Further optimism over the fading of European war tension, combined with hopes for a pickup in business now that world peace prospects have brightened, brought fresh buying into the stock market.

While profit-taking intervals were frequent, gains ran to two or more points at the best, with a few issues such as du Pont, Johns-Manville and Philip Morris posting new highs for the year.

Top prices were reduced somewhat here and there at the close of the brief session, but many favorites ended at the best levels of the day.

The feverish activity Friday was absent and the ticker tape moved along at a steady gait after a quiet opening. Transfers approximated 800,000 shares.

Encouraging to recovery contingents was the apparently unexcited entrance of the Germany army into the Czech Sudetenland and later word that a Czechoslovak break with Poland had been avoided by the former's acceptance of the Polish territorial demands.

Brightening the market picture also were signs Germany and France would bury the hatchet and reach an accord similar to the one effected between Great Britain and the reich.

Resignation of first lord of the British admiralty, Alfred Duff Cooper, because of disagreement with Chamberlain's foreign policy attracted some attention as possibly portending a political flareup in England, but it was believed to have been only a minor market factor.

Receiving support throughout were shares of United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, General Motors, Chrysler, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Montgomery Ward, United States Rubber, J. I. Case, Oliver Farm, Allis Chalmers, Sperry Corporation, Westinghouse, American Can, Air Reduction, Owens-Illinois, Crane Company, American Smelting, Anaconda, Santa Fe, New York Central, Great Northern and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Bonds, both foreign and domestic, were in demand at substantially higher quotations. Commodities were narrow. Most foreign markets were closed but the London gold rate was reduced a shade. Sterling and the French franc slipped in terms of the dollar. Curb shares moved forward.

MILLIONS ARE SOUGHT IN SUIT

F. C. McMullen One Of Litigants In Case Involving Oil Lands

F. C. Mullen, 1200 South First street, car inspector for the Missouri Pacific railroad, has just returned from Canton, Tex., where he attended the hearings in district court which involves the title to oil lands valued at between two and three million dollars in the heart of the world's richest oil fields. Mr. McMullen is one of a number of heirs and should they win their case, he would receive a large sum of money.

The land in question is 200 acres in extent and already has 11 large oil wells on it, with potential possibility of a large number of additional wells. After 50 attorneys, some of whom were among the best known in Texas, had participated in the case, which is entitled Gilchrist versus the Humble Oil company, adjournment was taken until the January term of court.

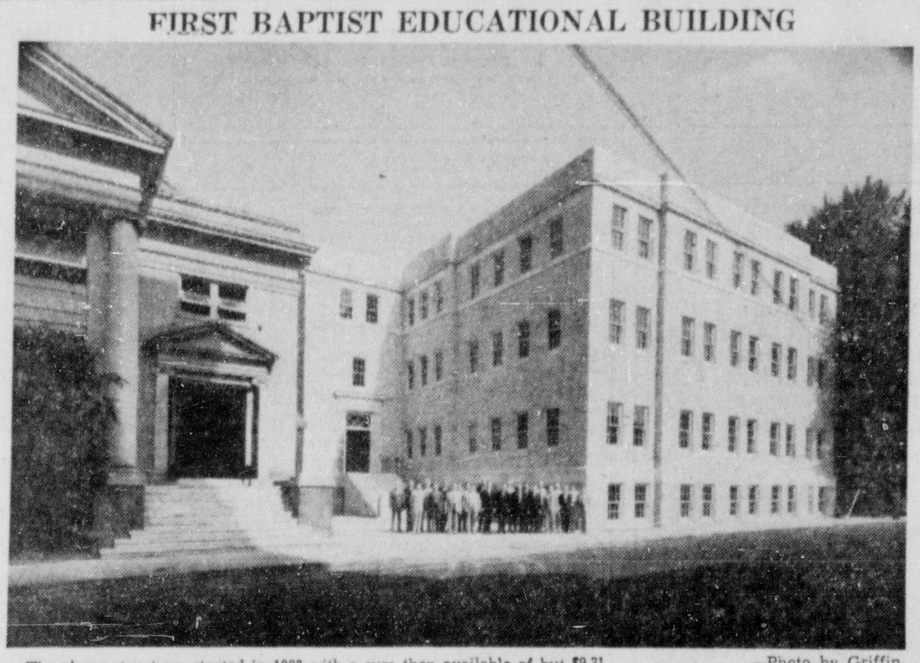

Mr. McMullen said that C. H. Gilchrist, original owner of the land, was his father's bachelor uncle, who was killed in Rome, Ga., in 1864.

The land was believed to have been worthless and no taxes were paid and the land, which is a waste sand dune, lay neglected and forgotten until the big oil boom, when it was leased by the state to an oil company.

The action now in court is brought by seven families, all descendants or nephews and nieces of C. H. Gilchrist, in an effort to establish title. Numerous complications and irregularities have been unearthed which have furnished material for the entry of the large number of attorneys.

The United States has about four and one-half million colonies of honey bees that make about 160,000,000 pounds of honey a year.

FIRST BAPTIST EDUCATIONAL BUILDING

The above structure, started in 1933 with a sum then available of but $9.31 and boundless optimism, is now in use and fully completed. It represents a total outlay of $125,000, making it rank as one of the best in the entire south. Shown in the picture are members of the finance and building committee and all officers of the church. Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor, whose efforts contributed to a large degree of the success of the undertaking is shown at the right.

Handsome New Educational Building Used By Baptists

Constantly increasing demands for more room and a vision of the future, backed by plenty of hard work, have developed into a realization of hopes and ambitions with the placing in use of the new $125,000 educational building of the First Baptist church. To be sure, the structure is by no means completed on the interior, but the handsome exterior is finished and the fourth floor and stairways leading thereto will be completed within the next few days. Temporary partitions have been installed on the first and third floors so that the entire Sunday school may be housed in the new building.

This building, ranking with the best in the entire south in the way of church educational structure, was started back in 1933 when various Sunday school classes saved their money and purchased brick up to the number of 100,000, and on one bleak November Sunday in 1933, with all due ceremony, the ground was broken for the building. It is said that at the outset there was but $9.31 actually available in cash, but just the same there was accompanying this sum a spirit that was optimistic and indefatigable. The work proceeded as the dollars rolled in.

After much hard work and sacrificial giving by members of the church and congregation, it was possible to complete the basement. Then the slab for the second floor was completed and for several summers this floor was used for church services.

Ultimately the structure was pushed upwards until in time it reached the height of four floors. Then financial arrangements were completed for sufficient money to complete the entire exterior, the fourth floor and stairways. Today the building represents an expenditure of approximately $100,000, and it is estimated that an additional $25,000 will be required for completion.

The building has dimensions of 69 by 112 feet and has four floors. The exterior is comprised of art brick of cream color which harmonizes with the construction of the nearby church auditorium. The many windows provide outside light and ventilation for the 105 individual class rooms.

The fourth floor comprises six assembly rooms and 43 class rooms and will care for 450 junior and intermediate boys and girls.

The third floor when completed will be used for the young people's department and the second floor will care for the adults.

The pastor's study, offices for other officials of the church and library will also be located on the second floor.

The basement, or first floor, will provide facilities for the nursery, beginners' and primary departments.

J. W. Smith and Associates, local architects, designed and supervised the construction, which was performed by Frank Masling, local contractor.

The Sunday school at present has an enrollment of 1,480 with an attendance in excess of 800 each Sunday. There are 18 departments, including the cradle roll and extension departments with classes for all ages from the nursery to adults.

Credit for the successful outcome of building operations is given in a large degree to two committees. They are the finance committee, composed of Chairman R. C. Stokes, Roy Q. Cole, George D. Holland, Frank Reitzell, Hugh Davis and D. C. Black, and the building committee, composed of Chairman Lawrence Pettit, E. H. Murrell and R. M. Drew.

But two others' unfaltering interest and wise guidance also have contributed greatly to success, together with the unselfish loyalty of the congregation. These are Rev. L. T. Hastings and his assistant, D. C. Black.

Rev. Hastings came to Monroe 12 years ago and is at this time entering on his 13th year of service. During this time he has worked unceasingly for the spiritual advancement of this church and for the community. In his term of ministry, he has seen the membership grow by leaps and bounds, becoming undoubtedly the largest possessed by any church in northeast Louisiana. His assistant, D. C. Black, who not only is pastor's assistant but is educational and music director, is also an official who has been credited with having proved a highly worthy assistant to his chief and one whose efforts on the building and other committees have contributed in large degree to the success of the project.

'LID OFF CRIME', BUTLER'S TOPIC

Fighting Marine's Lecture Here On October 21 Attracts Interest

Announcement of the appearance at the Neville High school auditorium on the night of October 21, of General Smedley Butler, who will talk on "Blowing the Lid Off Crime," has aroused unusual interest throughout northeast Louisiana. His lecture here will be sponsored by the L. B. Faulk post of the American Legion. Tickets will go on sale in the near future.

In 1923, the city of Philadelphia requested the loan of General Butler from the marine corps. The president granted the request and the general became director of public safety of Philadelphia in January, 1924.

In his first statement to the public, the fighting general said: "I'll strike regardless of whom it hits!" And he did, which caused much trouble.

Holdups and burglaries he reduced to a comparatively small number and increased the number of arrests for infractions of the prohibition law. Even the most rabid partisan gave him credit for being absolutely fair in his dealings. He sought to enforce the law without regard to influence, politics or wealth. But he had not been on the job long when certain politicians made a desperate effort to secure his removal, even going so far as to attempt to influence President Coolidge to recall him to the marine corps.

After two years' service as director of public safety, the general sent in his resignation to the United States marines. While his resignation was pending, the mayor dismissed him, saying he would not have a "resigned" officer occupying the post of director of public safety.

Editorial comment at the time was expressed as follows: "Two conclusions can be drawn from the record of General Butler in Philadelphia:

"One is that an incorruptible chief of police can enforce not only ordinary law and order, but the prohibition law as well. The other conclusion is that if a politician does not want a job done thoroughly, honestly and to the limit, he had better not ask a marine to do it."

General Butler believes that laws can be enforced and relates experiences to prove his contention.

Do You Want A Baby?

IT is a well known fact that "Complete unity and happiness in married life is brought by babies," and that lack of children in the home is one of the greatest causes for discontented marriages. Also that woman was intended for Motherhood, but too often she has a functional weakness. During an experience of more than 40 years specializing in conditions peculiar to women, I developed a simple home method which has brought new hope.

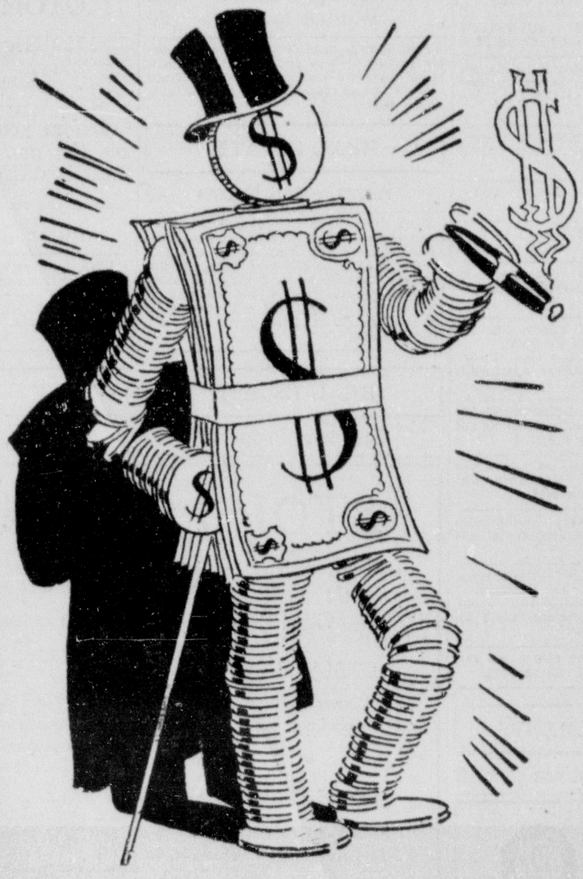

Happiness has been brought to many who were childless because of functional weakness. Husbands have written me the most glowing letters of gratitude, in such cases. Now I want other women suffering from functional weakness to learn about this splendid method and how it may be used in the privacy of the home. (Copr. 1938)

I have printed an illustrated comprehensive treatise on the merits of this method, in which I intimately discuss many important subjects relating to the female organs that are vitally interesting to every woman. They tell how you too may often combat your troubles as have others who reported the arrival of babies after being childless for years, due to functional weakness. So often again certain women may enjoy the desire and activities of Nature's most wonderful creation—a normal, fully developed, vigorous woman. American Association Of University Women Plans Unusually Active Program

Miss Myrtle Rodgers President Of Group

Study Of International Affairs And Government To Be Included In Discussions This Year

Members of the Monroe branch of the American Association of University Women will bring the world closer to them this winter, for they are turning with emphasis to study of international affairs and government in addition to carrying on a program of study and educational community projects and encouraging women in the field of creative scholarship through graduate fellowships.

Miss Myrtle Rodgers, president of the local branch of the American Association of University Women, believes that by working together the alumnae of different colleges could open doors of opportunity to women in the educational world and secure for women a fuller share of intellectual life. Working with her are members of the local branch, Miss Rebecca Cassell, Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mrs. H. P. Durrett, Mrs. W. R. Hammond, Mrs. Palmer Hardie, Mrs. George Holland, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. Herbert Steed, Mrs. J. Noble White, Mrs. S. E. Huey, Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Miss Edwynne Joseph, Miss Mary Hester, Dr. Julia Hunter, Mrs. W. E. Leigh, Miss Dean McKoin and Mrs. Fred Williamson.

The social side of life is stressed by this group of women who meet at regular intervals for tea and a conversational hour. September's social affair was a tea at the home of Dr. Julia Hunter with Miss Mary Hester and Miss Myrtle Rodgers presiding over the handsome silver tea and coffee services gracing the beautifully appointed refreshment table.

Miss Rodgers took this opportunity to give a few facts and figures concerning membership in the association. She said:

"The American Association of University Women is not a federation of college clubs or women's clubs; it is an educational organization. The association was founded in 1883, at a time when educational opportunities for women were limited, when prejudice against higher education for women was still strong and women who had succeeded in securing advanced training found few openings for using their abilities.

"The association was founded, as stated in its charter, 'for practical educational work, for the collection and publication of statistical and other information concerning education, and in general for the maintenance of high standards of education.'

"In carrying out these objectives, one of the first tasks to challenge the pioneering women who made up the A. C. A. was to prove to a doubting world that women were physically equal to the rigors of a college education. And prove it they did, with inescapable statistics drawn from their own growing membership. From that day the association has continued consistently its efforts to enlarge educational opportunities for women, and to promote higher educational standards both within and without the classroom.

"The association has always worked realistically to establish standards in higher education for women. Its first task was to secure for women as generous a share in higher education as was accorded men, and to abolish the so-called women's colleges which were colleges only in name. In this long fight, a very simple method has been used, and used effectively. The association admits to national membership only those women who hold an approved degree from an institution on its approved list. Approval is given to institutions which have high academic standards (the Association of American Universities' rating is now used), offer adequate provisions for the care and direction of women students, and give women equal status with men in faculty and student body. Because the association is interested in sound academic education, only those degrees are approved for which 50 per cent of the work is of a liberal, non-technical character."

Miss Elaine Levy Of St. Joseph Feted

Mrs. Newton Wilds and Miss Ethel Reiber of St. Joseph entertained at the Reiber home with a supper-bridge complimentary to Miss Elaine Levy, a bride-to-be.

The reception suite was banked with beautiful autumn leaves and bright-colored flowers. A bridal theme was developed in the dining room, where the supper table had for central decor a miniature church encircled with white tapers in low crystal holders. A handsome silver epergne overflowing with white dahlias adorned the spacious buffet. White tapers in silver candelabra gleamed at either end.

Bridge was introduced following the supper hour and prizes presented to Mrs. Myles Smith, Miss Myrtis King and Mrs. Jack Bargas.

Seventeen guests, in addition to Miss Levy and her mother, enjoyed the courtesies of the evening.

Mrs. R. B. Henry and Mrs. D. C. Metcalf entertained members of the Catlett Bible class of the West Monroe Methodist Sunday school at the McGuire Golf club last week.

The spacious lounge was adorned with marigolds and bright yellow zennias for the occasion.

Following the business session a conversational hour was enjoyed and the hostesses served a confectionery course to Mesdames J. V. Russell, J. W. Golson, H. B. McClendon, Louis Rinehart, Syd Simmons, Ruth Foimboeuf, W. J. Lee, O. B. Register, M. Roth, King Hunt, H. S. Spencer, Aimee Cook, L. C. Garrette, R. B. Henry, D. C. Harper, A. E. Dopson, R. W. Welcome Branch Book Club Meets

Mrs. Dean Selig assisted by Mrs. Dudley Stone, entertained with charming informality the members of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book club Wednesday afternoon.

The Halloween season was reflected in the living room and dining room, where vases holding Mexican sunflowers were colorfully used with orange colored tapers burning during the tea hour.

After the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. J. R. White, an interesting program on "Regional Literature" from the western part of the United States was presented.

Mrs. Warren Gregory, program chairman, presided.

A vocal selection, "Dreams," by Bancroft, was rendered by Mrs. Wilfred Scroggin, accompanied by Mrs. Howard Hearne of Jonesboro.

Mrs. F. H. Peterson gave an interesting talk on "Regionalism." She said:

"Regionalism is nothing new or unprecedented, and our long expected great American novel has never arrived because of the inability of the various regions to agree on what constitutes greatness in novel reading.

"A region is a geographical term for an environmental type, and regional literature is reading material of and about an environmental type.

"Mankind's natural environment determines what he shall wear, ways of housing and food getting, it arranges by its progressions of seed time and harvest and climatic conditions.

"There is no part of the United States which has more ramifications from a literary standpoint than the south with its negro problem, its poor white people, its aristocracy in things social. The old south feltered by tradition and the new south in its period of reconstruction these 70 years past, and one of the nicest characteristics from a literary point of view is the romance which is credited to the south.

"Read Mr. Stark Young's book, 'So Red the Rose,' and you will have to be the most unimaginative soul alive if you are not able to live in the old south again for the period of time it takes you to read it.

"Mary Austin names some of her favorite fiction which has lived from generation to generation, and regional literature is the only kind which lives from generation to generation. She names 'The House of Seven Gables' and 'Scarlet Letter,' by Hawthorne, as typical Puritan literature, but it seems more like old England than New England. She thinks 'Queechy' is the finest portrayed of New England life that she knows of. 'Huckleberry Finn' and 'Tom Sawyer' are of old Mississippi valley favorites. 'Main Traveled Roads' takes us to the middle states and for the edge of the plains she delegates Ed Howe's masterpiece, 'The Story of the Country Town.'

"Miss Austin recommends Kipling's and Carrol's books and stories for children for their regional value. She recommends Joel Chandler Harris Parker and James Schultz books for the exploratory and adventuresome child.

"The oil fields of Texas provide Rex Beach with material for his book, 'Flaming Gold.' 'Tobacco Road,' by Caldwell is a story of proletarian people on an over-worked farm in the backwoods of Georgia.

"It takes, as Edgar A. Guest says, 'a heap o' livin' in a place before one is acquainted with it well enough to write sympathetically of it. It is understandable why Fannie Hurst goes to Hawaii and lives four years to write a book, why Zane Grey lives in the Arizona deserts to write some of his western stories and Harold Bell Wright lived in the backwoods of the Ozarks in southern Missouri to write 'Shepherd of the Hills.'

"The whole of American culture and civilization probably defies the efforts of any one author, and we shall have to be content with many regional books from many authors instead of a great novel from the pen of one."

Mrs. Zell Smith, in giving a biological sketch of Edward Everett Dave, said:

"He is an ex-cowboy, ex-deputy sheriff, ex-postmaster in a little western town, ex-country school teacher, is now head of the history department of the University of Oklahoma with a Ph.D. degree from Harvard, and is the author of books, poems and magazine articles."

"The Prairie Schooner," a four-verse poem, was read by Mrs. Smith at this time.

The biological sketch of Bret Harte and the short story, "A Buckeye Hollow Inheritance," were reviewed by Mrs. F. E. Black.

Members enjoying this program and the charming social hour, so much a part of these meetings, were: Mrs. Frank E. Black, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. Harold Deloney, Mrs. C. H. Dunaway, Mrs. J. Thomas Eubanks, Mrs. W. C. Faulk, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Mrs. Paul H. Herron, Mrs. G. D. Holland, Mrs. Marvyn Johnson, Mrs. Lewis Langford, Mrs. A. H. Moore, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. H. R. Saenger, Mrs. John C. Best, Mrs. E. E. Lawson, Mrs. Ralph Gibson, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Lloyd Webb, Mrs. D. H. Duncan, Mrs. J. F. Prendergast, Mrs. F. A. Randow, Mrs. W. E. Sandel, Mrs. Wilfred K. Scroggin, Mrs. Dean Selig, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. Dudley Stone, Mrs. Charles Swain, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. John Whitfield, Mrs. J. R. White and Mrs. F. H. Peterson. Visitors were Miss Iva Wilson, Mrs. Ara Carkran, Mrs. C. Nobie Hatch of Rayville, and Mrs. Howard Hearne of Jonesboro.

Mrs. E. E. Eaves has returned from New Orleans, where she was under the care of an occulist for several weeks.

OCTOBER! A delightful languor lingers in these days when gardens, blissfully content, take their siesta and smoke from our neighbor's bonfire spreads a gentle haze. Tattered corn stalks at ease, nod over a good job done, and with plenty of elbow room, all vines wander about sociably. The Virginia creeper is clinging to the old brick walls as Layton castle is now ox-blood red, and the dahlias in the R. C. Sparks gardens continue to grow in beauty. R. C. has a system, all his own, whereby his dahlias grow larger and more beautiful as the season advances. The Japanese persimmon tree in the Travis Oliver gardens is weighted to the ground with huge clusters of fruit turning a bright red in the autumnal sun. In the Murray Hudson gardens the old japonica bushes transplanted from the ante-bellum gardens of Murray's childhood home, remembered by those who grew up in Monroe as "Sycamore Hall," are being protected from the sun's rays by screens hastily constructed when they commenced to droop. Murray, as brown as the proverbial berry, can be seen working frantically every evening among his cherished japonicas. There is one bush in particular, the only one of its kind in this section of the state, that is being given special care.

Gardening is as legitimate a hobby for husbands as for wives. It's just that men usually go out and silently dig, without holding meetings about it. As for the dahlia fans, those enthusiasts who can go handsomely broke unless they restrain their ardor for new and multiple varieties, are mostly men who work through the year and are rewarded when fall comes with glorious blooms. J. W. Kilbourne is one of the most ardent dahlia enthusiasts. Unless you have seen his gardens with the autumnal sun shining down on blossoms of every hue, you have missed something infinitely worth while.

Frances Keenan is another flower enthusiast who does not let hotel life deprive her of gardening. On the Virginia roof she walks daily among roses clambering over trellises, old fashioned flowers growing close to a white picket fence and geraniums in well ordered rows along the high brick wall. There is the sound of dripping water in the nearby pool and over all is the blue sky by day and the friendly stars by night.

Cecil Frazier, that lovely person with the low, musical voice and the beautiful brown eyes, has moved in town for the winter from the plantation where happy summer days have been spent with her husband, Maurice Frazier, and her two stalwart sons, who are now six-footers. Cecil is wearing a most becoming tan acquired when the Frazier family motored through Yellowstone park this past summer. The family spends every week-end at their plantation and now that fall and winter days are in the offing, friends are anticipating the pleasure of spending the day with Cecil before the roaring fire in the huge stone fireplace in the great living room where comfortable, deep cushioned chairs form a semi-circle around the glowing embers. Mildred Reid, who likes nothing better than donning tweeds and low heeled shoes for a walk with Cecil through the dense woods in the rear of Waverly plantation, remembers one day in particular last fall when they took a narrow trail and walked in a world all crimson and gold and strangely silent. Deer stalk this thickly wooded section where in years past Theodore Roosevelt hunted for bear. While Cecil entertains feminine guests with characteristic grace, Maurice provides his friends with hunting clothes, guns and ammunition and off they go through the deep woods. Returning home is the best part of all as a table laden with home-baked hams and other country edibles city folk revel in, awaits them. Then of course there is the cozy conversational hour before the fire, a few rubbers of bridge and then the swift ride homeward in the clear, cold night air.

Weeks of toil, frayed nerves, tired muscles, fits of stage fright and all

Mrs. Elbert Speaks At Club Meeting

Dolls of every nation were displayed by Mrs. Johnnie Smith Elbert when she addressed members of the Business and Professional Women's club on the subject of her European trip. Mrs. Elbert visited several foreign countries where she purchased dolls as souvenirs of her trip abroad. Of all the places visited Mrs. Elbert spoke of Lake Como and the Isle of Capri as being the most beautiful. She said, "As a matter of fact, from a tourist viewpoint, Pompeii, Vesuvius, Capri, Ravello and Sorrento provide the real scenery. Many observers agree that the view across the Bay of Naples from Sorrento at twilight, with the volcano giving off a faint glow and the lights beginning to make the harbor look as fantastic as Shelley's ocean of dreams without a sound, ranks near the top among the wonders of the world."

Mrs. Elbert displayed handsome linens from Brussels and a novel ash tray fashioned from the lava from Mt. Vesuvius.

Miss Sue Hefley, guest speaker, was introduced by Mrs. Leon McHenry, program chairman. Her subject, "My Job and Yours," contained many interesting and worth while suggestions.

A social hour was enjoyed following the program and bingo introduced for diversion by members of the entertainment committee.

It was announced at this time that "Nattional Business Women's week," would be observed during the week of October 9-16.

October Time For Changes In Garden

Monroe Club Gives Timely Suggestions On Bulb Planting; Old Mistakes Can Be Avoided

Now that October, the month of "reckoning" in the garden, has arrived, it's time to "take stock." October, with its cool days and the promise of many lovely weeks ahead, is one of the most delightful months to work out-of-doors. It's the ideal time to make changes, as most things can be moved at this time of the year. The failures and disappointments, as well as delights, are still fresh in the memory, so that changes made now will go a long way toward making borders lovelier another year.

Most timely are the suggestions offered by the Monroe Garden club in regard to bulb planting. A successful gardener and grower of bulbs says: "Looking back at this season's garden, I am sure we all remember some things that were lovelier than others because of the 'color pictures' they made, where groupings were good. Golden cosmos, planted behind the hardy ageratum, made such an attractive corner; below the blue hydrangea those few rosy morn petunias—good effects and so easily attained. Yet I've seen that same orange cosmos, well grown but planted near pink phlox, and as a result both were hurt, and solely by the combination of wrong colors.

"Why not look over the border now and by a change here and there work out a few good pictures with the plants you have, and be a bit foresighted about the bulbs you are going to put in? A bit of study with the bulb catalogue in regard to time of bloom and color will repay you in next spring's garden.

"Some of the things seen during the past season, and some tried out in my own garden, may prove worth while as suggestions. Going way back to last spring; there were the bulbs, and to think 'gardens' at this time of the year is to almost think in terms of bulbs—but the planting, not the blooming. There were the crocuses, planted in patches of solid color instead of in mixtures and the effect—far lovelier!

"Grape hyacinths, the indispensable heavenly blue, were used as foils with several kinds of tulips. Planted with them were the early double tulip, Courrone D'Or, a fine yellow, and in still other places an early double pink tulip was used, peach blossom. The deep blue of the grape hyacinths is pleasing with either color. At fairly close intervals along a long border and close to the edge clumps of hyacinths were planted with from three to six of the single early tulip, General De Wet.

"For sheer loveliness there is nothing like the soft pink of the tulip Clara Butt, rising out of some blue phlox (divaricata). It's a simple matter to plant a few of them now, then next spring note how many people exclaim at the picture it makes.

"Seeds of the dark blue larkspur, or of the blue cornflower, if sown this fall, will make much sturdier plants next spring, and in June will be a lovely sight if planted in front of the Dorothy Perkins rambler. But one of the most striking things I saw combined for effect was delphinium in front of a post on which the rose Jacotte was climbing. Another nice thing was the much-maligned mullein pink at the foot of an arbor over which the Pollyantha rose climbs.

"Something to plan now is a doorway where the Paul Scarlet rose will grow with wisteria. In our garden a young azalea is being reared in front of a tree from wisteria, and when both are well established the combination promises to be one of our nicest spring pictures for many years to come.

"Delphinium and madonna lilies are affinities in many gardens, and are always used together by some for effect. With this combination the use of heuchera (coral bells) makes a still lovelier grouping. Another altogether different combination with delphinium, which was grown as a background, was brought about by the use of cassia; its spikes of yellow being a foil for the blue.

"A good background for the soft blue of stokesia is a clump of the phlox, Columbia; or of the older, but still lovely, Elizabeth Campbell; or Daily Sketch, the pink of any one of them contrasting well with the stoke's aster.

"Last, a word about the Oriental poppies, as it is the only time of the year to move them, or put new ones in. Altogether these glorious flowers need no complement when they put on their show in the garden. I still think their extravagant beauty of color and form is greatly enhanced by the close proximity of anchusa dropmore. Its color—blue, and rather coarse form, combine especially well with the poppies."

Each parent is to be contacted this week which has been designated as P.-T. A. week by Governor Leche. Personal visits will be made by Mrs. Smith and her co-workers. The Neville High school P.-T. A. had a most interesting school of instruction recently, with Mrs. Carl Couch and Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, district and state officers, leading in the discussion.

The purposes, policies and objects of the Parent-Teacher association were given as follows:

First, to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church, and community; to raise the standards of home life; to secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth.

Second, to bring into closer relation the home and the school that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child, and to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social, and spiritual education.

Mrs. Couch said that the association was a channel through which the problems moved.

She suggested having programs interesting and informing; using consideration in selecting speakers. She explained that the policies of the P.-T. A. were non-partisan, non-commercial and non-sectarian. The election of officers, committees, etc., was discussed and explained in detail.

How the district and state groups function was related, interspersed with humorous stories of actual happenings throughout the territory.

The relation of the local to the state and national unit was explained.

Membership was a most interesting subject, as the week of October 1-8 has been designated by Governor Leche as P.-T. A. week and quite an active campaign for members will be made by all schools in the Twin Cities.

Mrs. Couch explained that mothers and fathers interested in the welfare of youth were eligible as members, and of course, all teachers.

Mrs. King Hunt, president of the Twin City P.-T. A. council, was present and told of the short course at L. S. U. this summer. She talked at length on programs, and told of several good methods used in planning them. She discussed the NYA and the audience was informed that Neville High school was receiving NYA assistance for some of its students.

She said the use of art in P.-T. A. meetings was stressed by Mrs. Roe.

Miss Elizabeth Rainwater was maid-of-honor and Miss Jayne Goyne and Mrs. James Stevenson were bridesmaids. Miss Rainwater's gown was of pale green taffeta with gold trim. It was fashioned with closefitting bodice and puffed sleeves.

Truman Green of Shreveport served as best man. Ushers were John Brooks and Roland Beatty, the latter a brother of the bride.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. She was exquisite in her gown of white satin cut on princess lines. The finger-tip veil was caught by a beautiful ornament of pearls. Her arm bouquet was fashioned of fern and white roses.

The bride's mother was gowned in a pink lace model with which she wore matched accessories. Her corsage was of pink gladiolas. The bridegroom's mother wore a black fall model with gold trim. Her corsage was pink gladiolas.

A reception was held in the home of the bride immediately after the wedding, for a few close friends and relatives.

Following the reception, the bridal couple left for the gulf coast, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Tisdale were to return home today from California, where they attended the national convention of the American Legion and auxiliary in Los Angeles. En route home they spent several interesting days in San Francisco, where they were privileged to attend the presentation of "Faust," starring Conrad Nagel and several other stage productions, including "Caudida," starring Ann Harding and Paul Cavanaugh. Of outstanding interest was their trip over the Golden Gate bridge, now under construction and considered to be one of the greatest engineering feats in history.

Mrs. Russell Simms has returned to her home in Gulfport following a visit with her sister, Mrs. John Cannon, of West Monroe.

Ruston

On Thursday evening the faculty and student body of Louisiana Tech were entertained by a beautiful tea given by the Pan-Hellenic council at President and Mrs. E. S. Richardson's home.

The tea is an annual event in which all the sororities in the Tech Pan-Hellenic council participate to honor freshman boys and girls.

The receiving line greeting the guests was headed by Miss Anna Holstead, president of Pan-Hellenic, and Mrs. E. S. Richardson. They were assisted by the remaining officers of Kappa Delta, Theta Upsilon and Theta Sigma Nu.

Miss Louise Allen and Miss Agnes Long presided at the table in the dining room. A beautiful centerpiece of autumn flowers graced the table, where punch and French pastry were served. The remaining Pan-Hellenic representatives assisted Miss Allen and Miss Long in the courtesies of the evening.

Varsity football players of Louisiana Tech and their coaches were honored with an ice cream party recently at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Milam on the Monroe road. The hosts were assisted in the social greeting by their daughter, Elaine, and son, Don.

Guests also included President E. S. Richardson, Amos W. Ford, chairman of the athletic committee, H. J. Sachs, Dr. Ragan Green, E. S. Richardson, Jr., and Kenneth F. Hewins.

Following the resignation of Miss Frances James as representative of the Alpha Chi chapter of Kappa Delta sorority at Tech, Miss Donna Gene Green was unanimously chosen as sophomore representative to Pan-Hellenic council.

Pledges recently initiated by Theta Upsilon at Tech are Bruce Jordan, Ruby Robinson, Marjorie Adams, La Neill Nunnally, Joyce Morgan and Jeanette Goodwin.

Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock, the old pledges and actives of the Delta chapter of Alpha Lambda Tau fraternity at Tech entertained their "dates" with a picnic.

Mrs. John Paul Jones, mother and sponsor of the fraternity, acted as chaperon.

Mrs. Jones returned Wednesday from Los Angeles, where she attended the American Legion auxiliary convention. She was recently elected state president of the American Legion auxiliary.

An event being anticipated with much pleasure is "open house," which will be held in the girls' dormitory soon. This is an annual affair at which time many out-of-town visitors are expected to visit the dormitory, where the girls will remain in their rooms and act as hostesses throughout the evening.

The Sundial

the rest of the laborious details associated with rehearsals, will bear luscious fruit next Thursday night when the Junior league presents the long-heralded "Follies." There will be plenty of eye-fillers for the audience when the curtain goes up on the opening night. There will be no lagging; no encores to try the patience; no delays between the scenes. There will be no time for hackneyed finale when those who had a part in the play wave their hands above their heads and their voices reach a grand crescendo as the curtain goes down. You are going to see a very sophisticated performance—you can take our word for it, as we have been attending rehearsals and can assure you of a high class performance. You will not find yourself sitting on pins and needles, or burying your head in your program, for fear the cast will get mixed up in their lines or execute false steps.

Eleanor Faulk, president of the Junior league, is feverish with excitement. She walks the terrace nightly watching the show take shape. She was wearing, one night last week, a dark green woolen suit of unmistakable foreign design and cut. We were curious, so found out she purchased it in Austria when she took her trip around the world. The jacket is tight fitting and short and trimmed with the gay colors of the Tyrol. Eleanor attended the Salzburg music festival and wonders if this artistic international playground, where Americans, French and British come in shoals, is being raided by Germans of the fine Austrian wool of which her suit is made and if there is any change in the music—Mozart's Figaro, Verdi's "Falstaff," and Goethe's "Faust," and the wonderful Wagnerian performance.

Sue Graves, general chairman of the "Follies," is another indefatigable worker. She has practically given up home and husband for the time being. By the way, Sue has lost that Mona Lisa look since cutting her long black hair. She has acquired a brand new personality, more charming even than the old one.

Mary Lee Milam is one of the league's unsung heroes. She is about her business every day—selling advertisements, preparing the program, and other prosaic work that is without glamour but without which the show simply couldn't go on.

The Hugh Lennons sailed away into the purple glow on their house boat with a gay company on board when they suddenly remembered they had forgotten the steaks they had planned to broil over a fire built on a sand bar later in the evening. The day was not lost however. When they returned home the steaks were retreived and barbecued in the Amos Smelsers' pit. The appetizing odor made every one in the neighborhood hungry for just such a steak, so great juicy ones were trotted out to the Gordon Cummings' last Wednesday night and everyone appeased his appetite.

Long winter nights are just ahead. If you are looking for something unusually interesting to read, borrow a copy of "Soldier of Good Fortune," by a Louisiana girl, Ruth Cross. It is a story of the old French town of Natchitoches, the first white settlement in Louisiana. The curtain of two and a quarter centuries is drawn back and the reader is taken through a maze of events. In the tapestry of events the author, whom some of you no doubt know, has woven an unforgettable group of character studies. They all become living, understandable men and women richly clothed in the local color of their time and race. Miss Myrtle Rodgers, principal of the Georgia Tucker school, has an autographed copy of the book and expresses a desire to have it placed on the high school collateral reading list of this state.

When Johnnie Smith Elbert went abroad last spring she purchased a doll in every country visited. Last week when she addressed club women on the subject of Europe she displayed these colorful figurines wearing their native dress. She also had on display exquisite linens from Brussels and clever little ash trays made of lava from Mt. Vesuvius. She told of a moonlit night on the Isle of Capri and Lake Como and of the grandeur of the snow-capped Alps.

'Sing You Sinners' Comes To Paramount Next Friday

Crosby And MacMurray Co-Starred

Couple Play Together For First Time In Madcap Comedy Picture

HOLLYWOOD'S newest pair of screen brothers are Bing Crosby and Fred MacMurray, who head the cast of the madcap Paramount comedy, "Sing You Sinners," which opens next Friday at the Paramount theater.

Playing together for the first time, Fred is cast as the serious-minded and hard-working member of the tempestuous "Beebe" family, while Bing is his lackadaisical and devil-may-care brother, whose inability to land a job and contribute to the household expenses nearly drives Fred mad. Elizabeth Patterson, as the strong-willed mother who ends up as madcap as her sons, and Donald O'Connor, as the kid brother, complete the "Beebe" family group.

The story, written by Claude Binyon, an ex-newspaperman and author of "I Met Him in Paris" and "True Confession," traces the adventures of the unpredictable "Beebes" from their small town beginnings to their thumping final success in the night clubs and racing paddocks of fabulous Los Angeles. Their rise starts when Bing, believing the home town too small for his talents, leaves for the big city, promising to send for his mother and kid brother as soon as he gets well established.

Bing's dizzy career in Los Angeles parallels the star's own colorful life story. After making an immediate killing at the races, he buys a swap-shop with his winnings. But, by the time Miss Patterson and young O'Connor arrive they find he has traded his business for a racehorse, on which he places everything he and they have in the world. Through the unexpected performance of the horse and the intercession of MacMurray, who organizes his brothers and himself into a night club singing trio, the "Beebes" bring their Los Angeles adventures to a successful, although startling, conclusion.

"Sing You Sinners" is paced by four new song hits from the pens of some of the top composers of Hollywood. Heading the list is "Small Fry," written by Hoagy Carmichael, the composer of the never-to-be-forgotten "Star Dust," in collaboration with Frank Loesser. In the picture this song forms an unusual novelty act, in which Bing portrays a southern grandpappy, MacMurray a grandmammy and O'Connor the "small fry" himself. The other numbers are "I've Got a Pocket Full of Dreams," "Laugh And Call It Love," and "Don't Let That Moon Get Away," by John Burke and James V. Monaco.

"Music hath charms, even for savage minds," runs the old proverb, and this scene from "Sing You Sinners," opening next Friday at the Paramount theater, seems to prove it! When Bing Crosby, Fred MacMurray and Donald O'Connor go into action, Bing's racehorse, "Ligaroti," relaxes in order to get the full benefit of the serenade.

Beatrice Roberts and Victor McLaglen, who play the leading roles in "The Devil's Party," will be seen today and Monday at the Capitol theater.

The navy's biggest spotlights now shine on Martha Raye, Bob Hope and Jack Whiting, who will be seen as the sweetheart of the United States fleet and her two love-struck officers in "Give Me a Sailor," when it opens Monday at the Paramount theater. Also playing a prominent role in this story of sailors high jinx when the fleet's in is beautiful Betty Grable.

DELTA FAIR TO START TUESDAY

A parade through Tallulah to the fairgrounds with the Tallulah High school band and Sons of the American Legion drum and bugle corps, Vicksburg Sons of the American Legion drum and bugle corps, Mississippi state champions and third place winners in the national convention in Los Angeles, and St. Aloysius High school band of Vicksburg participating, will be a feature.

"Ladies in Distress" with a grand old team, Allison Skipworth and Polly Moran. It plays Tuesday only at the Capitol theater.

"Alexander's Ragtime Band" returns to the Paramount theater Wednesday and Thursday, Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Don Ameche take the leading roles.

Richard Dix, as mystery man, goes sleuthing in "Blind Alibi," with beautiful Whitney Bourne, playing Thursday at the Capitol theater.

McLaglen In Film Now At Capitol

'The Devil's Party' Portrays Marty Malone, Stormy-Hearted Irishman

VICTOR McLaglen turns in one of the best jobs of acting in his long and notable screen career in "The Devil's Party," which opens its stay at the Capitol theater today.

There are moments when his portrait of Marty Malone, the big stormy hearted Irishman who strays from the straight and narrow path and redeems himself by a great sacrifice, approaches his screen picture of that other embattled Celt, Gypo Nolan, in "The Informer." There are pathos, savage aggressiveness, reckless heroism and passages of rich humor as the brawny Victor, fights, loves and loses and sweeps on to his dramatic fate in a climax scene of tremendous power.

Though McLaglen's portrait of Marty is the highlight of the film it is not just a solo triumph. In "The Devil's Party," Universal has produced a picture of shattering dramatic impact, with one of the warmest, most human stories to reach the screen in months. It tells of a gang of five kids from New York's Hell's Kitchen who grow up to positions of power in the city. One of them becomes a priest. Two join the police force. Marty after taking a reformatory rap for his pals as a kid, becomes a night club operator and the girl of the gang sings in his floor show. Gradually all five become enmeshed in a web of terrible danger till the explosive denouement blows things wide open.

The leading feminine part in the picture is played by Beatrice Roberts, a beautiful newcomer to films. As the girl McLaglen loves and loses, she is splendid. Paul Kelly is sincere as the priest. William Gargan and John Gallaudet portray the two policemen in the old gang with an appealing directness. Frank Jenks, one of the favorite comics of this department, is very funny and so is the moon-faced Dave Oliver. The whole supporting cast, including several child players carry their roles expertly.

Special mention must be made of Author Borden Chase, Screen Adapter Roy Chanslor and Director Ray McCarey, who combined to make "The Devil's Party" one of the season's treats.

Here's the trio voted the most popular western stars in a nationwide poll conducted by a movie trade paper. Russell Hayden, William Boyd and George Hayes come to the screen of the Capitol theater next Friday and Saturday in the latest "Hoppy" film, "In Old Mexico."

RODEO, LIVESTOCK SHOW TO BE HELD AT BATON ROUGE

The second annual world's champion rodeo and Louisiana livestock show will be held in the agricultural center on the Louisiana State university campus November 9-13, according to an announcement Friday by David L. Bornman, Jr., parish agricultural agent.

The dates were set at a board of directors meeting held last week at which Governor Richard W. Leche presided, the agent said.

"The rodeo and livestock show will be held after all of the fairs in Louisiana have been completed, and it is the plan of the board of directors to bring to Baton Rouge all of the livestock that has made a creditable showing at any of the fairs in the state," Mr. Bornman said. "Competition in the livestock exhibits will be open only to Louisiana owners. A total of $7,450 will be offered in prizes in the livestock competition and the show will be the biggest all-Louisiana event ever held."

Classes in horses, mules and sheep will be added to last year's premium list, to provide an opportunity for owners of all types of livestock in the state to exhibit their stock in competition with the best. The premium list is being printed now.

Ten performances of the world champion rodeo will be presented during the five days. A limited amount of exhibit space in the agricultural center will be offered to commercial concerns. An office to house the management of the rodeo and show has been opened in the agricultural center, and inquiries should be sent to the office there.

Minus the South seas sarong which she has made a household word, Dorothy Lamour returns to the screen in Arctic garb, opposite George Raft, in "Spawn of the North," Paramount's saga of Alaska, which plays today for the last times at the Paramount theater.

181 PLACED IN PRIVATE WORK

September This Year Exceeds Record Established In Same Month Last Year

Private employers hired 181 applicants referred to them during September by the Monroe unit of the Louisiana state employment service, according to a report rendered by R. E. Young, division manager. This number is said to represent a slight increase over the number of placements made during September, 1937.

Employers needing workers of any type are urged to use the facilities of the Louisiana state employment service, 230 South Grand street. This service is free of charge whether to the applicant or to the employer, as it is an agency operated by funds contributed jointly by the federal and state governments. It is a permanent service, created to deal solely with the employment problem and should not be confused with temporary relief agencies.

The Monroe office is divided into three divisions: (1) the professional and commercial division handles the applicants qualified as accountants, bookkeepers, stenographers, teachers, sales people and others in similar lines; (2) the industrial division handles the applications of carpenters, painters, electricians, brick masons, mechanics of all kinds, operators of equipment such as trucks and tractors, and unskilled or common laborers, and (3) the domestic and personal service division handling bellboys, dishwashers, porters, waitresses, cooks, maids, nurses, washerwomen, chauffeurs, yard workers, in fact all classes of workers who are needed in homes.

The service covers every conceivable group of occupations normally found in this community. To find the best available workers in the shortest possible time, employers are advised by Mr. Young to visit the offices here.

Sunday school begins today a new year's work. The new superintendent, Talmage Gable, will call the Bible school to order at 9:45 a.m. After one hour's study the preaching service will begin.

The Baptist Training union will begin at 6:30 p.m., instead of the former hour 6:45 p.m. Splendid programs are arranged for all groups; we welcome all ages to these meetings.

A splendid program of gospel music is arranged for all services and the pastor has a helpful message for all who will come for worship. Central welcomes all this great commonwealth of our district to be with us in all the services of the day. The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the close of the evening worship.

The order of W. M. U. meetings for the week are as follows: W. M. U. 2:30 p.m.; Sunbeams, 2:30; Intermediate G. A., 4:15 Mondays; Junior G. A., 4 p.m.; Junior R. A., 4 p.m. Wednesdays.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Grammont and St. John Streets
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
D. C. Black, Pastor's Associate

So many have been asking questions about conditions in Europe the pastor has decided to bring a message Sunday morning at 11 o'clock on "The European Situation in the Light of the Scriptures." All are urged to carefully read chapters 38 and 39 of the prophecy of Ezekiel and come Sunday morning to hear the pastor's timely message. We had a wonderful day last Sunday in every way, and we are praying for an even greater day next Sunday. Our new Sunday school superintendent, E. H. Miller, is getting things lined up in a fine way for the best year in that department of our work.

The work continues on the building. Further progress depends on the offerings our people and friends make.

Each night next week, beginning at 7 o'clock, the pastor will give a preview study of the Ten Commandments which will be the basis of Sunday school study for this quarter. All our teachers and officers are urged to be present. Others, including teachers from other churches, are invited.

At the evening hour, the pastor will speak on the fourth commandment, "The Right Kind of Children of the Right Kind of Parents." Special music has been prepared by Mr. Black and the choir. The B. T. U. and Brotherhood meet at 6:15. Come praying for a great day clear through to the final "Amen."

GRACE CHURCH
Corner Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Services for the 16th Sunday after Trinity are as follows: The Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a.m., church school at 9:30 a.m., choral celebration and sermon at 10:45 a.m.

Evensong and sermon at St. David's, Rayville, at 4 p.m. Meditation: taken from 1st St. John, 3rd chapter, verse 24: "And hereby we know that He abideth in us, by the Spirit which He gave us." It often seems we live in a world of opposing levels: spirit and ideas; actions and things. However, if we look at the position of man in relation to that scheme, we see that he is the connecting link. Each realm exists to benefit the other, and when we understand this, we can see the world as God sees it, a unit. The unity of life is more correctly understood when people incorporate into their life activity, the ideas they formulated in their communion with the realm of spirit.

A woman was talking to a little boy and said to him, "Who are the saints?" He, remembering the stained glass windows in his own church, replied, "Saints are the people who let the light shine through."

Church is open daily. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Art thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine Holy One? Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity." (Hab. 1.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God, Spirit, alone created all, and called it good. Therefore evil, being contrary to good, is unreal, and cannot be the product of God."

DOOMED TO DIE!

BETRAYED BY FANG CHU-FANG, TARZAN FELL SWIFTLY INTO THE HANDS OF THE ENEMY.

HIS MEN CHARGED IN TO HELP HIM, BUT THE SAVAGES BEAT THEM BACK.

WITHOUT HIS SKILFUL LEADERSHIP, TARZAN REALIZED, HIS TROOPS WOULD BE SLAUGHTERED.

"RUN!" HE SHOUTED; "YOU CANNOT SAVE ME. SAVE YOURSELVES!" AND SO HIS ARMY FLED.

THEN, WITH TARZAN A PRISONER, HIYEDO, THE BARBARIAN CONQUEROR, MARCHED ON UNOPPOSED.

WHEN THE APE-MAN'S SHATTERED FORCES REACHED THE CAPITAL, THE CITY WAS SEIZED WITH PANIC.

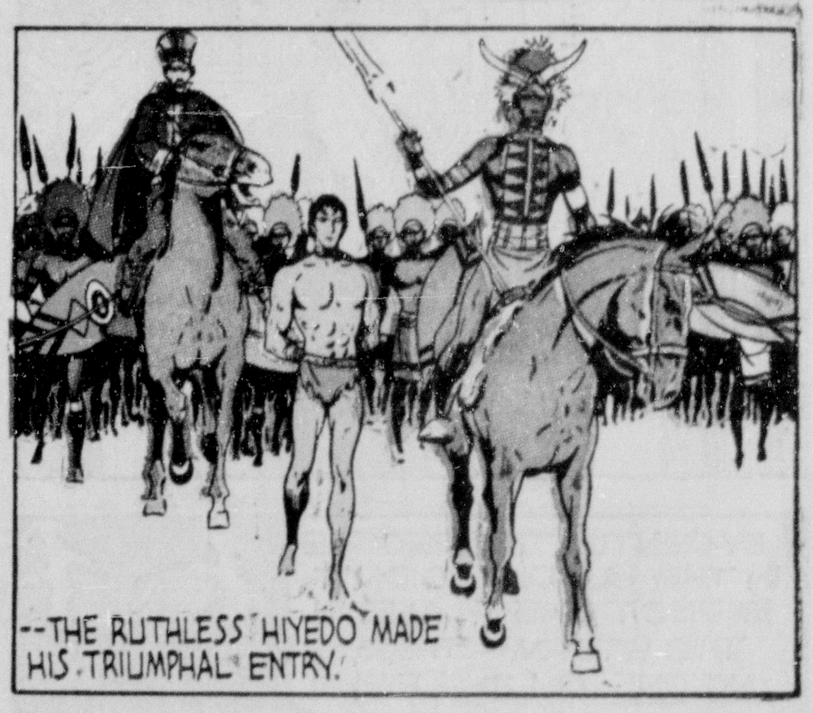

SUN TAI FLED TO THE HINTERLAND WITH HIS COURT AND THE REMNANT OF HIS ARMY.

BUT THE PEOPLE, ATTACHED TO THEIR HOMES, REMAINED, WHILE-------

--THE RUTHLESS HIYEDO MADE HIS TRIUMPHAL ENTRY.

THE BARBARIAN CHIEF DESIRED TO SHOW WHAT HAPPENED TO THOSE WHO OPPOSED HIM.

NEXT WEEK: A HUMAN TARGET!

SO HE COMMANDED THAT TARZAN BE TAKEN TO THE GREAT PLAZA, WHERE A SQUAD OF SAVAGES RANGED THEMSELVES BEFORE HIM, TO HURL THEIR SPEARS UNTIL THE APE-MAN DROPPED.

WHAT GETS ME, PAT, IS THE FACT THAT NO ONE COMES TO, OR LEAVES THE PLACE, EXCEPT BY PLANE - AND AT THAT WE HAVE SEEN BUT TWO PERSONS IN A WEEK.

AND THERE MUST BE A FORCE OF MEN IN THERE. THE CHIMNEYS ARE SMOKING, LIGHTS SHOW FROM THE WINDOWS.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE WHOLE THING REMINDS ME OF A PRISON! - MEN HELD IN CAPTIVITY!

SAY, THERE'S GOING TO BE THE DICKENS TO PAY SOON. A NASTY STORM IS BREAKING.

YES - WE MUST GET BACK TO TOWN BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE - SAY! WHAT'S THAT?

LOOK! A PLANE'S COMING IN TO LAND ON THEIR FIELD!

IN SPITE OF THE STORM - LET'S GET CLOSER TO THAT FIELD AND WATCH.

MEANWHILE LET US LOOK WITHIN THE WALLS OF THE HUGE BUILDING.

YES, SHE TRIED TO KILL ME - BUT SHE FAILED! SHE WAS JEALOUS. JEALOUS OF THAT BLONDE BOVANIAN AGENT I'VE BEEN DEALING WITH LATELY.

BUT, KARPSE, SHE EVEN THREATENED TO TIP OFF THE AUTHORITIES TO OUR WHOLE SET UP!

SHE WOULDN'T DARE! NEVER! NEVER!

TOO MANY GOVERMENTS ARE LOOKING FOR HER SCALP! TO TURN US IN WOULD BE TO END HER OWN CAREER - AND SHE KNOWS IT. SHE'LL BE BACK TO ME ON HER KNEES. WATCH AND SEE.

SAY! WHAT WAS THAT? IS 32 FLYING IN TONIGHT?

NOT WITH THIS STORM ON! HE'D BE A FOOL. THAT NOISE IS THUNDER.

IT'S A TRANSPORT PLANE, PAT, AND IT SEEMS TO BE HEAVILY LOADED!

DICK, HE'S HAVING A HARD TIME! MAYBE THE STORM-

GREAT CAESAR! HE'S GOING TO CRACK UP!

Mobilization Of Fleet Credited With Influencing Hitler

LONDON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Great Britain's navy head, Conservative Alfred Duff Cooper, told the prime minister in his letter of resignation: "I profoundly distrust the foreign policy which the present government is pursuing and seems likely to pursue in the future."

The bluntly-worded resignation of Britain's mighty fleet at the crucial moment by Duff Cooper was reliably stated to have had more effect on the war-intent Hitler than Chamberlain's peace flights.

The resignation followed an unusually frank speech by a pro-French member of the government bloc, Harold Nicolson, a national labor member of parliament.

He declared in a bitter attack upon the Chamberlain policy that "I still

SMITH DEMANDS COTTON AID HIKE

Thinks Farm Program Will Be Jeopardized Unless Loan Raised

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, an intended victim of President Roosevelt's party purge, warned Secretary Wallace tonight that the administration's farm program would be "seriously jeopardized" unless the government met demands for more cotton aid.

Speaking for half-a-dozen senators and others who attended a conference at the capitol, he wrote Wallace after lesser agriculture department officials had refused the group's demands.

During the conference he stormed at Harry Brown, assistant secretary of agriculture, and Jesse W. Tapp, agricultural adjustment administrator.

"We aren't going to solve this by standing around and raising our eyebrows," Smith said. "We are up against the American farmer."

"I hope you don't think the department of agriculture is against the farmer," Brown interjected.

"I sometimes do," the senator shot back.

He demanded in his letter to Wallace that the present government loan on the 1938 cotton crop be increased from 8.3 cents a pound to more than 11 cents, or that cotton growers be offered an additional government subsidy payment of three cents a pound.

Brown, representing Wallace, who was out of the city, told the conference the cotton loan rate had been fixed at 8.3 cents "because in the long run the department of agriculture felt that would be better for the farmers themselves as well as the government."

He said the government already held 7,000,000 bales of cotton under loans and that a high loan rate would cause more cotton to be diverted from trade channels into government holdings.

Brown told the southern senators a loan rate of 8.3 cents a pound on cotton was comparable to the rate of government loans on this year's wheat crop.

There was no indication that any change was contemplated in the wheat loan rate, but during the day the agriculture department announced that wheat growers would be permitted to withdraw high protein wheat and high quality durum wheat from storage under loans for sale at premiums, if the loan wheat were replaced by wheat of the same general grade.

Smith, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, announced he would call his committee together in December to work out "a real farm program" for presentation to the new congress in January.

Burke, Nebraska, And Lewis, Illinois, Propose Plan Simultaneously

Trade Treaties Fostered By Secretary Of State Hull Praised

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Two Democratic senators—Burke of Nebraska and Lewis of Illinois—proposed simultaneously tonight that President Roosevelt summon international conferences to effect a lasting European peace.

Burke, a critic of some administration measures, just returned from a European tour, said the president was the logical man to call a badly needed world economic conference.

Lewis, an administration supporter, declared the time had come when Mr. Roosevelt should summon all parties to the treaty of Versailles to meet in this country and survey what that treaty had produced "in discontent, revolt and war."

"Then," added Lewis in a formal statement to the press, "a just disposition of the colonies can be made in a calm atmosphere in the United States, under our direction—as we do not look for resentments and seek no rewards. We only seek a world peace."

Both proposals were advanced a short time before President Roosevelt's scheduled departure for Hyde Park, N. Y., a departure which indi-

Several Amendments To Compensation Regulations Become Effective

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Many questions concerning Louisiana's unemployment compensation law, as amended by the legislature during the past summer, have been presented at the state department of labor offices. Some of the amendments became effective July 27, others became effective today. The Associated Press herewith presents some of the questions most often asked regarding the new provisions and the answers made available by the department of labor.)

By Normal Walker

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Which employers hitherto unaffected by the unemployment law will now be covered?

Until today, only employers of eight or more employes have been subject Now most employers who have had four or more employes working for them 20 weeks in 1938 and 12 or more employes working for them 10 weeks will become subject.

Must the weeks be consecutive?

No. If in the 52 weeks of 1938 the employer has had employed four or more persons within 20 different weeks or 12 or more persons within 10 different weeks, he will become subject.

Does the four or more or 12 or more refer to different jobs or do two individuals filling the same jobs dur-

Infant Chimp Is Taken From Wrong Mother

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—(AP)—They slipped the baby chimp the bottle and the baby took a deep slug and fell asleep. It made everybody happy.

It was the first meal for the little chimpanzee since its birth four days ago in the Audubon park zoo. One minute after its birth, Mrs. Luizette, a childless lady chimp, snatched the infant from the floor where its mother, Mrs. Coco, a slouch if ever there was one, dropped it.

Mrs. Coco's husband, Pete, the puddin' head chimp, made her drop it by banging her against the cage.

From then on Mrs. Luizette, who three years ago gave birth to a baby that died, held Mrs. Coco's offspring in her tender grip. Mrs. Coco didn't mind. And Papa Pete went back to cracking nuts and grimacing.

But everybody else cared, particularly Frank Neelis, superintendent of the zoo. The keepers poked Mrs.

VIENNA SCHOOL BUILDING BURNS

Plans Made For Pupils To Continue Studies In Churches

VIENNA, La., Oct. 1.—(Special)—The Vienna school in Lincoln parish was destroyed by fire here last night. The origin of the fire, which broke out about 9 o'clock in the frame building, was not determined.

According to reports here, work toward rebuilding the school will start next week, probably Monday. The destroyed school was partly covered by insurance.

PUPILS TO CONTINUE STUDIES IN CHURCHES

RUSTON, La., Oct. 1.—(Special)—About 60 pupils who attended the grade school building which burned at Vienna Friday night will continue their studies in churches of the community, pending replacement of the destroyed structure, it was announced here by H. L. Campbell, Lincoln parish superintendent of schools.

The fire is believed to have resulted from defective wiring in the attic, since the blaze was first noticed coming from the roof, Superintendent Campbell said. The burned building was the larger of two buildings located near each other at Vienna. An insurance policy for about $2,700 partly covered the loss, it was reported.

The razed structure was a three-room frame building, attended by pupils from the first through the seventh grade.

Mr. Campbell said that the replacing of the wooden building with a brick edifice would be considered as an emergency and that the re-building would be started as soon as possible. The matter will be taken up by the members of the parish school board at their regular monthly meeting Monday, the superintendent announced.

MAN KILLED BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

John William Green, Living West Of Oak Grove, Victim

OAK GROVE, La., Oct. 1.—(Special)—Struck by a hit-and-run automobile, John William Green, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Green, living 14 miles west of Oak Grove, was fatally injured about 7:30 o'clock tonight. The accident occurred near Green school, five miles west of Oak Grove.

Green, whose skull was crushed, was picked up by a passing motorist and taken to Oak Grove, where he received medical treatment. He was then taken to a Delhi clinic, but died about 10 minutes after reaching that place.

An examination of the pavement at the scene of the accident showed tire skid marks for a distance of about 40 feet. Officers had not yet learned the identity of the driver of the death car.

CONRAD KOLB DIES

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Conrad Kolb, 64, owner of the famous restaurant here which bears his name, died last night. He came here from Bavaria, Germany, at the age of 15, worked in a restaurant for a time for $1 a week and in 1899 bought a restaurant on the site of his present one and enlarged and improved it through the years.

48 GHOSTS RIDE THIS AUTOMOBILE

Ben Preston, of Oklahoma City, an old Texas Ranger, doesn't like the way automobiles are built. So piece by piece he put one together to suit himself.

The result is a car that will go 100 miles an hour—and whose parts were involved in the deaths of 48 people.

In 1935 Preston acquired the motor and chassis of a machine that had been crushed by a load of falling pipe. That started him on his hobby of collecting parts from cars in which people were killed.

All over the country people began to hear about Preston and sent him automobile parts.

To qualify now for a place in the Preston ensemble, an automobile part has to have at least three, preferably more deaths, connected with it. If he adds new parts they must replace ones that came from multiple death cars.

A Texas officer recently sent Preston a tap from the car in which the southwestern desperado, Clyde Barrow and his Bonnie Parker were shot to death, but Preston hasn't yet found a place for it.

The left fender was the only part that remained intact after a train-car race near Valley Center, Kans. Five persons in a sedan were killed.

Its hood came from a car in which a jealous wife discovered her husband with another woman. She shot them and then tore up the car with a hammer.

A government car involved in the Kansas City Union station "massacre" supplied the steering wheel.

So it goes—death rode with almost every part.

The mongrel car almost added two more to the death list. Preston drove it into a ditch near Guthrie at 70 miles an hour. He came out with a fractured arm, collar bone and shoulder and five broken ribs. A hitch-hiker was tossed through a fence but lived.

Preston says he is "attached" to the death car—keeps and drives it as "sort of a good luck token."

REA HELPS MANY GET ELECTRICITY

3,864 Farm Homes In Louisiana Expected To Be Given Power

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Rural Electrification administration has provided the funds for power projects designed to serve 3,864 farm homes in Louisiana.

The five projects, for which the REA made loans totaling $1,159,600, will cover approximately 1,043 miles of the state's rural territory.

Projects under construction or completed:

Teche Electric Membership corporation, Franklin, will operate in St. Mary and Iberia parishes. The loan was $102,000 for 113.5 miles of line to serve 350 homes.

Valley Electric Membership corporation, Natchitoches, will serve 750 customers with 216 miles of line in Grant, Rapides, Red River, Winn, Natchitoches, Avoyelles, Vernon and Sabine parishes. The loan was $390,000.

Southwest Louisiana Electric Membership corporation, Lafayette, borrowed $420,000 for 485.5 miles of line to serve 1,700 homes in Lafayette, Acadia, St. Martin and St. Landry parishes.

A loan contract has been issued for $15,000 for wiring facilities in 250 homes served by the Southwest Louisiana Electric Membership corporation.

Allotments approved and waiting for loan contracts:

Washington-St. Tammany Rural Electric Membership corporation, Franklinton, will serve 356 customers with 115 miles of line in Washington, St. Tammany and Tangipahoa parishes. The allotment is $102,000.

A $20,000 loan has been approved for wiring needed by 58 customers of the Valley Electric Membership corporation.

South Louisiana Electric Cooperative association, Gibson, will construct 113 miles of line to serve 400 customers in Terrebonne, LaFourche and Assumption parishes. The allotment is $110,600.

JAP TRANSPORTS BRING NEW TROOPS

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Reports of troop-laden Japanese transports off Shanghai and Tsingtao tonight revived speculation that Japan would launch a south China campaign centering on Canton.

Incoming steamers from Tsingtao, Shantung province port, estimated 20 transports were off Tsingtao and 35 more off Shanghai.

It was estimated there were 35,000 soldiers on the transports.

(New emergency regulations were announced in Hongkong while Canton officials said that the Pearl river may soon be closed by a boom.)

Japanese forces fighting in the Yangtze valley in the drive toward Hankow reported they had captured Hsiangshan, 90 miles downstream from the Chinese military capital.

HISTORIC CHURCH DESTROYED BY FIRE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Historic Christ church, mother church of the Arkansas Episcopal diocese, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin early today.

Located in the heart of downtown Little Rock, the gothic-type structure valued at $150,000, was reduced to ruin.

Dr. W. P. Witsell, rector, announced a new edifice would be erected on the site.

Harris To Talk Of Proposed Building Programs With Presidents

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Plans for the allotment by the state board of education of the $6,000,000 fund for buildings and improvements at the colleges and schools under the control of the board will be discussed Monday by State Superintendent T. H. Harris and the presidents of the institutions.

Applications have been made to the public works administration for federal aid on all of the building projects which are tentatively planned, Harris said, but added that such plans were only tentative and that some of the projects approved will not be carried out unless state funds are available.

"I suggest that you come to the conference in the frame of mind to be very definitely assured that your allotment will fall far below the figures that you have been luxuriating in for some time," the state superin-

FAIR WILL OPEN GATES TUESDAY

Greatest Exhibition In History Of Ouachita Parish Predicted

The Ouachita Valley fair's gates will swing open for the admission of the public Tuesday at 6 p.m., when the largest and best exhibition ever held by the association will be on display. Thousands of persons are expected to visit the exposition building and inspect the displays of varied nature, as well as the livestock and poultry exhibits. While the formal opening is set for Tuesday, Gladway attractions will be open on Monday night.

With the fair but two days distant, indications were that only favorable weather conditions are necessary to produce the largest attendance that has ever been admitted to any fair in Ouachita parish. This is based on interest already shown and in the unusually extensive advertising that has been given. Each of the several Chamber of Commerce trips made recently through the Monroe and West Monroe trade area has served to advertise the coming show and it is expected that all northeast Louisiana will be exceptionally well represented here.

The Snapps Midway attractions will be in full blast in the operations Monday night when admission to the fair grounds will be without charge at that time, stated John Birdsong, fair manager. On Tuesday night and on through the continuance of the fair, through Saturday, the admission will be a dime.

A total of 352 first premiums are offered exhibitors and an equal number of second prizes are to be given, together with a large number of third prizes. A number of special premiums are also announced.

Mr. Birdsong stated that entries will

POLAND MAKING READY TO TAKE OVER HER SLICE

Alfred Duff Cooper Resigns His Cabinet Position In Protest

(By Associated Press)

Gray-clad German legions began a bloodless conquest of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland yesterday (Saturday)—

Poland made ready to take over her slice of the dwindling republic—

In Washington two Democratic senators proposed that President Roosevelt call an international peace conference—

And a troubled Europe, calculating the enormous cost of its latest war scare, wondered what the future held.

Out of the upheaval of the past few weeks Germany, who came through with most of her demands met, foresees an eventual understanding with France, the return of colonies, fulfillment of her long cherished dream of economic penetration of the Balkans.

Britain, despite the double-barrelled fruits of the Munich conference—partition of Czechoslovakia and the Hitler-Chamberlain declaration for peace—figures she will have to pay dearly for lasting peace.

It already has cost her a cabinet resignation—Alfred Duff Cooper, first lord of the admiralty, quit yesterday in "distrust" of Prime Minister Chamberlain's new foreign policy.

France sees Soviet Russia on the outside looking in on Europe's councils and the possibility she herself might be dominated by Britain in a future four-power rule—by Britain, France, Italy and Germany.

Soviet Russia sees the will of the masses trodden and Poland the "next victim" of partition.

To Fascist Italy, the continent's next problem child is Spain and her war upon which hangs the question of making operative the Anglo-Italian Easter accord and resumption of friendly relations with France.

These glances into the future, however, were overshadowed for the moment by the actual accomplish-

PRAGUE BECOMES CITY OF GLOOM

Czechs Suddenly Lose Militant Fervor As Lopping Off Begins

PRAGUE, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The capital of the Czechs and the Slovaks suddenly lost all militant fervor today as the nation began lopping off frontier zones on the north, the south and the west. It was a city of gloom and depression.

Czechoslovak troops begun evacuation of Teschen after the government "took this painful decision" to yield to Poland's ultimatum for immediate cession of part of that northern border zone, rich in coal and minerals and the home of a Polish minority of 100,000.

This decision was taken even while Czechoslovakia was fulfilling her reluctant promise to the four powers represented at Munich by withdrawing her proud fighting men from the area of Krumau, "zone No. 1," on the southwest, before Germany's steel-helmeted soldiers who began their appointed occupation today.

In Egerland, westernmost tip of the Sudetenland rim, Czechoslovak troops and police also began their peaceful retreat and left that hot spot of Sudeten German agitation in the days of minority dispute in the hands of a hastily organized Sudeten local government.

Under the Munich accord the Czechoslovaks were not obliged to withdraw from that zone, largest of those ceded to Adolf Hitler, until Wednesday.

The official communique explaining the cession of Teschen said the cabinet after detailed deliberations, was "constrained by circumstances resulting from the decision at Munich" to accept Poland's ultimatum of September 30.

"The government took this painful decision in full accord with responsible persons of the political parties," the communique added. "It took it conscious of the fact that any other decision would have provoked new and painful complications."

While the evacuation of the Sudetenland proceeded in orderly fashion, Prague was quiet after angry demonstrations against what was called the "crown of thorns" she has been forced to accept.

Air raid precautions were called off.

HUSBAND TELLS OF MERCY DEATH

Describes How He Took Life Of Wife Suffering From Cancer

HEWLETT, N. Y., Oct. 1.—(AP)—In mumbled phrases, Harry Johnson, 65, a retired oyster dealer, tonight told Nassau county authorities the story of a "mercy death" that ended the suffering of his cancer-afflicted wife.

Before he was booked on a first-degree murder charge, the gray-haired husband poured out details of the soul-trying ordeal.

". . . Getting rapidly worse. . . . Unbearable agony for weeks and months. . . . She begged me to do it. . . . Begged me over and over again. . . . She knew what I was doing. . . . Her eyes were happy at the last, and she smiled . . ."

So Detective Inspector Harold King quoted Johnson as saying in oral and written statements after his voluntary surrender to police.

The victim, Mrs. Jennie A. Johnson, 67, was found dead in a blanket-sealed bedroom on the second floor of their three-story brick home. A 150-foot length of garden hose attached to a gas main in the cellar had carried lethal fumes to the improvised death chamber.

The couple, known to neighbors and friends as unusually devoted, had been married 40 years.

Inspector King quoted Johnson as saying that his wife had undergone a stomach cancer operation about two

J. LESTER WHITE ON WAY BACK HOME

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—J. Lester White, chairman of the Louisiana state planning commission, here since September 27 in connection with public works allotments for his state, left for home tonight.

He said conferences with Howard A. Gray, assistant PWA administrator, and Colonel E. W. Clark, executive assistant, had been highly satisfactory.

Reviewing the status of Louisiana applications, White recalled that the state had 44 ready for allotments at the beginning of the present program in June this year. Of these, he said, 36 received funds, seven were withdrawn by sponsors and one remained without allocation.

Since June 4, he recalled, 297 new applications had been filed up to the September 30 deadline. They represented construction costs of $85,131,769. The state, he said, had received 151 allotments totaling $28,590,600, leaving 182 applications amounting to $41,541,169.

Mayor Urges Public To Aid Civic Music Member Drive

Mayor Harvey H. Benoit, in a proclamation issued Saturday, called on the people of Monroe to lend their active cooperation in making the annual membership campaign of the Civic Music association, which begins Monday, a complete success. The mayor urged all citizens, to the extent of their ability, to "do their part in sustaining an enterprise that contributes so much to the enjoyment and well-being of our people at large."

Mayor Benoit was originally scheduled as one of the speakers at the banquet Monday night at the Virginia hotel, when the annual membership drive will be launched, but he will be unable to attend because of an out-of-town engagement. Commissioner of Finance and Public Utilities William Rodriguez will speak in his place. The mayor's proclamation follows:

"Whereas, the Monroe Civic Music association begins its annual 'Membership Week' Monday, October 3; and

"Whereas, this organization is engaged in worthwhile activities in promoting the cultural life of Monroe and adjoining communities of this section, by bringing musical talent of national and world-wide reputation to this city during the winter season; and

"Whereas, such efforts are to be highly commended and encouraged for their uplifting effect on the life of our people and for the contribution made to their enjoyment of the best in musical concerts; and

"Whereas, it is highly important that these efforts shall have the utmost encouragement in accomplishing its purposes,

"Now, therefore, I, Harvey H. Benoit, mayor of Monroe, do hereby urge that our citizens lend every aid in making this 'Civic Association

Next Objectives Of Hitler Apparently Easy To Achieve

By Louis P. Lochner
(Associated Press Foreign Writer)

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—(AP)—An eventual German understanding with France, colonies from whoever can be persuaded to cede them, a commercial treaty with the United States, economic penetration of the Balkans—

All these are the next objectives of German foreign policy unless all signs mislead.

With these objectives reached the world would be dominated by five major groups:

1. The Rome-Berlin axis.
2. The Anglo-French alliance.
3. The Soviet union.
4. Japan.
5. The United States, with her Latin American sisters.

The Hitler-Chamberlain declaration of peace yesterday resolving on consultation "to deal with any other questions that may concern our two countries" caused just as great joy in Germany as did the four-power agreement for cutting off Sudetenland from Czechoslovakia.

Prime Minister Chamberlain now is rated here as in a class with Premier Mussolini as a friend of Germany.

With the Hitler-Chamberlain declaration as a precedent, official hopes ran high for achievement of a similar understanding at an early date with Premier Daladier.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler from the beginning of his regime left no doubt of his dominant desire to come to an amicable arrangement with the British government.

He also began to make advances to France.

In his speech September 12 closing Nazi party congress at Nurnberg he once more held out an olive branch to the French by reiterating Germany's renunciation of all claims upon Alsace-Lorraine.

He followed this bid with his solemn

Following this address, members entered into a discussion of some of the salient points brought out in the talk.

Entertainment features comprised a piano solo by Miss Mary Jo Watson; dance number by Nettie Jean Williams, a song and dance number by Miss Beverly Martin, accompanied by Mrs. B. B. Martin.

SPAGHETTI SUPPER TICKETS ON SALE; DATE SET OCT. 12

"We can promise our friends who patronize the spaghetti supper to be given by St. Francis auxiliary on October 12 that they will get the finest supper ever prepared since the auxiliary undertook to sponsor these annual spaghetti suppers," Mrs. Ted Mahr, president of the auxiliary, stated yesterday in announcing that arrangements have been completed and tickets are now on sale for the supper.

"The annual spaghetti supper sponsored by St. Francis auxiliary this year will be held from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the auditorium of St. Francis sanitarium and we hope that it will be as successful, if not more so, than the supper which was given last year and which netted a good sum," Mrs. Mahr said.

"Members of St. Francis auxiliary will cook and serve the spaghetti supper and plans have been made to serve several hundred perons.

"The funds derived from the annual spaghetti supper are used for the upkeep of the children's ward at St. Francis sanitarium," Mrs. Mahr explained. "The ward is a free ward and is open at all times for the reception of children whose parents are unable to pay for hospitalization. It is one of the most worthy causes sponsored by a welfare organization and the members of the auxiliary look to their many friends to assist the work by patronizing the annual spaghetti supper which is one of the few means at the auxiliary's disposal to raise funds for the children's ward."

Tickets for the spaghetti supper are now on sale and cost 35 cents. The chairman of the ticket sales committee is Mrs. A. J. Sullivan, 4111 DeSiard street, and those desiring to make reservations can do so by communicating with Mrs. Sullivan.

RURAL LABOR IS BEING RELEASED

Action By WPA State Administrator Taken To Aid In Harvesting

The Works Progress administration during the past week continued to release rural workers in the cotton and cane sections of the state so that they can aid in the work of harvesting. Several thousand workers were temporarily dropped from the WPA rolls to satisfy the growing demands for laborers in the fields, it was reported.

"This is in keeping with our policy to release rural workers for farm labor," stated James H. Crutcher, state administrator. "We are making no new assignments in certain rural sections of Louisiana where the harvesting of cotton and cane is now in progress, and it is useless for agricultural workers to apply for assistance until after the harvest is ended.

"A person who is really in need can now get work in the fields.

"On the other hand, employers of farm labor who are in need of workers have only to communicate with the Louisiana state employment service. We will continue to release farm workers and will close down projects if so required to supply labor for the farms. It is not the intention of the Works Progress administration to create a labor shortage in rural sections of Louisiana," Mr. Crutcher said.

'BELLAMY TRIAL' CAST ANNOUNCED

Former Players, Several New Ones, Slated By Little Theater

The first scheduled Little Theater production of the season is now moving into its final week of rehearsal, and will be presented on the evenings of October 12, 13 and 14 in the criminal district courtroom of the Ouachita Parish courthouse as the perfect setting for "The Bellamy Trial." The cast numbers some 20 players, many of whom are well known to the membership through their past dramatic activities, together with many others who are making their first appearances in Monroe. The decision to present the play on three consecutive evenings was based upon the advance interest created by the announcement that "The Bellamy Trial" would be shown and the heavy sales of Little Theater tickets during the past month. The membership list will be closed on the evening of October 12.

The highly ingenious plot is certain to be appreciated by local audiences. Stephen Bellamy and Susan Ives are accused of the murder of Margot Bellamy, whose body was found in the gardener's cottage on the Thorne estate with a knife wound in the heart. The story is told by a parade of witnesses, each of whom adds his knowledge to the web of enmeshing guilt which the district attorney seeks to build about the two defendants. The defense attorney is most clever in his presentation of the case, and each new witness scatters suspicion liberally as the trial moves at a brisk pace to a most disturbing climax.

The production of the play has been under Thomas W. Davenport, with Mrs. R. O. Ware acting as director. The cast includes such seasoned performers as Dan Armand Breard, Mrs. Guy Corley, Eugene Daspit and Eula Davenport, while Elliott Thompson, Joe Kern, Brunswig Sholars, Stanley Reid and Eugene Booth are playing major roles. Howard Willard, Marvyn Johnson and L. M. Norton, formerly appearing in workshop once-act plays, are playing in their first major production. Robert M. Breard, Jr., Mrs. Earl Speights, Mrs. Clyde Blanchard and Irene Reid are making their first appearance as Little Theater players.

Automobiles provide jobs for more persons than any other single commodity.

CHAPTER XIII

"Gone?" Linda couldn't believe her ears.

"Yes, ma'am!" Callie spoke with righteous indignation. "You ain't out o' the house good befo' Mr. Sandy calls Norman. They talks, then starts packin' up. Mr. Sandy calls a autovan, they puts the colt in, they climbs in theirselves, an' drives off."

"Where did they go, Callie?"

"Mr. Sandy, he don' say nothin'. But that triflin' Norman, he makes a face at me as they drives off; he waves his cap an' shouts, 'We's off to the Downs, we is.' An' they wuz, too."

"But I thought Norman had got religion; turned against racing—"

Callie sniffed. "They turns against women, Miss Linda. An' that no-count Norman, he owes me a weddin', he do."

Linda leaned against a porch post, laughed till tears came. Uncle Sandy, Norman—for years they had lived without benefit of skirts. Suddenly two women—Linda, Callie—had descended on them. It was too much for old bachelors, content in their misery. Thanks to luck, they had their hands on a colt again. So, in their last years, they were off to the races once more.

"It's all right, Callie; I'll be here a while. And if Golden Toy wins the Jockey Club stakes, I imagine Norman will keep his word—give you that wedding."

"He better, or I skins him alive."

Linda untied Jerry, went into her room. Laid away her clothes. In the long, furious drive home she had worn off much of her sudden loathing of Brown Donald. Now she pitied him—a last-minute version of the gigolo. The lad wanted to have his cake and eat it, too.

She recalled the moments by the tree-lined lake, in the moon's rays. That was high romance; so unlike the scene when Brown Donald turned from her, answered the widow's imperious call.

"Jerry," she looked down at the solemn-visaged Scot, "this love-at-first-sight business, it's no dice—for me. Get that, don't you?" The dog shook a stubby tail tentatively.

She remembered Bruce's warning, Monte's veiled hint at Donald. "Old friends are sometimes best, aren't they, Jerry?" The dog must have agreed; his tail thumped the floor with vigor.

She remembered Bruce Radford's awkward call, as she was leaving Lexington. She'd thought Bruce was trying to get the inner track again. Now she understood. "Good old Bruce," she murmured. He knew Donald's color; had tried to warn her—

"Jerry, your missis sees trouble brewing about the ownership of a Pompey colt. Want to buy half interest?"

Jerry must have believed, with Monte Hill, that women and racing don't mix; for, without a single tail-wag, he got up deliberately, moved under the bed.

"Callie," Linda said at breakfast, "we're going to let 'em stew in their own juices at the Downs for a few weeks."

"Yes, ma'am, we is," Callie agreed with enthusiasm.

"Let them get the colt in racing shape; then we'll pay a surprise visit. In the meanwhile, you run the house while I ride around, gather material—do my writing here."

Already Linda had the beginnings for her two ordered stories on gentlemen steeplechase riders, on women and racing. She would drive to the big breeding farms—some were owned by women—talk with old trainers, jot down anecdotes—

Three days later the storm broke. A letter from Berwyn; Linda sniffed the paper. Ugh! Perfumed! He might have gotten paper of his own. It read:

"Dear Linda:

"I was shocked to see in the newspaper, which our trainer showed me, an article telling about your buying the colt, Golden Toy. I was under the impression that I owned half of him. I still believe so. However, since you are posing—in the press—as being the owner, I'd suggest that you own all of him. Or else sell your half to me.

"We paid eight hundred for him; there are witnesses to that purchase. Now I want to play fair—I'm not trying to hold you up. I'll give you four hundred for your share, or you may have my interest for the same sum.

"Please let me know, by return mail, your decision.

"Sincerely,

Linda's lips curved with contempt. The handwriting of Donald, but the inspiration of the woman called Merle. Inspiration? That was putting it mildly. "Mama spanked all right," she said to herself.

Of course she had to buy his interest, and good riddance it would be. But what was she going to use for money? It didn't grow on trees in the Blue Grass.

"Here's a postal I forget, Miss Linda." Callie gave her the yellow card. Stamped Louisville. Linda recognized Uncle Sandy's scribbled writing. So, he was getting in touch at last. "Fifty-fifty he wants something," she murmured, turning the card over. It read:

"Dear Linda, the colt is shaping up right nice. You know he was in training when we bought him. I breezed him five furlongs this a. m. He did it handily in 1:01—"

Linda whistled to herself. Why, that was only two seconds off the track record. The colt was stepping along.

"Of course, keeping that speed for a mile is something else, but we think we got a right nice colt and I'd thank you to send me $100 right away as feed is mighty high. Your uncle,
"ALEXANDER GORDON."

Linda shook her head with exasperation. That was like Uncle Sandy: to run off with scarcely a shin-plaster in his pocket; not to write, till he was facing the sheriff; then to drop a casual note—

He'd have to have money; maybe not all of the one hundred instantly, but eventually. "M'girl," she spoke to herself, "you've got to dig five hundred, pronto."

She sat in deep thought as Callie tidied the house. Confound this racing game! The romance of it? Bugles blowing—sun gleaming on jockeys' silks—sleek thoroughbreds prancing past the stands—they're off!—oh, bosh! It was just money, money all the time. Monte was right; women and racing—

She straightened. She could get this money from Monte; he'd snap at the chance of buying half interest in the colt. She could get it from Bruce—

She shook her head. No dice. She'd never borrowed from a man yet, and she was through with partnerships. She'd own the colt from tail to nose, or—

She jumped to her feet, went to the phone, put in a long distance call to Mr. Moss in New York. A check was due for the Man o' War yarn—she'd get at least five cents a word for that: about a hundred and seventy-five—maybe more. And she'd ask for an advance against those two ordered stories. She hated to do it, but this was no time to be squeamish.

In three minutes' time she heard his booming voice; "Yes, yes—what is it?"

"It's five hundred dollars, Mr. Moss." Those were her first words.

"What?"

"Sorry, but I must have the money. If my face isn't good, well, I'm sending in two corking good yarns next week—"

"Here, here! We don't make a practice of advances; but"—she heard a chuckle over the wire—"you need it for feed for that oat-burner you bought, don't you?"

"Oat-burner? He's going to be a stake horse—"

"All right! Stake horse, then. No, I won't give you an advance; but—" he paused for an instant; Linda's heart raced quickly as she waited—for ages it seemed. Now he was speaking again—in warm, human tones:

"Here's a little surprise, while we don't give advances, your Man o' War story was so good that we're paying a flat five hundred for it—but you go on salary with the others. Fair enough?"

"Oh!" the exclamation of relief welled up, went over the wires to New York. Linda heard another chuckle: he was playing God to his own satisfaction. She caught herself. Said quickly "It is fair enough, Mr. Moss, if"—she hesitated—"if I get a $25 raise over what you offered me."

"Whoa, there! You sound like a mule-trader!"

"You want my mules, don't you?"

"All right, all right. But get those yarns in—and they better be good."

"One last request," she asked him to transfer the five hundred by telegraph to the bank in Lexington.

The night train from the racing city carried a cashier's check for $400 to Brown Donald, Esq., care of a woman named Merle.

"Callie, the fall race meet has started at the Downs." Linda said at breakfast the next morning. "Would you like to go to Louisville with me?"

"Would I? Yes, ma'am! An' if I sees that triflin' Norman—" she grinned, left the sentence unfinished.

"Then pack up; we'll close the house. We'll take a cottage behind the track."

At late twilight their car stopped in front of a tackroom on Poverty Row at the Downs; where the one and two-horse stables are housed. "Uncle Sandy!" Linda called. Norman's woolly head looked out. "Howdy, Miss Linda," then he saw Callie. Went into action. "I—I got business—" He scurried out, disappeared behind a manure pile. Callie shouted: "You triflin' stable-han'!"

Then Uncle Sandy came to the door. "Lo, Linda," he said casually. "You're just in time. I expect Smiling Tom Cartright—and here he comes."

Let's Boost Agriculture

Agriculture, the backbone of a nation's or a state's prosperity when it comes down to final analysis, is stressed by parish exhibitions such as will be held this week by the Ouachita Valley Fair association. There may be factories pouring forth their finished outputs, commerce and trade may flourish, but their real essential foundation is prosperity on the farm. Unless the farmer is prosperous there can be little sustained and general prosperity in any nation or community such as ours. It is a well established fact that the soil and its output is the basis of all wealth. Ouachita parish is no exception to the general rule. We would like to see some big industrial enterprises locate here but the farming industry must be rejuvenated, built up and expanded if we are to have permanent, continued prosperity.

The West Monroe Kiwanis club, the Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups have long realized this fact and have incorporated in their programs of work the stimulation of agriculture. And when one comes down to rock bottom consideration of agricultural development hereabouts, we must confess that we have been downright lazy. We have a climate that is equal to any in the country and far superior to that of most sections; we have the soil that is among the most favored, for where is there anything that compares with the basic fertility of the lands of the Mississippi valley? Again we have truck, rail, and barge lines to carry produce to the four quarters of the map.

Granted all these elements, there should be definite and highly specialized efforts exerted to develop a truck and fruit raising section here. Other similar communities have made substantial progress along this line, notably may be mentioned Hazlehurst and Crystal Springs in nearby Mississippi. Buyers each season come there to buy in the field the produce that is grown and which is eagerly snapped up for distribution to the less favored sections of the country. This is especially true of mid-winter produce for there as here there is a 12-month growing period. We have soil, climate and shipping facilities comparable with the cities named. We believe that under the direction of D. L. Bornman, Jr., the new parish farm agent, new encouragement will be given to those who seek to break up the one crop system and in its stead diversify production with special attention being paid to truck raising.

The Ouachita Valley fair, like all other similar exhibitions, gives impetus to renewed and more vigorous agriculture. For this reason we welcome such exhibitions and also possess the hope that this section may come into its own in the not far distant future as a truck raising region. We want to see something that will contribute greatly to the income of the man on the farm, the business man on DeSiard street, and thereby to the community generally.

'ANOTHER HOME GOES UP IN SMOKE!"

Powerful forces are at work to save homes, according to W. E. Mallalieu, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, 85 John street, New York, as expressed in the foreword of an attractive new booklet, "Another Home Goes Up in Smoke," just issued by that organization. These forces represent the combined engineering skill and the active interest of the outstanding fire protection authorities in the country and this new booklet has been issued as a part of the campaign to inspect every home in America by uniformed firemen during Fire Prevention week this year. It is designed to arouse public interest in making household inspections.

Its pages are illuminated with drawings and graphs designed to flag the attention of people who might not otherwise be interested in this subject. A minimum of copy is used, yet each set of opposite pages points a definite lesson in fire prevention, and even the casual reader should carry away a desire to cooperate in safety measures. The booklet is free in reasonable quantities, or at cost for large orders.

In addition, many thousands of National Board Fire Prevention week posters have already been distributed to railroads and steamship lines for posting in stations and shops and on piers in October. Other materials include stickers, Fire Prevention week speches, puzzles, playlets, booklets and inspection blanks.

THE NUTSIES

The other day a radio news commentator speaking of the Nazis, repeatedly—though inadvertently—called them the "Nutsies." Some of the greatest discoveries have been made accidentally.

The Nazis are shouting "one people, one Reich, one fuehrer." With the third element of that demand most of the world will agree, for one fuehrer is one too many. May there never be another one and not much more of this one.

Those Nazis are fanatical enough to start riots and murder some of their own people in Czechoslovakia just to give Hitler an excuse to attack Czechoslovakia. And if those Sudeten Germans only knew it, they are having a lot better time under Czechoslovakia than they will have if Hitler gets his hooks into them.

Comes a report of a North Carolina man who wrote an obituary on a pet hen. Now how do you suppose he ever kept the creature still?

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—The pathetic thing about this Czechoslovakia business is that if the Nazis move in on Sudeten Germany it won't solve the difficulty or end the trouble.

That is the estimate of competent authorities on European affairs here, and is the view of historians, too.

For more than a thousand years the Sudeten mountains have been the barrier separating eastward moving Germans and westward moving Slavs. At that point the two races have ground together like huge millstones, fighting, trading, marrying and fighting again. Most Czechs have a touch of Teutonic blood and most Sudeten Germans a trace of Slav.

This ring of mountains separates Germany and Austria from that end of Czechoslovakia which juts deeply into Germany like a thick peninsula. Like the rugged Pyrenees between France and Spain, the Sudeten mountains form one of the few natural barriers between national groups. What Herr Hitler seems disposed to do is to detach from Czechoslovakia a narrow strip of the mountain slope on the Bohemian side of the range, across the divide from Germany.

No Solution In Separation

R. W. Seton-Watson, writing in the current issue of "Foreign Affairs," says: "The detachment of these (mountains) from Czechoslovakia would have left unsolved the two main difficulties: that the major part of the land inside the present boundaries is inseparably bound by geographical and economic ties with central Bohemia, and that no human ingenuity has hitherto availed to draw a possible ethnographic line between German and Czech."

Seton-Watson's article is pro-Czech, but his view on this is shared widely here.

The highly industrialized Sudeten region has had its principal outlet into the Bohemian region into which the Sudeten mountain valleys drain. In times past this same region has traded actively with Germany, across the mountains. It has enjoyed a flood of tourist traffic from Germany to the once popular Bohemian resorts.

The combination of the 1929 depression and adoption of the German economic policy shriveled Germany-Czechoslovak trade to a fourth of its earlier level. The tourist travel dropped to nothing when Germans were prohibited from taking any holiday money across the border. The German section of Bohemia—the troubled Sudeten region—was harder hit, as a result, than the Czech.

The Economic Angle

This adds a new angle to the proposed merger. Sudeten Germans feel they would do better economically if blanketed into the German economic system than by being shut out of it. The economic question in this case is considered as important as the racial, although far less useful to Hitler in dramatizing the issue.

But the problem of minorities would not be solved. In the Sudeten section, along with the 3,500,000 Germans, are 400,000 Czechs who would be forced willy nilly under the German arm. In turn, 700,000 Germans would be left in that part of Bohemia which is predominantly Czech.

Of course nobody here, or presumably in Europe, is fooled into believing that Hitler's sympathy for the Sudeten Germans is his only reason for wanting to move in. If one is to believe his autobiography, he wants the raw material resources of Czechoslovakia, as well as the readier access this conquest would give him to the rich farming sections of Hungary, the oil fields of Rumania, and the outlet to the east.

Strangely enough, in the same current issue of "Foreign Affairs" is an article by Herbert Feis, state department adviser on international economic affairs, desperately arguing that restoration of sensible trade would remove the need of a nation to get raw materials by conquest. But he doesn't seem overly hopeful that Hitler will be moved by it.

'THE AMERICAN WAY'

By BRUCE CATTON

Czech and German children danced together the other night—in New York.

It happened at a fall festival staged for the children who attend a settlement playground known as the Avenue A Children's gardens. Youngsters of 17 nationalities play at this settlement; and at the festival they all had a good time together.

At the end of the festival they all got together and sang "America the Beautiful." And then the announcer summed up the spirit of the evening by saying: "Now we are all Americans. We're friends, now."

There is more to this little anecdote than just a mild human-interest value. It is easy enough to say that America is probably the only spot on the globe where youthful Czechs, Germans, Poles, Hungarians and Russians could have a friendly evening of dancing and singing together, to celebrate the end of a summer's joint work and play. But if we simply pat ourselves on the back and let it go at that we've missed the point.

There isn't a thing surprising about the fact that a mixed group of children will play together happily if they're given half a chance. The point of the whole thing is that these children, quite unwittingly, reflect a way of life which is the exact opposite of the way that is now producing such terrible fruits in central Europe.

It is customary to say that we Americans have a whole continent to live in, and that therefore our job of getting along together is simplified. We have immense resources to exploit, a tremendous trading area in which to buy and sell, and we don't need to have these bitter rivalries, hatreds, and jealousies.

But the Europeans also have a whole continent to live in. It would be an even richer trading area than North America, if the barriers were taken down. It has immense stocks of natural resources and it is enormously productive of raw materials. What has been done in North America could be done in Europe—if people would only understand that it has to be done.

As long as Europe clings to the old idea of water-tight boundaries and conflicting "national destinies"—as long as men believe that one nation can prosper only at the expense of its neighbors, instead of in cooperation with them—just so long will there be wars and rumors of wars. Men won't have a lasting peace until they come around to this other way of looking at things.

We can call this other way the American way if we want to. There's no call for us to get conceited about it. We had a lucky break, in that we were able to start from scratch. But the object lesson is just as good. And the spectacle of those children, dancing and laughing together while their relatives overseas were ready to fly at one another's throats, is in its own way a sign-post pointing to the only way to lasting peace.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

AMAZING ACCIDENT—On July 20, 1898, Arthur Doades, a robust lad of 15, was engaged in scaring birds away from grainfields, using as a weapon an old muzzle-loading gun. He was using no bullets, only stuffing the powder into the barrel and firing it to scare the birds. While ramming the power with the ramrod, with the butt end of the weapon on the ground, he bent his head over the barrel end and suddenly the charge exploded, driving the ramroad completely through his head. Strangely enough, he did not lose consciousness, but walked a hundred yards to the farmhouse, where he waited for the hospital conveyance. After 15 weeks in the hospital, young Doades was completely cured, even his mentality not suffering in the least. Doades died a natural death at the age of 43, in 1926.

Human Side Of The News

(Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

News that a new wax museum will be opened in New York seems to have been under-played in the newspapers, considering the interest it has stirred among the few million New Yorkers who have nostalgic memories of the Eden Musee, in West Twenty-third street. And surely these memories must have been stirred all around the country. Nobody ever thought of coming to New York without taking the children to the Eden Musee.

Remember that policeman who stood by the door? You asked him something about the museum and were annoyed when he did not answer and sharply repeated the question. Then you heard a giggle, perhaps from a small boy who had been fooled in the same way, and was enjoying your discomfiture.

There were all the great civil war generals; Lee's surrender at Appomattox; DeSoto discovering the Mississippi; the signing of the Declaration of Independence; and other famous scenes of history. Downstairs, in the Chamber of Horrors, there were portrayed the Chicago anarchists of the Haymarket bombing, bombs and all; the Nathan murder, the Changewater hatchet murders, scenes of torture by Indians, and all sorts of hair-raising and blood-chilling specialties.

It is a curious fact that back in the age of innocence we used to enjoy horrors more than we do in this supposedly less innocent day—just as innocent children still are pop-eyed over the Brother Grimm and Hans Christian Anderson. As I remember it, there were no psychologists warning parents against giving their children the heebie-jeebies by taking them to the Eden Musee. But now, the comparatively sweet and innocent witch of "Snow White" troubles the child specialists, and many parents have been worried about her. I confess that she made me a bit uneasy, but youngsters I have talked to seem to be quite undisturbed.

However, horrors are being played down, in the great wax exhibits everywhere, and of course that is desirable. When the London branch of Mme. Tussaud's Paris wax museum was rebuilt in 1928, after the fire of 1925, they cut out the horrors.

It was interesting to note that the new wax museum here will be established by the Musee Grevin, which is the owner and operator of Mme. Tussaud's muse. 1. This little Frenchwoman, who was Marie Grosbolz, had one of the strangest entrance cues of anyone who ever stepped onto the stage of history. A marvelously gifted sculptor, a friend of royalty, she had made wax figures of many of the nobility, before the start of the French revolution. The mobs, needing effigies to revile and drag through the streets, seized upon her sculptures, and then, when the terror began, they dragooned her to make death masks of the victims of the guillotine.

She made scores of them, Marie Antoinette's, among others. When Charlotte Corday stabbed Marat in his bathtub, she instantly was summoned to do a wax figure of Marat, as he lay in the tub, with a soldier standing over her with a gun. She was all but overwhelmed by these long-drawn-out horrors, but made amazingly accurate likenesses, of immeasurable historical value and interest today.

Caught in the madness of the revolution, she had been in prison with Josephine Beauharnais, who later became the empress. This gave her an approach to Napoleon, and he assisted her in removing to England in 1802. Later she returned to France, having established Mme. Tussaud's wax museum in both London and Paris. One of her descendants, John Tussaud, manages it today. It was undoubtedly the pioneer of the wax works tradition of portraying not only historic characters and events but sensational news figures of the day.

In recent years, the "editors," so to speak, of the Mme. Tussaud museum, have been worried about the increasing transience of the great. They never know, for instance, when they might have to melt Adolf Hitler down into somebody with a weeping willow mustache and peace dove on his wrist. They made a marvelous picture of King Edward, but "at long last" had to shunt it off to a back room and do a rush edition of Mrs. Wallis Simpson.

It will be interesting to see how our revived wax museum in New York will meet this problem. It would have been a bit annoying, for instance, to have shaped up Howard Hughes and then have to put on the night shift to do One-Way Corrigan. But wax is a nice plastic material, certainly more suited for three-dimensional reporting than marble these days, when any minute may bring a call for a "make-over."

MIND YOUR MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is it good manners to smoke in an elevator?

3. Should a girl carry her own cigarets when on a date?
4. If a girl takes out a pack of cigarets, should she offer one to the man with her?

What would you do if—

You are eating in a restaurant, and there is no ash tray on the table—

(a) Flick the ashes on the floor?
(b) Use your plate for an ash tray?
(c) Ask the waiter for a tray?

Answers

1. No.
2. Yes.
3. Not unless she smokes continually.
4. Yes.
5. Very poor taste.

Best "what would you do" solution—"c".

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

LATENT KNOWLEDGE

"Home again, Susie? That's nice. What did you do in kindergarten this morning?"

"Oh, nothing."

"Nothing? You must have done something. What did you play today?"

"Oh, some games. The teacher played the piano and the children marched and things like that."

"Me? Nothing."

Mother was exasperated. She had hopes that sending Susie to kindergarten would make her more expressive. She thought Susie ought to have more to confide, more to share, more to tell. But this was all she could get out of her after three months of kindergarten.

"She might just as well be home in the sandbox for anything she gets out of it," she told father that night.

That is a common enough story. All children, especially the kindergarten and first grade groups, know more, feel more than they can express in language. They are just beginning to use language. They use words, to be sure, but many of them have no meaning for them as yet. And they cannot use words, or connected sentences, to express what they feel and know. Knowledge is stored for a long time before the children have power to put it into words.

That is why the kindergarten and first grade teachers are so distressed by those eager examiners who want to test the progress of the class every month or so. The children do not respond freely to the unfamiliar examiner; they do not catch the meaning of his words. A strange voice, a strange manner, a strange inflection of speech is enough to silence the most intelligent class of beginners. They know far more than they can tell. It is better to take it on trust than to attempt to prove it by tests.

Free and full expression of knowledge is a later development that teachers and parents must wait for in patience. Always, no matter what grade the pupil is, knowledge defies complete expression. It is only when knowledge overflows into the realm of actual experiences that it can begin to be expressed.

Often the history teacher is shocked at the written result of a prolonged and detailed study of a point. "They seemed to understand it thoroughly. They made their maps, made out their topic questions and recited well. Their written reports are something that beggar description. I'd be ashamed to have anybody see them. They would be sure the children had never been taught the point."

Wait. Give the knowledge time to season, time to work its way through familiar trails to experience. Don't give children a test immediately after intensive instruction. Give them time to chew it over, time to work it into thoughts, then into speech and language. The reason they say, "Oh, nothing," to your question as to what they learned is this lack of time for mental seasoning. Wait.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of the Monroe News-Star, 247 West 43rd street, New York City, N. Y., enclosing a three cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—Although so many Democrats walked out on the president in the primaries that the "purge" became largely a flop, believers in the celebrated "Roosevelt luck" still have their heads up.

A European crisis and a disastrous hurricane in the northeast came along just in time to bury the "purge" debacle as a major news story and to spotlight F. D. R. in two roles wherein he could hardly help enjoy public support.

It always happens that way, according to those who think Roosevelt's luck never fails.

Took Him Off A Spot

With no war clouds to face or hurricane wreckage to clean up, the president would have had to stand and answer questions in the wake of his failure to beat a single conservative Democratic senator among those for whose defeat he worked or hoped.

But his failure in the primaries is blurred, temporarily at least, as the national picture shows Roosevelt assuming his place as the national leader in a situation of international peril and as the benevolent leader in Washington extending federal aid to storm-stricken areas. Harry Hopkins, strongest single individual behind the "purge" except Roosevelt himself, becomes an agent of mercy as he goes to confer with the New England governors on hurricane-flood relief.

Finally, the last act of the "purge" primaries turned in the one Roosevelt victory over an anti-New Deal Democrat when Congressman John J. O'Connor of New York, chairman of the house rules committee, won the Republican but lost the Democratic nomination.

O'Connor may be re-elected, but he loses the strategic post which enabled him to block administration bills. Thus even some of the sourness of the "purge" debacle was mitigated at the last minute.

None of this means the president won't eventually have to face the consequences of his lost battles against Senators George in Georgia, Tydings in Maryland, Smith in South Carolina and Gillette in Iowa. In the next congress men are going to be "for" Roosevelt or "against" him and if Roosevelt doesn't adopt a more conciliatory attitude toward the Democratic conservative wing, Capitol Hill will be the scene of a running cat-and-dog fight rather than an agency for producing legislation.

An Important Choice

Roosevelt must choose whether he prefers to compromise with men of the type he has tried and failed to defeat in the primaries or to continue to wage war in the hope of forging 1940 issues by accentuating the liberal-conservative cleavage. The first course means inevitable retreat, the second a strong possibility of defeat.

Tentatively there are three main points of the Roosevelt program on which he must have congressional cooperation if he is to get anywhere. They are: 1. Anti-monopoly legislation, which Roosevelt would like to see go far toward changing the American business system. 2. Government reorganization. 3. Tax revision, which New Dealers would like to see enacted along lines of social-economic reform.

On these fronts Roosevelt can elect to wheedle a little bit from congress or to refuse compromise and seek to popularize the issues pending an effort to dominate the party and its presidential nomination in 1940.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

The Tall Corn State Has an Anniversary

THE governments of three world powers have ruled over the fertile black soil of Iowa since the first white men came—Marquette and Jollet in 1673, and Hennepin in 1680.

As a part of the Mississippi valley, Iowa was taken into the formal possession of France in 1682. Almost a hundred years later, 1762, it was ceded to Spain. In 1800 it was retroceded to France. Three years later Iowa came under the American flag for all time.

It was ruled from 1804-1805, as part of the District of Louisiana, under the Old Indiana Territory government. Successively it was governed as part of the Louisiana Territory, part of Missouri Territory, part of the unorganized territory of the United States, a section of the Michigan Territory and from 1836 to 1838, a part of Wisconsin Territory.

Finally, in 1838, Iowa separated from Wisconsin because of lack of courts for judicial relief in a wild era. The Wisconsin Territory was divided and the western portion named Iowa, and out of this with its present bounds the state was eventually carved in 1846. The name, Iowa, was taken from a tribe of Siouan Indians which inhabited Iowa when the Frenchmen arrived in 1673.

As early as 1840 the Territory, then with a population of 43,112, voted to seek admission into the Union. It became a state finally in 1846. This year marks the 100th anniversary of the old Territory, for which the special U. S. stamp above was issued. It shows the old Capitol building.

am not aware that his (Chamberlain's) final surrender had the approval of his own cabinet."

Nicolson was a leading spirit in the abortive revolt which followed the resignation last February 20 of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who quit, like Duff Cooper, in protest against Chamberlain's policy of dealing with dictators. Then the prime minister was working on an agreement with Premier Mussolini of Italy.

With the Munich four-power dismemberment of Czechoslovakia effective before the British parliament had time to ratify it, Nicolson plainly hinted that Chamberlain had ignored not only the house of commons, but members of his own cabinet as well.

Among the names mentioned in this connection were those of Minister of Health Walter Elliot, President of the Board of Trade Oliver Stanley, and Minister of Agriculture W. S. Morrison, with War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha "in the background."

Throughout the weeks of crisis there were frequent but unconfirmable reports that there was more than one minister who resented Chamberlain's deliberations with the "inner cabinet" and diminutive Sir Horace Wilson, who accompanied the prime minister on his three trips to Germany.

Chamberlain conferred frequently with the "inner cabinet"—Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon and Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare. There are 21 members of the full cabinet.

COLLEGE FUNDS TO BE DISCUSSED

tendent wrote the heads of the institutions.

Harris said the board has already issued a check for $250,000 to aid in the construction of the junior college at Lake Charles and that he would recommend that at least $500,000 be set aside "to finance emergencies which cannot be foreseen at this time."

Harris said he would contact Governor Leche to learn the amount the governor will recommend for allotment to institutions not under control of the board.

The $6,000,000 was secured from the sale of a bond issued by the legislature at its last session. The public works administration has allocated approximately $4,500,000 to the state institutions to go with the state funds.

UNEMPLOYMENT LAW EXPLAINED

ing one week constitute two different employes?

It is the number of different individuals that determines the number of employes. Example: A grocer regularly employs two clerks and a delivery boy. The week he replaces one of these employes with another he is credited with employing four different individuals. If this should happen 20 times during the course of a year he would be declared subject to the unemployment compensation law.

What is an employer?

An "employer" or "employing unit" is an individual, partnership, corporation, association or group of individuals owning or operating, directly or indirectly, singly or jointly, any business or businesses.

Example: A man operating a grocery store with two clerks and a meat market with two butchers would be considered an "employing unit" with four employes and subject to the law.

How does an employer determine whether he is subject?

All employers are required to file an initial determination report, just as every one is supposed to file income tax returns whether or not a tax is due. The report properly filled will furnish the information with which the department of labor may determine whether an employer is subject.

How are these reports secured?

Blanks may be had upon request at the department of labor offices at Baton Rouge.

What rate of contribution must an employer pay if he becomes subject?

An employer subject to the law must pay 2.7 per cent of his payroll to the Louisiana unemployment compensation fund.

Must employes pay?

Yes. They must contribute one-half of one per cent of their pay. The contribution is deducted from wages by the employer who forwards the money along with his contribution.

Where does the money go?

It is deposited with the federal treasury in Washington to the credit of the Louisiana fund to pay benefits when covered workers may become unemployed. All of the contributions remain intact for this purpose, the fund now totalling $11,370,000. Administrative expenses are borne by the federal government.

When do employes covered by the law obtain benefits and how much do they get?

A participating worker who becomes unemployed must register with the state employment service to seek a job and then apply for benefits.

If at the end of two weeks he has failed to find employment he will be entitled to 50 per cent of his previous normal weekly wages but his benefit may not exceed $18 a week. The payments will continue 18 weeks, provided he is unable to get a job.

What happens if a man gets a part-time job?

He may receive part-time benefits.

How often must an employer report his contributions?

Every month, with a deadline 30 days from the date the report first became due. For example, October's report must be in before the end of November. In addition, every employer must have a quarterly payroll report.

What types of employment are exempt?

Agricultural labor, domestic service, seamen employed on boats regularly visiting ports outside the state, services performed by children under 21 for their parents, governmental employes, services performed for religious, charitable or other non-profit organizations, insurance agents engaged in field work, persons covered by an unemployment compensation system established by act of congress.

How many new employes and employers will the law's new provisions affect?

Approximately 100,000 additional employes and 15,000 employers. Some 412,000 employes and 8,000 employers now contribute.

When will benefits first become available to these newly covered employes and will their claims jeopardize the fund built up by contributions of those already covered?

Benefits will become available to the new group of contributors in April, 1939. Their claims will be paid from money they contribute toward the fund.

HUSBAND TELLS OF MERCY DEATH

years ago, and that the physician, Dr. John Erdmann, New York cancer specialist, had told him at the time: "The case is incurable. She may live two years, at the most."

Inspector King said Johnson, an uncle of Nassau County Judge Cortland Johnson, insisted his wife was conscious and watched him from her bed of pain while he brought the garden hose into the room, carefully sealed the windows and doors with water-soaked blankets and towels, then kissed her goodbye and went to the cellar to turn on the gas.

The detective chief said Johnson told him it took him two weeks to make the decision and to prepare the garden hose from two 75-foot lengths wrapped with tape to prevent leaks.

"My wife had been in terrible agony for a long time," King quoted the husband as saying.

"She had been unable to take food for three days. It was worse than death. I could stand it no longer. No man could."

Before making the final arrangements, King said, Johnson sent his wife's nurse, Cordelia Higbee, and the family maid, Cora Mosher, out for a walk after breakfast.

An hour later, when the nurse returned, she found the house locked. She called the family physician, Dr. Archibald Wood of Far Rockaway. When the doctor knocked on the door, the haggard-faced husband let him in.

At a glance, Dr Wood saw efforts to revive Mrs. Johnson would be futile.

District Attorney Neary said the case would be presented to the grand jury October 11.

Pending grand jury action, Johnson was taken to the prison ward of Meadowbrook hospital. Afflicted with a heart ailment, he was near exhaustion and said he hadn't been to bed in five days.

The district attorney said the case would not be taken before the grand jury until the county toxicologist had made a blood analysis.

"It's possible," he said, "she may have died from cancer."

assurance in his Berlin Sportspalast speech September 26 that Czechoslovakia's Sudeterland constituted Germany's last territorial demand in Europe.

Just how soon the next quest for reacquisition of Germany's wartime colonies will be launched is regarded as immaterial now.

Germany, after the world war, lost colonies totalling more than 1,125,000 square miles—more than five times the area of the new, greater Germany.

The matter is under discussion and from certain signs in a fair way toward a solution satisfactory to Germany.

From the satisfaction with which a foreign office spokesman at Munich told this correspondent that the colonial problem was discussed at the first session of the "big four" statesmen, it seemed Germany's claim to be a colonial power must have been recognized.

Meanwhile there is plenty of work to do in Europe.

Germany has not fully digested Austria as yet and now, less than seven months later, Sudeterland begins joining her.

It is not only the administration that must be taken over the new population must be made ideologically.

It will take some time for Nazi ideas to become the creed of every Austrian and every Sudeten German.

When Hitler in his Sportspalast address renounced all further territorial claims in Europe, everyone naturally asked:

What about Danzig? Memel? The Polish corridor? South Tyrol?

Hitler at a state banquet May 7 in Rome declared the Brenner pass the boundary for all time between Germany and Italy.

That meant he renounced territorial claims to the south Tyrol, which Italy got from Austria after the World war.

The Munich four-power accord provided for optional transfers of racial groups on the "wrong side" of the Czechoslovak-German border as it will be drawn.

This principle might be applied not only in Czechoslovakia but wherever else interchanges might prove desirable. Belgium for instance has Eupen and Malmedy which she gained under the Versailles treaty and a part of Schleswig went to Denmark, both with German peoples.

Danzig constitutes no problem in German eyes because it already is under Nazi domination. It was believed that at any time Poland might see fit to declare herself disinterested in Danzig, the Danzigers could determine their own fate and go over to Hitler without him making any territorial claims.

Memel went to the League of Nations and was annexed in 1923 by Lithuania.

Whether Memel becomes a part of Germany appears relatively immaterial now that Germany has become so great a power that Lithuania cannot do otherwise than grant autonomous rights as wide as possible to the Memelites.

Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Greece and Hungary for some time have been considered virtual economic satellites of Germany.

Czechoslovakia, it is felt, cannot do otherwise than also become an economic satellite. Rumania, too, may decide to come within the German orbit.

Economics Minister Walther Funk presently is engaged in a good will tour of the Balkans—with Turkey as his special objective.

Thus, step by step, Germany's "drang nach osten" (march to the east) has been—or is being—satisfied.

This does not mean that Germany wishes to conquer any of these states in a physical way nor rule over the populations there.

Hitler wants no racial irredenta—he wants homogeneous rights of Teutons.

But he wants all of his people to have plenty to eat and enough work to keep everybody employed.

Economic penetration of the Balkans would give him access to many riches.

Acquisition of colonies would make him master of more economic riches—besides offering the opportunity to take care of the German population, which is growing constantly.

It's your Fair, so Boost it!

NOTHING, perhaps, that we have here in Ouachita Parish is a better good will builder than the annual Ouachita Valley Fair. It brings residents of Ouachita and adjacent parishes together. Merchants and farmers rub shoulders there. So do townspeople and country folk in general. All get to know one another—at least casually.

Out of this association arises understanding. And understanding breeds confidence.

Since its establishment six years ago, the Ouachita Valley Fair has focused attention each fall on Ouachita Parish in general and its metropolises in particular—Monroe and West Monroe. And in doing so, it has been of inestimable value in advertising the parish and the two communities.

It therefore—if for selfish reasons alone—merits the whole-hearted support of everyone in Ouachita Parish.

Launched in a modest manner six years ago by a group of civic-spirited West Monroe business men and far-sighted Ouachita Parish agricultural leaders, the Ouachita Valley Fair, the current exposition of which starts Tuesday and continues through next Sunday, has enjoyed a steady growth. To start with, the exhibits were housed in several scattered empty stores on Trenton street in West Monroe; but by 1935, the fair had grown in scope and increased in popularity to such an extent that it justified the acquisition of permanent exhibition grounds in the northwestern section of the city.

Buildings have gradually arisen on the site. They now include a main exhibition hall and lesser structures for livestock, poultry and other exhibits. This year a baseball diamond, grandstand and rodeo arena have been added.

Increased interest, manifested by more varied exhibits and greater attendance, has marked each succeeding year of the fair. From year to year, more and more farmers, farm women, school children and clubs have entered the competition for the premiums offered, displaying their prized produce, livestock, poultry, culinary accomplishments, needlework and the like. More and more space has been taken for merchandise displays and for commercial exhibits.

This year some 350 prizes are being offered exhibitors.

The purpose of the Ouachita Valley Fair, like that of all fairs, is the promotion—through friendly competition and interchange of information and ideas—of better farming in all its phases. This, the Ouachita Valley Fair is doing—on an ever-widening scale. Particularly has it been of value in stressing diversified farming and showing rural people how to make their homes happier and healthier.

Without doubt, it has made distinct contributions in the field of agricultural education. It therefore—if for no other reason than this is primarily a farming section—merits the fullest support of every last one of us.

That small band of West Monroe business men and Ouachita Parish agricultural leaders who, six years ago, got together and formed the Ouachita Valley Fair Association have worked nothing less than wonders. But they have not been content to rest on their laurels. Being progressive, they are planning greater things for the future—a fair that will embrace the entire Fifth District, a fair that eventually will be second only to the Louisiana State Fair in Shreveport.

Definite action, however, will be required to convert their plans into actuality—first and foremost, the concerted cooperation of every resident of Ouachita Parish, particularly those of Monroe and West Monroe.

After all, Monroe and West Monroe are, we must constantly keep in mind, not merely the largest cities in Ouachita parish, but—and they should be to an even greater extent—the trading center of the Fifth District. Nothing could do more to emphasize this fact than a first-class district fair.

But such a fair would mean a lot of individual and collective effort. It would require that kind that would brook no spirit of "let George do it." It would necessitate that type of energy that Monroe, West Monroe and Ouachita Parish have shown, time and again, they are capable of exerting.

However, the Fifth District Fair is a matter of the future. The Ouachita Valley Fair starts Tuesday. The job immediately at hand demands attention.

Let's boost the fair starting Tuesday in every way we can. Let's go to it as often as we can. Let's encourage our local friends to go with us. Let's invite our friends throughout Northeast Louisiana.

There'll be plenty of interesting, entertaining and educational things to see. You'll enjoy the fellowship and social intercourse. If you're a townsman, you'll find the rural folk mighty fine and wise in their ways. If you're from the country, you'll learn that the town dwellers are fulfilling a thoroughly useful purpose.

You are bound to find something to excite your interest.

So let's all of us not only support the Ouachita Valley Fair, but do everything in our power to boost it a notch higher.

CHICAGO CLINCHES NATIONAL LEAGUE FLAG

ATLANTA BEATS BEAUMONT THIRD STRAIGHT TIME

Southern Leaguers Shade Texas Club, 5 To 4; Have Championship In Grasp

BEAUMONT, Tex., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Atlanta Crackers, the baseball championship of the south in their grasp, defeated a somewhat listless Beaumont team, 5 to 4, here today for their third straight win in the Dixie series.

Victory came to the Southern association champions in the tenth inning, when Pitcher Bill Beckman singled and was replaced by the fleet Ted Pritchett, rookie pitcher, who scored the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Chatham.

Russ Peters, Atlanta second baseman, put the Georgians ahead in the second by slamming a homer with two on base.

Beaumont scored one in the second on successive singles by Parsons, Garner and Vincent. The champions of the Texas league scored another in the third when DeJonghe came home from second on a scorching single to left by Frankie Croucher.

Atlanta added another in the sixth when Oetting homered off big Ed Selway.

Beaumont tied the game in the ninth when Vincent doubled, Frank Secory, outfielder, ran for Vincent and scored from second when Selway singled.

Schoolboy Rowe, former Detroit hurler slated to return to the majors next year, was credited with the loss after relieving Selway in the tenth.

Bobby Durham relieved Beckman in the tenth for Atlanta but Beckman was given credit for winning.

The victory made it possible for Atlanta to sweep the series if they are able to win tomorrow's game in which Harry Miller is slated to pitch for Atlanta and Dizzy Trout for Beaumont.

The Texas leaguers, weak with the willow in the two games they dropped at Atlanta, nicked Cracker pitchers for 15 blows today as against seven for the Georgians, but three spectacular double plays by the Crackers killed rallies of the Exporters that might have meant the difference.

Ole Miss Overpowers Tech, 27 To 7, After Slow Start

Mehre Sends In First-Stringers Late In Game To Conquer Techmen

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi Rebels followed an unimpressive first half with a powerful comeback in the second today to give Louisiana Tech a 27 to 7 trimming.

The Techmen led at the close of the half, 7 to 6. They capitalized on a good break when Adams, Tech end, recovered a fumble on the Ole Miss nine-yard stripe. Williams sent a short pass to Williamson for the touchdown and Eager converted.

The Rebels scored in the second period following a 30-yard pass from Les Dodson, fullback, to Ward. Right Halfback Erm Smith made eight yards over tackle to score. Coach Harry Mehre had replaced several Ole Miss reserves with first stringers at the start of the second half, and Left Guard George Kinard and Quarterback Kimble Bradley paved the way for scoring jaunts.

The Rebels showed real power in the third period, with Parker Hall and Les Dodson, sophomore fullback, ripping the Tech line for nice gains. Hall's 32-yard heave was ruled complete after interference by Louisiana Tech was called, and he passed to Kent Massengale for the touchdown. Massengale converted.

Ole Miss scored twice in the final quarter, Jimmie Tillman running 50 yards for one marker, and Parker Hall going 26 yards for the final touchdown.

LAKESIDE CLUB CLOSES TUESDAY

Liquidating Committee To Be Appointed Monday By Club Stockholders

The Lakeside Country club, for a number of years the city's only golf and country club, will cease to function after Monday night.

The membership was notified last week that the owners of the property, the Cole estate, were unwilling to renew the club's lease on the golf course and the clubhouse at the same terms as in the past. Hence, the club was forced to relinquish the property, it was said.

Notification to the membership, signed by A. B. Clarkson as president of the club, stated that the annual meeting of stockholders would be held on Monday night instead of October 8, as previously planned. Thus, tomorrow night a liquidating committee will be appointed to wind up the affairs of the Lakeside club and the course will be closed Tuesday. It was understood that the owners have asked possession of the property as soon as possible.

The Lakeside club was reorganized several years ago after it had functioned as the Riverside Country club for a number of years.

It was reported yesterday that several plans had been unofficially discussed for the formation of a new country club in Monroe. Several Lakeside members have proposed to make an offer to purchase the present property, while others have suggested that a tract of land be purchased on the outskirts of the city and a golf course and clubhouse be constructed.

Ouachita Defeats Camden, Chalks Up Second Victory

Lions Tally In Every Period To Smother Panthers By Score Of 31-6

By Paul Martin

Scoring touchdowns in every period, the Ouachita Parish High school Lions chalked up their second victory of the season here last night over the Panthers of Camden, Ark., 31 to 6, at Northeast Center of L. S. U.'s stadium.

Ouachita's passing attack put the Lions in the lead with two touchdowns in the first half as the locals scored on heaves from Cason Mitchell to John Wilhite, and Mitchell to Mitchell Funderburk. The Lions scored again early in the third quarter on a 21-yard run by Clayton Brown, fullback; and followed with two more scores in the last period when Alvin Fleming scored through the line from the one-yard line, and Brown ran an intercepted pass back 45 yards to cross Camden's goal.

The lone Panther touchdown was scored by Langley, substitute halfback, in the second quarter from Ouachita's one foot line.

Although the Panthers did not have the once powerful aggregation that dealt Monroe elevens misery for the past few years, Coach Sam Coleman's present combination battled all the way to the finish, but was just no match for Coach "Lefty" Haynes' hard-charging backs and the Lion aerial attack.

Captain Taylor and White played unfiringly in the Camden backfield, while Greening, veteran end, and Guttery, guard, played exceptional ball in the visitors' forward wall.

Ouachita's entire backfield combination of Wilhite, Fleming, Mitchell and Brown figured prominently in the Lion victory. The line also played well, with Mitchell Funderburk, and Buford Goss looking particularly good.

Both teams started cautiously, testing the other's strength, and as a result neither team showed any superiority until the Lions' offensive got busy late in the period to tally three straight first downs and then go over for the initial touchdown.

Recovering a Camden fumble on the Panthers' 44, the Lions, on two passes, Mitchell to Fleming, carried the ball to Camden's 20. Fleming got five yards at left end and Brown plowed through the middle for six yards and a first down on Camden's nine, on the next play, Mitchell passed to Wilhite to score. Gerson's kick for the point was bad.

Ouachita scored again early in the second quarter with the passing attack again baffling the visitors. With the ball on their own three-yard line, the Panthers held for downs, but Taylor, in attempting to punt out, kicked out of bounds on his own 24. Fleming, on a reverse around left end, picked up seven, and Brown went through the middle to Camden's 11 for a first down. Ouachita was penalized five yards for offsides on the next play, but a pass, Mitchell to Wilhite, got the yardage back and put the ball on the invaders' six. Ouachita drew another five-yard penalty. Brown lost two at left end, but a pass, Mitchell to Funderburk, over the goal line was good for the second touchdown. Fleming place kicked for the only extra point of the game.

The Panthers' offensive got busy immediately after the second Lion touchdown, resulting in the visitors' only score. Taking the kickoff on their own 42, Langley made one at right tackle. Brown passed to Greening who lateraled to Langley for 22 yards and a first down on Ouachita's 35. White picked up eight at left tackle, and another lateral, McKinnon to Langley, made it a first down on Ouachita's 19. Langley got one yard

CUBS SPLIT TWO WITH CARDINALS AS PIRATES LOSE

By Gayle Talbot

SPORTSMAN PARK, ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs, crippled but courageous, sewed up their third National league pennant in seven years by plastering the St. Louis Cards, 10 to 3, in the second game of a wild-eyed double header here today while their last rivals, the Pittsburgh Pirates, were bowing in Cincinnati.

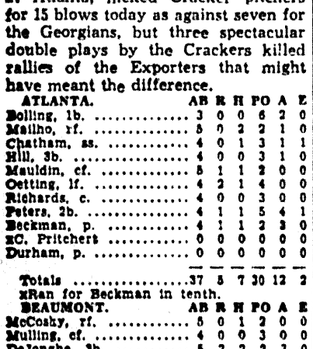

The victory, scored in a 17-hit attack on four St. Louis pitchers, placed Gabby Hartnett's scrappers two full games ahead of the Pirates and placed tomorrow's concluding game in the light of an exhibition. It climaxed a pennant surge which saw the Cubs, standing fourth only two months ago, win 21 of their last 25 games and outgame the opposition.

When Charlie Root, 39-year-old veteran of 13 campaigns with the Cubs, forced Lynn Myers of the Cards to pop up for the final out in the ninth inning, his exuberant teammates rushed to the mound and hoisted him upon their shoulders and carried him in triumph to the clubhouse. Root hurled masterful ball, allowing only two scratch hits in the last six innings after he had got off to a shaky start.

The victory was won with Manager Gabby Hartnett, the champion's slugging catcher, moping in the dugout with a pair of fingers damaged by foul tips. He charged out only once, toward the last of the game, to beef at Umpire Dolly Stark, who didn't think that Demaree had been hit by a pitched ball.

It was doubtful Hartnett would be ready to play in the opening game against the New York Yankees next Wednesday at Wrigley field in Chicago. The index finger of his right

FOOT ITCH
ATHLETE'S FOOT
Relief Guaranteed
Or Your Money Back

According to the Government Health Bulletin No. E-28, at least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

Beware of It Spreading

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get rid of this disease as quickly as possible, because it is very contagious, and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Most people who have Athlete's Foot have tried all kinds of remedies to cure it without success. Ordinary germicides, antiseptics, salves or ointments seldom do any good.

Here's How to Treat It

The germ that causes the disease is known as Tinea Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to kill the germ; so you can see why the ordinary remedies are unsuccesful. H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of treating Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. It peels off the tissue of the skin where the germ breeds.

Itching Stops Immediately

As soon as you apply H. F. you will find that the itching is immediately relieved. You should paint the infected part with H. F. night and morning until your feet are well. Usually this takes from three to ten days, although in severe cases it may take longer or in mild cases less time.

H. F. will leave the skin soft and smooth. You will marvel at the quick way it brings you relief; especially if you are one of those who have tried for years to get rid of Athlete's Foot without success.

LOUISIANA STATE OVERWHELMS TEXAS, 20-0

TIGERS UNLEASH BAFFLING ATTACK TO SMOTHER FOES

Longhorns Collapse After Out-Playing Louisianians During First Half

By Ray Neumann

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 1.—(AP)—A University of Texas eleven which amazed 17,000 fans by roundly outplaying Louisiana State in the first half collapsed thereafter while the powerful Tigers rampaged to a 20-0 victory here today.

Deceptive ground play and aerial wizardry baffled the Texans in the final half, the power-packed Louisiana club scoring twice in the third and adding another in the fourth.

Louisiana scored first in the opening minutes of the third after Fullback Wallace Lawson of Texas fumbled and gave the Tigers the ball on their own 38. Halfback Bussey tossed a hard one to big Kenneth Kavanaugh, Louisiana end, who shook off a couple of tacklers and raced 48 yards for the counter. The gain totaled 63 yards. Barrett Booth placekicked extra point.

The Tigers tallied again when Halfback Robert Fife ripped off 43 yards on two well-executed off-tackle slices, placing the ball on Texas' 3-yard line. Sophomore John Crabtree, 200-pound back, plowed over right tackle, but Booth's placekick failed.

The third L. S. U. score came the hard way. A 49-yard drive came to a grinding halt on the Texas 34 and Ashford Simes punted out of bounds on the Longhorn 6. Lawson's boot went wide, going out on the Steers' 13.

Jake Staples, Louisiana's potent line-crasher, smashed his way to the Longhorn 7 on two tries after which Fife overheaded to Kavanaugh behind the line. Milner passed to Kavanaugh for extra point.

Texas threatened in the second after Bussey fumbled while trying to punt and Mike Sweeney nailed him on the Tiger 39. Aerials, Bryan to Sweeney and Lawson to Peterson, carried the ball to the L. S. U. 12. It was Crabtree who intercepted another pass on his own 4 and the Tigers punted to safety.

The Longhorns staged another rally a few moments later after holding the Tigers to short gains and taking the ball on their own 35. Sophomore Gilly Davis ripped off several gains but Bruce Hedrick of the Tigers snagged a pass on the Louisiana 3-yard stripe to halt what proved to be Texas' last drive.

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Jimmy Foxx belted his 49th and 50th home runs of the season to lead the Red Sox to an easy 9 to 2 triumph over the champion New York Yankees today in their semi-final game of the season. Young Jim Bagby limited the Yanks to four hits to earn his 15th victory.

SPLIT DOUBLE HEADER

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox won the first game of a double header against the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 3, and lost the second, 4 to 0, in five innings before darkness overtook the game.

Big John Whitehead pushed the Sox to a 7-hit winner in the first game. Harry Boyles, the angular rookie from Longview, pitched perfect baseball for three innings in the nightcap, but was plunked for four runs in the fourth.

INDIANS BLANK TIGERS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Hank Greenberg went hitless in four attempts today as Denny Galehouse shut out the Detroit Tigers, 5-0, on five hits.

Galehouse pitched his best game of the season for Cleveland, striking out five. Greenberg, as a result, greatly diminished his chances of bringing up his 58-home run total to the 60 mark, which would equal Babe Ruth's record.

Jeff Heath paced the Indians' eight-hit attack on Boots Poffenberger and Jake Wade with two singles in three trips up.

BOUDREAU KICKS POINT THAT WINS FOR SOONER TEAM

Player Who Hasn't Missed Try-For-Point In Three Years Delivers Goods

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Quiet Raphael Boudreau, who never has missed a try-for-point in three years of college play, delivered the goods again today and Oklahoma's Sooners upset vaunted Rice institute, 7-6, before 18,000 stunned, perspiring fans.

He trotted out just before half-time and slammed across the winning point after substitute Howard McCarthy had spun across from the 18-yard line for the touchdown.

Two great ends, Captain Roland Young and John Shirk, supplied the antidote for Rice's heralded two-man riot of Ernie Lain and Ollie Cordill with a smashing game that smothered their aerial antics.

Waspy, 150-pound Doug (Scat) Sullivan, Lain's understudy, was the spark behind Rice's second period score. He delivered a 16-yard aerial to substitute Halfback Hugo Stevens. Sullivan moved on down to Oklahoma's 15 and on five successive blasts off the tackles finally went over for the score.

Second stringers had a great day, Otis Rogers, reserve back, injecting life into the offensive in a late second period drive that wiped out Rice's six-point lead and furnished one of the day's big upsets. Never considered a passer, Rogers qualified today with heaves to Jennings and McCarty that carried Oklahoma from the Rice 43 to the one foot line.

There Rogers fumbled a bad pass from center but recovered on the 10. His fourth down pass was intercepted on the one-foot line and Rice kicked out to their 23. A 15-yard holding penalty shoved Oklahoma along and then McCarty clasped a lateral from Reserve Back Favors and wiggled 18 yards for the touchdown.

THREE BATTLING FOR LEADERSHIP

Foxx In Van Of Batters, Closely Followed By Heath And Chapman

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Two veterans and a rookie threatened to give the 1938 American league batting race the red hot finish denied the pennant chase by those ever-assertive New York Yankees.

With the championship wire just ahead, it was Jimmy Foxx of Boston, Jeff Heath, the Cleveland rookie, and Ben Chapman, Foxx's teammate, in that order.

Foxx had slipped two points to an average of .347 as they passed Friday's pole, two lengths from the finish. Riding a gain of six points which narrowed Foxx's earlier 12-point lead to four was Heath with .343. Then came Chapman with .341, a gain of seven points over the previous week that lifted him from fifth place.

Other leaders on the basis of Friday's semi-official averages:

Buddy Myer, Washington, .338; Cecil Travis, Washington, .335; Hal Trosky, Cleveland, .335; Hank Steinbacher, Chicago, .335; Earl Averill, Cleveland, .331; Joe Vosmik, Boston, 328; Joe DiMaggio, New York, .326.

Averill suffered the biggest fall of the week, tumbling from fourth to eighth when his average fell off five points.

Meanwhile, Hank Greenberg of Detroit continued his efforts to reach Babe Ruth's record of 60 homers. He crashed out two over the week to advance to 58.

Other departmental leaders maintained their positions. In addition to setting the pace in homers, Greenberg had scored 140 runs. Vosmik scored eight more hits to run his total to 201. Heath had 18 triples; Joe Cronin of Boston, 51 doubles; Frank Crosetti of New York 27 stolen bases, and Foxx had batted in 167 runs.

Bob Grove of Boston remained idle, but regained the pitching lead with his long standing record of 14 victories and four defeats when Red Ruffing of New York met another reversal that ran his list to seven as against 21 triumphs. Spud Chandler of New York had won 14 and lost five. Bob Feller of Cleveland led in strikeouts with 122.

Boston maintained its team batting lead at .299. Detroit tied St. Louis for first in fielding at .975, while New York made eight double plays to break its tie with Washington and go ahead with a mark of 173.

Neville And Lake Charles Clash On Gridiron Friday

Tigers Hope To Put Team At Peak Strength In Field Against Foes

The Neville High school Tigers, who surprised everybody, including themselves and their opponents, by upsetting the powerful Panthers of Greenville, Miss., 19 to 7, here Friday night, will go to Lake Charles next Friday, where they expect to be faced with another hard battle.

The Tigers, although not opening their Class A conference schedule until October 14 against Winnfield, have already met three strong elevens, Istrouma, Bolton and Greenville.

Istrouma and Bolton downed the locals by one-touchdown margins, but the Bengals got on the winning side against the Panthers, who outplayed them in all but about five minutes of the hour's battle. Commenting on Greenville, Coach Percy Brown said, "We beat the best ball club we have played this season. The Panthers deserved to win, but Neville got some breaks for a change."

Every member of the Tiger eleven came out of the Greenville game in good shape, Coach Brown said, and the Bengals expect to be in better condition to meet Lake Charles than at any time thus far this season. However, the locals have lots of work to do yet. The team has not been functioning as a whole, and Coach Brown plans extensive workouts this week to clean out the spotty places, he said.

Neville's running attack failed to get the needed assistance in the way of blocking against Greenville and the interference was slow in forming. It was only after the Tigers took to the air that Neville forged ahead to victory with two touchdowns in the last few minutes of the game. Vaughan Payne, quarterback and captain, and "Red" Rivers and Jack Lanham were outstanding in the passing offensive, Rivers and Lanham each scoring on heaves from Payne.

It is probable that, in addition to more work in perfecting a running attack, the Bengals will work to keep their passing machine working smoothly for use against Lake Charles.

Friday's game will be the third ever played between Neville and Lake Charles. The south Louisianians won the first game, in 1936, 13 to 6. Neville won last year, 6 to 0.

COLUMBIA DRUBS YALE, 27 TO 14

35,000 Attend Game Featured By Skillful Passing, Running And Punting

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Passing, running and punting with as much skill as this historic structure has ever seen, Sid Luckman paced Columbia's Light Blue eleven to a smashing 27-to-14 triumph over Yale today before 35,000 fans.

The Light Blue showed its superiority early. With Luckman smashing at the Blue tackles and bombing the secondary with short flat passes, Columbia went to the three-yard line. Luckman crashed over tackle for the score.

In the second period, Luckman's return of a punt, a pass and two running plays put the ball on the 13. Radvilas skirted end and scored. With the ball on the Yale 35, Luckman passed over the goal line to Frank Stulgaitis for another score.

In the fourth another pass, from Luckman to Gerhard Seidel, put the ball on the three and the latter smashed over for the final touchdown.

VANDERBILT WINS, 12-0, FROM WESTERN KENTUCKY

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 1.—(AP)—A long pass and one sustained scoring drive gave Vanderbilt university a 12 to 0 victory today over Western Kentucky Teachers in a sluggish and dull game before a sun-batched crowd of 7,000 spectators.

Obviously playing under wraps and showing nothing but the most orthodox of offensive plays, the Commodores pushed across a six-pointer in the final period after connecting for a 26-yard aerial toss in the second period.

The Teachers' offensive shone brilliantly in the opening period when they tallied four first downs and gained 76 yards on the ground, once driving to the Vandy 13-yard line.

MIZE THREATENS LOMBARDI'S LEAD

Red Catcher Three Points Ahead Of Card First Sacker Through Friday

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Unless Johnny Mize can complete his late-season comeback over the last hours of the campaign, Ernie Lombardi will be the first catcher in 12 years to win the National league hitting championship.

The Reds' backstop was out in front by three points over the Cardinal first sacker through Friday, after being ousted from the top for one day last week. His mark of .338 was considerably off his best through the middle weeks of the season, but with only Mize giving him a fight for the top, it has been good enough to last.

The last catcher to take the title was Gene (Pinky) Hargreave, whose .353 mark brought the crown to Cincinnati in 1926. If Mize should slide through, he will be the first first-baseman in the charmed circle since the gaudy .401 William (Terrible) Terry posted in 1930—the last time a big leaguer hit the .400-mark over a full season.

None of the other senior circuit clouters has much of a chance to oust either Lombardi or Mize. Arky Vaughan of the Pirates, champion in 1935, is 10 points off the pace, in third place with .328. Trailing him are Buck McCormick of the Reds with .326; Ducky Medwick of the Cards with .322; Debs Garms, Boston, .321; Stan Hack, Chicago, .318; Lloyd Waner, Pirates, .310; Mel Ott, Giants, .307, and his teammate, Jojo Moore, with .306.

There's also considerable of a fight in several other departments of individual play, which may not be decided until the curtain is dropped. Ott's total of 111 runs for the year is only five better than Hack's second-place 106, and Medwick's 119 runs batted in top Ott's runner-up 115 by only a narrow margin. In triples, Mize, with 16, leads his Cardinal teammate, Don Gutteridge, by only one, while Hack's 17 stolen bases shade Ernie Koy's Brooklyn total by the same slim edge.

Otherwise, the champions seem pretty well set. Buck McCormick, the Reds' candidate for the season's rookie honors, has 206 base hits for the year, 16 more than Lloyd Waner of the Pirates, in second place. Medwick has 46 doubles, compared to McCormick's second-place 38, and Ott, with 35 homers, has five more than Ival Goodman of the Reds.

Bill Lee, the Cubs' shutout artist, paces the pitches with 22 victories and nine setbacks, trailed by Rookie Bob Klinger of the Pirates with 12 wins and five defeats.

OUTSIDE ELEVENS BEATEN BY TEAMS OF SOUTHEASTERN

Thrill-Packed Football Games Presented Before Thousands Of Fans

ATLANTA, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Southeastern conference members licked all outside opposition today in thrill-packed football games before thousands of spectators.

Led by Halfback George Cafego, the University of Tennessee Vols handed Clemson of the Southern conference a 20 to 7 setback. Clemson the week before had journeyed into the Southeastern and upset favored Tulane, 13 to 10.

The University of Georgia edged out South Carolina, a Southern loop opponent, 7 to 6, at Columbia, while Louisiana State university, whipped last week by the University of Mississippi, defeated Texas, a Southwestern conference foe, 20 to 0.

At New Orleans, Auburn and Tulane, conference opponents, fought to a scoreless tie for the third straight year. Tulane has not scored on Auburn in four years.

The powerful Alabama eleven, back from its triumph over Southern California last Saturday, smashed Howard, 34 to 0, in a display of power and versatility, while Vanderbilt used a long pass and a sustained scoring drive to win over Western Kentucky Teachers, 12 to 0, in a sluggish game at Nashville.

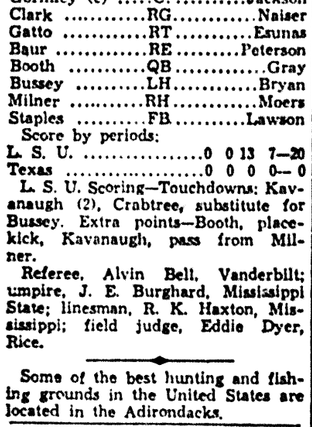

Georgia Tech opened its 1938 season with a 19 to 0 victory over a fighting Mercer university eleven.

The University of Mississippi rolled over Louisiana Tech, 27 to 7, and Kentucky's Wildcats trounced Oglethorpe university of Atlanta, 66 to 0, piling up two or more touchdowns in each quarter.

The Mississippi State college Maroons romped on Florida, 22 to 0, before a homecoming crowd at State College, Miss. The 'Gators were throttled through most of the game.

Little Sewanee bowed to Southwestern college of Memphis, 47 to 0, Friday night.

TULANE-AUBURN GAME ENDS IN SCORELESS TIE

Greenies Threaten Once; Remainder Of Battle Duel Between Punters

By Fred Dye

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 1.—(AP)—A scoreless tie for the third straight year was the story of the annual renewal of football rivalry between the Auburn Plainsmen and Tulane Green Wave here today.

Only by presenting a line-up marvelously improved over its weak and unorganized play of the opening game last week, when Clemson won 13-10, was Tulane able to hold Auburn to the traditional tie. In four years Tulane has not scored on Auburn and Auburn has been equally kind since plastering the Wave with a 10-0 defeat three years ago.

For the most part today's game was an exchange of punts with the Auburn pair of Kelly and O'Gwynne having a bit of an edge over the Tulane booters.

There were several set-ups from which scores might have developed, but there was only one which had the crowd of 18,000 standing in expectation.

Starting the third period, Bronco Brunner, native Orleanian left halfback, took the Auburn kick-off on his own goal line and fought his way 85 yards to Auburn's 15-yard line. He received excellent blocking on the first part of his thrilling jaunt but wriggled and squirmed from his guardsmen and made the last half of his journey unattended, except by the lone Auburn man who finally dragged him down.

Gloden, sub fullback, drove through center for three yards, Brunner might have got away but slipped as he reversed and made only one yard but gained first down on the Auburn three yard line on his next effort.

From there Billy Payne rammed the Plainsmen line twice with no gain and Brunner lost a yard. A tricky reverse, lateral and forward pass failed and the ball went over on downs, with Tulane losing her best chance in four years to score on Auburn.

Auburn kicked out of danger and thereafter there was nothing to thrill the spectators except a few futile dashes, some forward passes which might have clicked but did not, and the eternal punting.

The play of Kelly, O'Gwynne, McGowen, Mimms and Walker stood out for Auburn.

Ralph Wentzel, the Tulane right end, broke up many Auburn plays before they could get under way and generally made himself a stellar nuisance to the Plainsmen. In the heat, substitutions frequently were made ten men at a time.

The lineups:

Auburn	Pos.	Tulane
Burford	LE	Bodney
Russell	LT	White
Thorpe	LG	Dailey
Morgan	C	Smith
Howell	RG	Groves
Wolff	RT	Miller
Whatley	RE	Wentzel
Walker	QB	Nyhan
Kelly	LH	Brunner

Tennessee Comes From Behind To Beat Clemson, 20-7

OKLAHOMA AND BROWN PROVIDE ONLY 2 UPSETS

By Herbert W. Barker

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Minnesota's Gophers and the Pitt Panthers put on another smashing football show today as Fritz Crisler's regime at Michigan got away to a brilliant start.

Back in Big Ten territory after a successful tour of duty at Princeton, Crisler uncovered a sound, well-coached Michigan army which whipped Michigan State for the first time in five years, 14-0, as a monster crowd of 82,500 looked on.

Meanwhile Minnesota, which had stressed speed and alertness in winning from Washington last week, poured on sheer power against Nebraska and romped to a 16-7 decision before 55,000. A crowd of 40,000 saw Pitt, impressive in its opener against West Virginia, outclass Temple, 28-6, as Dick Cassiano ran to two touchdowns.

As a matter of cold fact not for years has play followed form so closely as it did today. The only real surprises of the day were sprung by Tom Stidham's Oklahoma Sooners, who stopped highly touted Rice, 7-6, and Tuss McLaughry's long-suffering Brown Bears, who shocked Harvard, 20-13.

In the middle west, Ohio State outplayed most of the way, scored a single touchdown in the final quarter on a pass from Jim Sexton to Don Scott, and nipped Indiana's powerful Hoosiers, 6-0, as 67,397, a record opening game crowd at Columbus, looked on.

Other Big Ten schools, save only for Chicago, chalked up non-conference victories. Northwestern tripped Kansas State, 21-0; Wisconsin buried Marquette, 27-0; Purdue trounced Butler, 21-6; and Illinois swamped DePaul, 44-7. Chicago played a scoreless tie with Bradley Tech.

Notre Dame, with a flock of fast backs in operation, ran up a 52-0 count on Kansas.

The eastern program was marked by a spectacular triumph. Columbia, sparked as expected by Sid Luckman, scored over Yale, 27-14. Cornell, playing conservatively after getting a first half lead, turned back Colgate, 15-6. Penn and Penn State both hung up surprisingly one-sided victories, the former over Lafayette, 34-6, and the latter over Maryland, 33-0.

Both service schools scored handily over Southern conference rivals. Army ran over Virginia Tech almost at will, 39-0, and Navy ran up a 26-0 count on Virginia Military. Princeton looked good in a 39-0 rout of Williams.

In the Southwest, Texas Christian's brilliant array toppled Arkansas, 21-14, in a conference fray as Southern Methodist topped Arizona, 29-7, and Texas A. and M. won over Tulsa, 20-0. Texas, however, was soundly beaten by Louisiana State, 20-0.

Tulane and Auburn, infringing on a Pitt-Fordham copyright, played their third successive scoreless tie in a Southeastern conference game which cost highly touted Auburn much in the way of prestige. Tennessee and Georgia gave the Southeastern conference triumphs over the Southern. Tennessee beat a good Clemson team, 20-7, while Georgia just squeaked through against South Carolina, 7-6.

Duke and North Carolina moved ahead in the Southern conference as the Blue Devils tripped Davidson, 27-0, and North Carolina toppled North Carolina State, 21-0.

In the far west, Santa Clara's Broncos revealed amazing power in a 22-0 rout of Stanford as California, Oregon and Southern California won Pacific Coast conference decisions. California ripped through Washington State, 27-3; Oregon nipped U. C. L. A., 14-12, and Southern California stopped Oregon State, 7-0. Washington was held to a tie by tough Idaho, 12-12.

Missouri took a 14-7 decision from Colorado of the Rocky Mountain conference.

OUACHITA BEATS CAMDEN ELEVEN

through the line, and White shot a pass to Greening for another first down on the Lion five. Langley got four and a half yards through right tackle, and then crashed through the middle for the score.

Taylor kicked to Seivers, who was downed on Ouachita's 46 to open the second half. Fleming made 12 and a first at left tackle. Mitchell got 19 and another first at right tackle. Brown and Fleming moved the oval to Camden's 21 on two line plays, and then Brown slipped through the middle of the line to score. Fleming's kick was low.

Ouachita scored two more times in rapid succession midway of the final quarter. Fleming, taking one of Taylor's punts on his own 40, ran the ball back to Camden's 27. A pass, "Cotton" Hall to Fleming, put the oval on the Panthers' 19. Brown went through the line for a first on Camden's seven, and added five more the same way. Fleming then slipped through left tackle to score. Brown's kick was blocked.

Brown then kicked off bad to Camden's 40. The Panthers went to the air, but Clayton Brown got under one of Maxwell Brown's heaves on Camden's 45 and ran it back for the final tally. Gerson's kick for the point after touchdown was no good.

Coach Haynes last night announced that the Ouachita game scheduled for next Friday night at Tallulah would be played on Thursday night instead. The game will be the Lions' first away from home this season.

JIMMY WILSON RESIGNS AS BOSS OF PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Philadelphia National league club resigned today—one day before his team ends the season in the cellar of the league standings.

Club President Gerald Nugent, who announced Wilson had handed in his resignation, said a successor would be named next week. He did not comment on reports current for several days that the successor would be Dr. James Thompson Prothro, Memphis, Tenn., dentist, who last year managed the Little Rock team of the Southern league.

Wilson's written resignation said his action would "not be a surprise" and was for the "best interests of all concerned."

VOLS HOLD TIGERS AFTER TOUCHDOWN IN SECOND PERIOD

Neyland's 'Shock Troops' Take Command After Starting Team Falters

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Tennessee's Volunteers soared from behind today to hand scrapping Clemson college a 20 to 7 setback.

When Major Bob Neyland's starting eleven fell back under a Clemson power drive of 64 yards to the pay-off stripe, Tennessee's "shock troops," generalled by George Cafego, reversed the order of proceedings.

With Cafego, 170 pounds of gridiron dynamite, running wild and passing all over the field, Tennessee's rally produced touchdowns in each of the last three periods while the defensive setup thwarted all further scoring threats by the Southern conference team.

Clemson, surprise victor over Tulane a week ago, went down fighting. The Tigers, with big Don Willis, Bob Bailey and Banks McFadden bearing the brunt of the offensive, staged a spectacular 66-yard march late in the fourth period only to be checked at the Tennessee goal and come right back with another threat that faltered at the 30.

Neyland rushed in a new team just before the Clemson touchdown and this eleven, with six sophomores in the lineup, took the kickoff and evened the tally when sophomore Bob Andridge, on a reverse play behind perfect blocking, raced 59 yards to the goal. Cafego added the extra point.

Near the end of the third period the Vols' second touchdown ended a drive that netted 57 yards in six plays.

Later Foxx leaped into the air to grab a pass that ricocheted from the hands of Bailey and dashed 23 yards to score unmolested. The extra point kick was blocked.

The Summary:

hand was blue and badly swollen. However, he bellowed, "I'll get into that series if they have to fit me for crutches."

The Cubs were mournful souls for a time today, after Johnny Mize poled a homer over the rightfield pavilion in the eighth inning of the first game to beat them, 4-3. That left them desperate for a victory, as the score of the Pirates' game in Cincinnati had not yet been posted.

But when the final Pittsburgh score was posted on the board, the Cubs really began to fight. Dizzy Dean stood on the dugout steps, pounding a bat against a post and yelling to Root to "pour it on 'em."

The crowd of 20,000 sensing that it was about to be in on the kill, began pulling for the Cubs, too.

Jumping on Root for six hits in the first three innings, including a triple by Myers, rookie shortstop, the Cards grabbed a 3-1 lead at the outset of the nightcap. With Clyde Shoun pitching tight ball, it wasn't until the fifth frame that the Cubs managed to whittle it down to a tie at 3-3.

Then with Root mowing down the Card batters in order, the Cubs really went to work on Bill McGee, who had succeeded Shoun. Three successive hits, an error by Mize on a bunt by Carl Reynolds, and a squeeze play chased four runs over the plate. Three more were added off Lon Warneke in the eighth for good measure, Ken O'Dea's double finally driving Lon from the hill.

It was an impressive finish. It could not be said that the Cubs backed into the throne room.

They played fighting ball afield, too, not making an error in the three games played yesterday and today. They backed up Root with particularly brilliant play, showing no signs of the jitters that had threatened to overtake them yesterday. Demaree's running one-handed catch of Terry Moore's liner against the right field wall in the fifth was a gem. Only 19 batters faced Root in the last six frames, a double play cutting off the only threat the Cards made.

GIANTS WALLOP BEES

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Four home runs, including Mel Ott's 36th of the season, enabled the Giants to trim the Boston Bees 13 to 5 today and remain a game ahead of the Cincinnati Reds in the struggle for third place in the National league. Besides Ott, Johnny McCarthy, Alex Kampouris and Harry Danning hit for the circuit to account for 10 Giant runs.

REDS CRUSH PIRATES

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 1.—(AP)—In a game as whacky and delirious as the flag race itself, the Cincinnati Reds crushed Pittsburgh's flag hopes today by swamping five pitchers with a 17-hit attack and a wild, 9 to 6 victory before a ladies' day crowd of 13,386 fans.

The Pirates played and fought like a sandlot team. After overcoming a four-run deficit with a five-run rally in the fourth inning, the defense collapsed with their pitching and the loose-swinging Reds, led by big Ernie Lombardi and Billy Myers, turned the game into a rout.

Big Jim Weaver, who rescued Bucky Walters in the noisy Pirate fourth, was the hero of the wild battle. So completely did he stop the Bucs that he allowed but two hits, one a homer by Johnny Rizzo.

Northeast Center To Play Kilgore College Thursday

Indians Come Out Of College Of Marshall Game In Good Condition

The Northeast Center of L. S. U. Indians, after two games at home, leave here this week for Kilgore, Tex., where they meet the Kilgore Junior college eleven Thursday night in the second meeting of the two teams.

Coach James L. Malone, after giving the Tribesmen a long workout yesterday afternoon, said his charges came out of the College of Marshall game Thursday night in good shape, and that the roster of acting players previous to the Marshall invasion had diminished considerably.

Jimmy Meeks, fleet little fullback, is the only member of the squad at the present who is suffering a major injury, Coach Malone stated, but he is recovering steadily. Several others are nursing bruises, but their ailments will not keep them confined to the benches.

The No. 1 lineup in yesterday's scrimmage was the same that started against College of Marshall, and Coach Malone indicated that it would be his starting lineup against Kilgore.

However, Coach Malone said one change was anticipated in the chores of Ernest Freeman, veteran tackle. Freeman was worked at a guard position yesterday for the first time and his work met with favor. The Tribe has two stellar tackles in Allen McNees and George Perry, but Freeman was just as good and Center needs all three of them in the line.

The switching of Freeman to guard will also give the forward wall additional weight. Coach Malone said he had not decided which guard post would be best suited to the convert but the work early this week would determine whether and on which side of the center he would work.

Plans were under way here yesterday to charter a special train to Kilgore for the game, it was stated. The special will be available not only to Center students but to Indian fans of this area also. Coach Malone said last night he had learned from Kilgore that the Texans were planning to entertain the largest crowd ever to see a football game there, with not less than 8,000 expected.

Coach Malone drilled the Indians in an offensive scrimmage for one hour yesterday, stressing blocking for the ball carriers. More scrimmaging is planned for tomorrow.

CHOCTAWS DEFEAT LOUISIANA COLLEGE

CLINTON, Miss., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Mississippi college Choctaws smothered a heavier Louisiana college eleven here this afternoon, rolling up five touchdowns for a 31-13 victory.

Hennington skirted right end for six yards early in the first period for the first Choctaw marker. During the second period, a pass from Armstrong to Hitt paid off after a drive up the field from the Louisiana 35, and a few minutes later Cliff Landrum leaped over two Louisiana tacklers and fell over the goal line for the third counter.

Louisiana scored in the third quarter, when Carbo returned the kick-off from the Louisiana 4, and ran 96 yards to the goal line. A Choctaw fumble set the stage for Louisiana's second score.

A lateral from Hennington to Armstrong from the Louisiana 17 chalked up another Choc counter, and an Armstrong-Hitt aerial from the Louisiana 33 marked up the final.

ARMY BEATS V. P. I.

MAROONS BLANK FLORIDA ELEVEN

Mississippi State Wallops Gators, 22-0, Before Homecoming Crowd

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Paced by Jack Nix, junior halfback, the Mississippi State college football team rolled over Florida 22-0 before a homecoming crowd here today.

Taking the lead in the first period, the Maroons were never in danger. Nix took a perfect 30-yard pass from Sonny Bruce on the three and stepped over for the score, and Bruce converted from placement.

After booting down on the 21, Ed Scott provided a second-period field goal from placement to give the Maroons a 10-point lead at the half.

It was in the third period that State's first team, duplicating the opening game with Howard, unleashed a powerful offense to score two touchdowns.

Jack Nix touched off this scoring spree by racing 15 yards around his left end to score standing. A few minutes later, Frank Chambers, subbing for Bruce, drove 12 yards to the Florida one, and on the next play sliced through right tackle for the counter. The Gators got a good chance to score in the first period, when Clark Goff partially blocked Bruce's punt and Florida recovered on the 30. State's defense stiffened and forced the Gators to yield the ball on the 22.

ALABAMA BEATS HOWARD, 34 TO 0

Crimson Tide Displays Power And Versatility Before 8,000 Spectators

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Alabama's Crimson Tide smashed Howard, 34 to 0, here today in a display of power and versatility before approximately 8,000 fans.

The Alabama line dominated play from the start, and the Tide was never in serious trouble.

Alvin (Pig) Davis, 185-pound fullback from Greenforest, Ark., stole the offensive show with long gains on off-tackle slants and line smashes, although the other 'Bama backs gained plenty of ground.

Davis ran 56 yards for the day's longest touchdown jaunt and scored another on a line buck.

Billy Siemons opened the scoring with a 15-yard end sweep in the opening period. George Zivich tore off 43 yards for the second and Davis' long run accounted for the next one, both in the second period. Charles Holm rammed over the fourth score midway of the third period, and Pig Davis' second touchdown, in the final period, ended the scoring for the day.

The potent Alabama line held Howard running plays to five net yards, but the Bull Dogs picked up 46 on passes.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Sid Feder

(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—They're certainly not making it any easier for Hankus Pankus Greenberg. . . . Knocking off tomorrow's game for a double header Sunday is almost sure to slice at least a couple of innings off big Hank's chances of catching the Babe—'cause darkness always catches up with the second games of these October double bills. . . . Attn. Jerseyans: mosquitos up Wisconsin way were so big and thick Whitewater Teachers footballers couldn't get outside for practice—had to take to the gym. . . . And Jimmy Ford reports from the campus one of the boys was attacked by so many of 'em he hasn't reported yet. . . . Cub pitching staff looks so-o-o tired. . . . Makes you wonder what'll happen when those Yanks show up—provided the Cubs do get the flag. . . . Well, there's one consolation, somebody has to win it. . . .

Sharpshooter Wilfred Hetzel, the Minneapolis basketball whiz, may take his trick shots into the movies this winter, and then bring 'em to the World fair here next year. . . . He's the fellow who can sink his shots any way you call them, including the Scandinavian. . . . The big name golfing pros are thinking over an invite to take a crack at the Philippine Open. . . . If Al Siebert of the Sheridan (Wyo.) chamber of commerce, isn't kidding, they've really got the makings of another Slingin' Sammy Baugh out there. . . . Name, Dick Woods; occupation, end on the Sheridan High team; height, six-four . . ., and, says Mr. Siebert, "he passes 70 yards with comparative ease." . . . Even if that's giving him just a leetle the best of it, college scouts 'll be thanking you for the plug, Mr. Siebert. . . .

Wonder what those other National pro football league bosses think of themselves for passing up a chance to land Purdue Cecil Isbell in the draft. . . . Looks like the Green Bay Packers have the goods in that feller. . . . Texas Mines (nickname, Ore Diggers, in case you haven't heard) will be quietly uniformed in flaming orange and white this year. . . . And Gus Dorais will trot his Detroits out in blazing cardinal jerseys, gold pants and red and white striped helmets. . . . Did somebody in the house holler fire? . . . Paavo Nurmi took one look at Gunnar Barlund, the heavyweight, on a running track in their native Finland—and told him he should get into the fight game. . . . He did. . . .

Things it'll be fun to watch in the series: The first time Carl Reynolds, the Cub ballhawk, comes sliding home against Bill Dickey, the Yanks' catcher. . . . They haven't seen much of each other since Bill hung one on Carl (then a Senator) back in '32, and they carted Carl off to the hospital with a busted jaw. . . . Minor league ball broke all records this year. . . . With 37 clubs starting and finishing the season, and not a dime in debt. . . . That's the end of "firecracker leagues and irresponsible promoters," points out Minor League Czar W. G. Bramham. . . . Dutch Bergman is calling it his "League of Nations" squad down at Catholic university. . . . 14 nationalities, including a couple of Greeks and one honest-to-goodness Chippewa Indian. . . .

The government of Egypt gave consideration in 1938 to the cultivation of tobacco but hesitated because such action would cut into the collection of import taxes.

2 SENATORS URGE PARLEY IN U. S.

cated he was confident that the recent threat of war in Europe was definitely past.

In an interview, Senator Burke said he thought the time was ripe for an economic readjustment which would remove trade barriers and, with them, many of the causes of war.

"I think Europe's troubles are basically economic," he said.

"The president is the logical one to take the leadership in calling an economic conference. The United States is not involved in any of the boundary or racial disputes that are troubling Europe. The president is in an ideal position to take the lead because he can do it without involving us in Europe's quarrels."

Praising the reciprocal trade treaties fostered by Secretary of State Hull, Burke said some such treaties might well be the basis of agreements among all the larger nations of the world.

In his statement Lewis predicted there would be attempts to dismember Poland, in preparation for conflict with Russia, and that Germany, Japan and Italy subsequently would demand complete domination of trade in the Orient, to the exclusion of the United States.

The state department threw further light, meantime, upon the extent of moral pressure brought to bear by the United States and other American nations during the Czech crisis.

Secretary Hull disclosed that, prior to settlement of the territorial dispute between Czechoslovakia and Poland today, the United States ambassador to Warsaw had been instructed to express President Roosevelt's hope that Poland would refrain from the use of force.

JONESBORO-HODGE WALLOPS FARMERS

JONESBORO, La., Oct. 1.—(Special)—Coach "Sonny" Maroney's Tigers of the Jonesboro-Hodge High school walloped the Farmerville Farmers, 47 to 0, here last night in the Tigers new athletic field. It was the first night game ever played here, and a large crowd of Jonesboro and Hodge citizens turned out for the engagement.

Cercy Frey, captain and fullback of the Tigers, was the outstanding performer of the game as he scored four of his team's touchdowns and personally led them in the smashing victory.

The longest run of the game was made by Fred Clay, end, who took a pass from Frey and raced 55 yards to score. Haywood Hargrove, halfback, ran 42 yards for a touchdown and also shouldered the punting duties for Jonesboro-Hodge. Whitten also scored for the locals.

The Tigers will meet the strong Bossier City Bearcats here next Friday night at 8 o'clock.

PLAYOFF GAME SET FOR CLARKS TODAY

CLARKS, La., Oct. 1.—(Special)—The sixth game of the Big Six league championship series between Clarks and Chatham will be played here Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

"Lefty" Counts is expected to draw the pitching assignment for the Lumberjacks with Woodrow Duncan doing the catching. Ed Head, who has won two games for Chatham, is slated to pitch for the visitors. Either Gimber or Johnson will catch for Chatham. Counts has won one series game and lost one.

Chatham, with three victories, needs only one more win to claim the crown. The Lumberjacks, with two wins, must take two games if they expect to be league champs.

Should Clarks win Sunday a seventh game will be necessary with the time and place of such a game to be decided following Sunday's skirmish.

BABY CHIMPANZEE FINALLY RESCUED

Luizette with sticks. No luck. She held the baby. The keepers were afraid of getting too rough because in the ensuing excitement Mrs. Luizette, the dope, might have crushed the baby to death.

Mr. Neelis wired zoos in St. Louis and Chicago for advice. From St. Louis came word that if Mrs. Luizette could be lassoed the baby could be taken from her.

Even Detective Chief John Grosch tried to help. He thought he could razzle-dazzle Mrs. Luizette with handcuffs. She refused to be cuffed and kept the baby. The chief and his pals tried to lasso the lady. She opened the knots in the rope with her teeth.

Mrs. Coco, watching the proceedings from the next cage, kept making that funny blowing noise with her lips known as the Bronx cheer.

But today the S. P. C. A., fearing the baby, which had eaten nothing since birth, would surely starve to death, sent its agent, Joe Margiotta to the scene. Joe lassoed Mrs. Luizette and the keepers got the baby.

Immediately Mr. Neelis summoned a baby specialist who prescribed a feeding formula—two and a half ounces of something every two hours—and the baby got its first drink of milk, through a bottle with a nipple, and promptly fell into a doze.

Mr. Neelis, believing the smell of Mrs. Luizette is now strong on the baby, fears he will never be able to persuade Mrs. Coco to take it back.

Mrs. Neelis was awfully glad it was all over.

POLAND TAKING OVER HER SLICE

ments of the Munich four-power accord and Czechoslovakia's capitulation to Poland.

While his troops launched the progressive occupation of Sudetenland provided in the Munich agreement Adolf Hitler returned to a conqueror's welcome in Berlin.

One-third of the first zone of Sudeten areas ceded to Germany by Czechoslovakia last night had been brought within the widening frontiers of greater Germany. Three zones were left for occupation by German troops before October 8.

Further areas are to be occupied by Germany by October 10, their boundaries to be fixed by the five-power international commission supervising the cession.

Czechoslovak troops, meanwhile, began evacuating Teschen after the government reached a "painful" decision to yield to Poland's ultimatum for cession of that boundary zone populated by most of Czechoslovakia's 100,000 Polish minority.

Popular demonstrations broke loose in Warsaw when the government announcement said Polish troops would take over Teschen at 2 p. m. (7 a.m. central standard time) today. Remaining sections of Teschen and Freistadt districts are to be taken over by Poland by October 10.

In Washington, Democratic Senators Burke of Nebraska and Lewis of Illinois proposed that President Roosevelt summon international conferences to effect a lasting European peace.

Burke, just returned from a European trip, said Mr. Roosevelt was the logical man to call a badly needed world economic conference.

Lewis asserted the time was at hand when the president should summon all parties to the Versailles treaty to meet in this country and survey what that pact had produced "in discontent, revolt and war."

Most European governments faced the "morning after" fact that the crisis had cost millions of dollars. Placing millions of men under arms and other defensive measures had put a severe strain on treasuries, already burdened by armaments. Demobilization progressed rapidly.

Conservative Duff Cooper's resignation sounded a discordant note in Britain's jubilation over settlement of the war crisis.

His action was preceded by a speech by Harold Nicolson, national labor member of parliament, attacking the Chamberlain policy. "I still am not aware his (Chamberlain's) final surrender had the approval of his own cabinet," Nicolson said.

Duff Cooper's stepping down was expected to give the lead to a growing number of rebellious government supporters who share his "distrust."

France received assurances of British fidelity to the Anglo-French front in spite of the Hitler-Chamberlain friendship declaration. A spokesman said Britain maintained all her engagements to aid France in the event of a conflict.

First announcement of the agreement between the British prime minister and the German fuehrer had surprised the French government.

Moscow accepted calmly Czechoslovakia's capitulation to Poland's territorial demands. Authoritative quarters expressed belief the action did not involve the Russian-Czechoslovak mutual assistance pact since it involved no "unprovoked aggression."

The danger of an immediate European conflict past, thousands of foreigners began leaving Switzerland. Many Americans were among those who had gone there hoping the little confederation's neutrality would be respected in the event of a war.

At Hendaye, France, Spanish government spokesman reported that evacuation of foreign fighterns from the government army would begin next week with the arrival of a League of National supervisory committee.

Only intermittent air raids were reported from the fronts in Spain's civil war.

STOCK MARKET BUYING BRISK

Optimism Shown Over European Situation And General Business Pickup

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Further optimism over the fading of European war tension, combined with hopes for a pickup in business now that world peace prospects have brightened, brought fresh buying into the stock market.

While profit-taking intervals were frequent, gains ran to two or more points at the best, with a few issues such as du Pont, Johns-Manville and Philip Morris posting new highs for the year.

Top prices were reduced somewhat here and there at the close of the brief session, but many favorites ended at the best levels of the day.

The feverish activity Friday was absent and the ticker tape moved along at a steady gait after a quiet opening. Transfers approximated 800,000 shares.

Encouraging to recovery contingents was the apparently unexcited entrance of the Germany army into the Czech Sudetenland and later word that a Czechoslovak break with Poland had been avoided by the former's acceptance of the Polish territorial demands.

Brightening the market picture also were signs Germany and France would bury the hatchet and reach an accord similar to the one effected between Great Britain and the reich.

Resignation of first lord of the British admiralty, Alfred Duff Cooper, because of disagreement with Chamberlain's foreign policy attracted some attention as possibly portending a political flareup in England, but it was believed to have been only a minor market factor.

Receiving support throughout were shares of United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, General Motors, Chrysler, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Montgomery Ward, United States Rubber, J. I. Case, Oliver Farm, Allis Chalmers, Sperry Corporation, Westinghouse, American Can, Air Reduction, Owens-Illinois, Crane Company, American Smelting, Anaconda, Santa Fe, New York Central, Great Northern and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Bonds, both foreign and domestic, were in demand at substantially higher quotations. Commodities were narrow. Most foreign markets were closed but the London gold rate was reduced a shade. Sterling and the French franc slipped in terms of the dollar. Curb shares moved forward.

MILLIONS ARE SOUGHT IN SUIT

F. C. McMullen One Of Litigants In Case Involving Oil Lands

F. C. Mullen, 1200 South First street, car inspector for the Missouri Pacific railroad, has just returned from Canton, Tex., where he attended the hearings in district court which involves the title to oil lands valued at between two and three million dollars in the heart of the world's richest oil fields. Mr. McMullen is one of a number of heirs and should they win their case, he would receive a large sum of money.

The land in question is 200 acres in extent and already has 11 large oil wells on it, with potential possibility of a large number of additional wells. After 50 attorneys, some of whom were among the best known in Texas, had participated in the case, which is entitled Gilchrist versus the Humble Oil company, adjournment was taken until the January term of court.

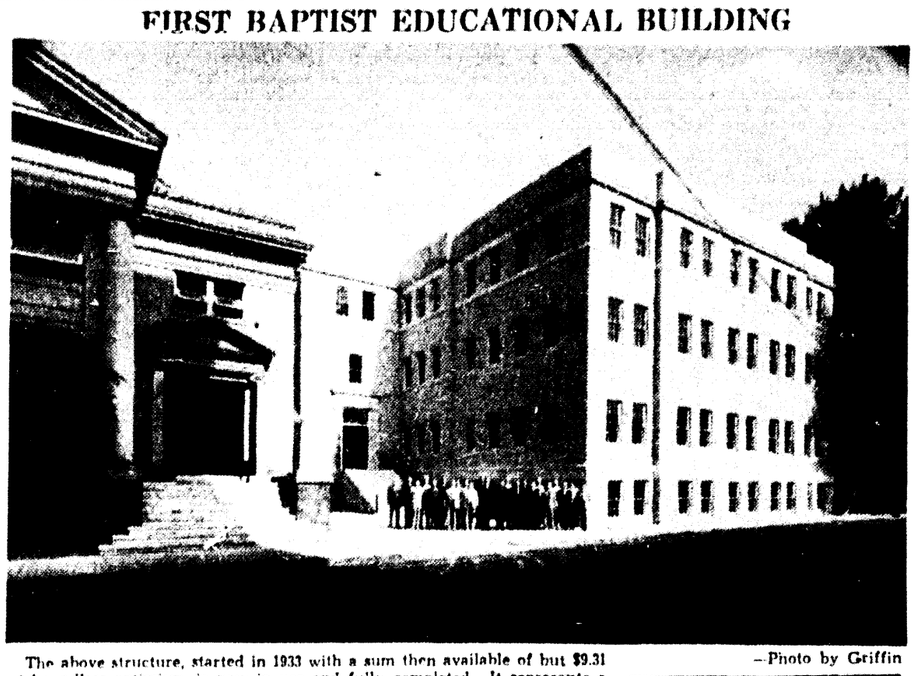

Mr. McMullen said that C. H. Gilchrist, original owner of the land, was his father's bachelor uncle, who was killed in Rome, Ga., in 1864.

The land was believed to have been worthless and no taxes were paid and the land, which is a waste sand dune, lay neglected and forgotten until the big oil boom, when it was leased by the state to an oil company.

The action now in court is brought by seven families, all descendants or nephews and nieces of C. H. Gilchrist, in an effort to establish title. Numerous complications and irregularities have been unearthed which have furnished material for the entry of the large number of attorneys.

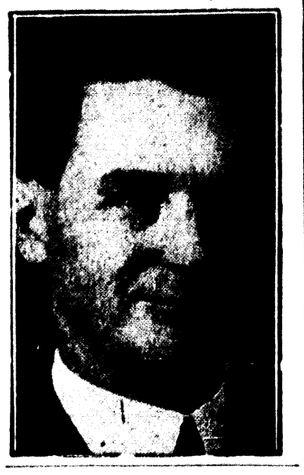

The United States has about four and one-half million colonies of honey bees that make about 160,000,000 pounds of honey a year.

The above structure, started in 1933 with a sum then available of but $9.31 and boundless optimism, is now in use and fully completed. It represents a total outlay of $125,000, making it rank as one of the best in the entire south. Shown in the picture are members of the finance and building committee and all officers of the church. Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor, whose efforts contributed to a large degree of the success of the undertaking is shown at the right.

Handsome New Educational Building Used By Baptists

Constantly increasing demands for more room and a vision of the future, backed by plenty of hard work, have developed into a realization of hopes and ambitions with the placing in use of the new $125,000 educational building of the First Baptist church. To be sure, the structure is by no means completed on the interior, but the handsome exterior is finished and the fourth floor and stairways leading thereto will be completed within the next few days. Temporary partitions have been installed on the first and third floors so that the entire Sunday school may be housed in the new building.

This building, ranking with the best in the entire south in the way of church educational structure, was started back in 1933 when various Sunday school classes saved their money and purchased brick up to the number of 100,000, and on one bleak November Sunday in 1933, with all due ceremony, the ground was broken for the building. It is said that at the outset there was but $9.31 actually available in cash, but just the same there was accompanying this sum a spirit that was optimistic and indefatigable. The work proceeded as the dollars rolled in.

After much hard work and sacrificial giving by members of the church and congregation, it was possible to complete the basement. Then the slab for the second floor was completed and for several summers this floor was used for church services.

Ultimately the structure was pushed upwards until in time it reached the height of four floors. Then financial arrangements were completed for sufficient money to complete the entire exterior, the fourth floor and stairways. Today the building represents an expenditure of approximately $100,000, and it is estimated that an additional $25,000 will be required for completion.

The building has dimensions of 69 by 112 feet and has four floors. The exterior is comprised of art brick of cream color which harmonizes with the construction of the nearby church auditorium. The many windows provide outside light and ventilation for the 105 individual class rooms.

The fourth floor comprises six assembly rooms and 43 class rooms and will care for 450 junior and intermediate boys and girls.

The third floor when completed will be used for the young people's department and the second floor will care for the adults.

The pastor's study, offices for other officials of the church and library will also be located on the second floor.

The basement, or first floor, will provide facilities for the nursery, beginners' and primary departments.

J. W. Smith and Associates, local architects, designed and supervised the construction, which was performed by Frank Masling, local contractor.

The Sunday school at present has an enrollment of 1,480 with an attendance in excess of 800 each Sunday. There are 18 departments, including the cradle roll and extension departments with classes for all ages from the nursery to adults.

Credit for the successful outcome of building operations is given in a large degree to two committees. They are the finance committee, composed of Chairman R. C. Stokes, Roy Q. Cole, George D. Holland, Frank Reitzell, Hugh Davis and D. C. Black, and the building committee, composed of Chairman Lawrence Pettit, E. H. Murrell and R. M. Drew.

But two others' unfaltering interest and wise guidance also have contributed greatly to success, together with the unselfish loyalty of the congregation. These are Rev. L. T. Hastings and his assistant, D. C. Black.

Rev. Hastings came to Monroe 12 years ago and is at this time entering on his 13th year of service. During this time he has worked unceasingly for the spiritual advancement of this church and for the community. In his term of ministry, he has seen the membership grow by leaps and bounds, becoming undoubtedly the largest possessed by any church in northeast Louisiana. His assistant, D. C. Black, who not only is pastor's assistant but is educational and music director, is also an official who has been credited with having proved a highly worthy assistant to his chief and one whose efforts on the building and other committees have contributed in large degree to the success of the project.

Do You Want A Baby?

IT is a well known fact that "Complete unity and happiness in married life is brought by babies," and that lack of children in the home is one of the greatest causes for discontented marriages. Also that woman was intended for Motherhood, but too often she has a functional weakness. During an experience of more than 40 years specializing in conditions peculiar to women, I developed a simple home method which has brought new hope.

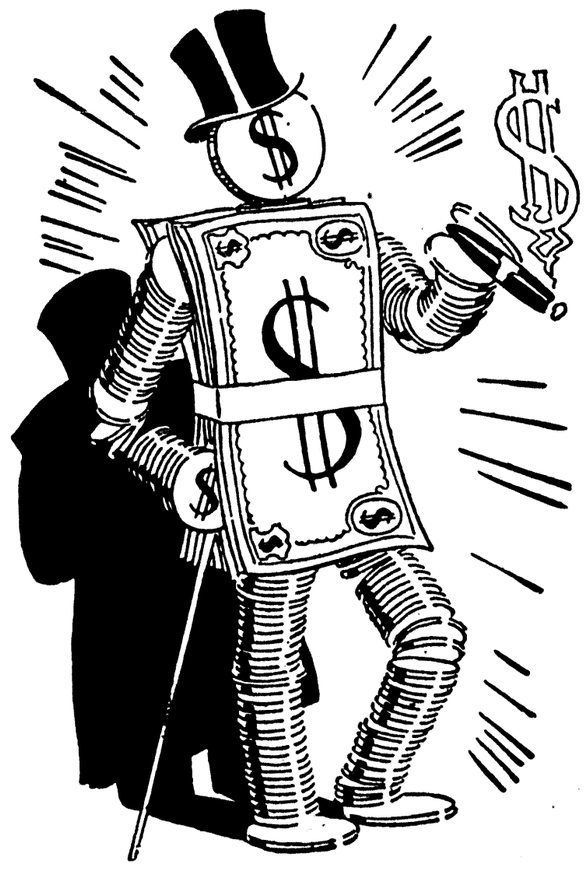

Happiness has been brought to many who were childless because of functional weakness. Husbands have written me the most glowing letters of gratitude, in such cases. Now I want other women suffering from functional weakness to learn about this splendid method and how it may be used in the privacy of the home. (Copr. 1938)

Get This Knowledge FREE

I have printed an illustrated comprehensive treatise on the merits of this method, in which I intimately discuss many important subjects relating to the female organs that are vitally interesting to every woman. They tell how you too may often combat your troubles as have others who reported the arrival of babies after being childless for years, due to functional weakness. So often again certain women may enjoy the desire and activities of Nature's most wonderful creation—a normal, fully developed, vigorous woman. 'LID OFF CRIME', BUTLER'S TOPIC

Fighting Marine's Lecture Here On October 21 Attracts Interest

Announcement of the appearance at the Neville High school auditorium on the night of October 21, of General Smedley Butler, who will talk on "Blowing the Lid Off Crime," has aroused unusual interest throughout northeast Louisiana. His lecture here will be sponsored by the L. B. Faulk post of the American Legion. Tickets will go on sale in the near future.

In 1923, the city of Philadelphia requested the loan of General Butler from the marine corps. The president granted the request and the general became director of public safety of Philadelphia in January, 1924.

In his first statement to the public, the fighting general said: "I'll strike regardless of whom it hits!" And he did, which caused much trouble.

Holdups and burglaries he reduced to a comparatively small number and increased the number of arrests for infractions of the prohibition law. Even the most rabid partisan gave him credit for being absolutely fair in his dealings. He sought to enforce the law without regard to influence, politics or wealth. But he had not been on the job long when certain politicians made a desperate effort to secure his removal, even going so far as to attempt to influence President Coolidge to recall him to the marine corps.

After two years' service as director of public safety, the general sent in his resignation to the United States marines. While his resignation was pending, the mayor dismissed him, saying he would not have a "resigned" officer occupying the post of director of public safety.

Editorial comment at the time was expressed as follows: "Two conclusions can be drawn from the record of General Butler in Philadelphia:

"One is that an incorruptible chief of police can enforce not only ordinary law and order, but the prohibition law as well. The other conclusion is that if a politician does not want a job done thoroughly, honestly and to the limit, he had better not ask a marine to do it."

General Butler believes that laws can be enforced and relates experiences to prove his contention.

SPEECH CLASS WILL BE ORGANIZED SOON

An organization meeting is scheduled to be held on the second floor of the Ouachita parish courthouse Tuesday at 7 p.m., by members of the speech class. The meeting will be conducted by the extension division of Louisiana State university. Announcement to this effect was made by P. H. Griffith, director of the general extension division of the state university.

The class will be taught by Grace Ingledue, head of the department of speech at the Northeast Center of Louisiana State university.

The time for future meetings will be set to suit the needs of the class. Three university hours of credit will be given those who complete this course.

American Association Of University Women Plans Unusually Active Program

Miss Myrtle Rodgers President Of Group

Study Of International Affairs And Government To Be Included In Discussions This Year

Members of the Monroe branch of the American Association of University Women will bring the world closer to them this winter, for they are turning with emphasis to study of international affairs and government in addition to carrying on a program of study and educational community projects and encouraging women in the field of creative scholarship through graduate fellowships.

Miss Myrtle Rodgers, president of the local branch of the American Association of University Women, believes that by working together the alumnae of different colleges could open doors of opportunity to women in the educational world and secure for women a fuller share of intellectual life. Working with her are members of the local branch, Miss Rebecca Cassell, Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mrs. H. P. Durrett, Mrs. W. R. Hammond, Mrs. Palmer Hardie, Mrs. George Holland, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. Herbert Steed, Mrs. J. Noble White, Mrs. S. E. Huey, Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Miss Edwynne Joseph, Miss Mary Hester, Dr. Julia Hunter, Mrs. W. E. Leigh, Miss Dean McKoin and Mrs. Fred Williamson.

The social side of life is stressed by this group of women who meet at regular intervals for tea and a conversational hour. September's social affair was a tea at the home of Dr. Julia Hunter with Miss Mary Hester and Miss Myrtle Rodgers presiding over the handsome silver tea and coffee services gracing the beautifully appointed refreshment table.

Miss Rodgers took this opportunity to give a few facts and figures concerning membership in the association. She said:

"The American Association of University Women is not a federation of college clubs or women's clubs; it is an educational organization. The association was founded in 1883, at a time when educational opportunities for women were limited, when prejudice against higher education for women was still strong and women who had succeeded in securing advanced training found few openings for using their abilities.

"The association was founded, as stated in its charter, 'for practical educational work, for the collection and publication of statistical and other information concerning education, and in general for the maintenance of high standards of education.'

"In carrying out these objectives, one of the first tasks to challenge the pioneering women who made up the A. C. A. was to prove to a doubting world that women were physically equal to the rigors of a college education. And prove it they did, with inescapable statistics drawn from their own growing membership. From that day the association has continued consistently its efforts to enlarge educational opportunities for women, and to promote higher educational standards both within and without the classroom.

"The association has always worked realistically to establish standards in higher education for women. Its first task was to secure for women as generous a share in higher education as was accorded men, and to abolish the so-called women's colleges which were colleges only in name. In this long fight, a very simple method has been used, and used effectively. The association admits to national membership only those women who hold an approved degree from an institution on its approved list. Approval is given to institutions which have high academic standards (the Association of American Universities' rating is now used), offer adequate provisions for the care and direction of women students, and give women equal status with men in faculty and student body. Because the association is interested in sound academic education, only those degrees are approved for which 50 per cent of the work is of a liberal, non-technical character."

Miss Elaine Levy Of St. Joseph Feted

Mrs. Newton Wilda and Miss Ethel Reiber of St. Joseph entertained at the Reiber home with a supper-bridge complimentary to Miss Elaine Levy, a bride-to-be.

The reception suite was banked with beautiful autumn leaves and bright-colored flowers. A bridal theme was developed in the dining room, where the supper table had for central decor a miniature church encircled with white tapers in low crystal holders. A handsome silver epergne overflowing with white dahlias adorned the spacious buffet. White tapers in silver candelabra gleamed at either end.

Bridge was introduced following the supper hour and prizes presented to Mrs. Myles Smith, Miss Myrtis King and Mrs. Jack Bargas.

Seventeen guests, in addition to Miss Levy and her mother, enjoyed the courtesies of the evening.

Welcome Branch Book Club Meets

Mrs. Dean Selig assisted by Mrs. Dudley Stone, entertained with charming informality the members of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book club Wednesday afternoon.

The Halloween season was reflected in the living room and dining room, where vases holding Mexican sunflowers were colorfully used with orange colored tapers burning during the tea hour.

After the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. J. R. White, an interesting program on "Regional Literature" from the western part of the United States was presented.

Mrs. Warren Gregory, program chairman, presided.

A vocal selection, "Dreams," by Bancroft, was rendered by Mrs. Wilfred Scroggin, accompanied by Mrs. Howard Hearne of Jonesboro.

Mrs. F. H. Peterson gave an interesting talk on "Regionalism." She said:

"Regionalism is nothing new or unprecedented, and our long expected great American novel has never arrived because of the inability of the various regions to agree on what constitutes greatness in novel reading.

"A region is a geographical term for an environmental type, and regional literature is reading material of and about an environmental type.

"Mankind's natural environment determines what he shall wear, ways of housing and food getting, it arranges by its progressions of seed time and harvest and climatic conditions.

"There is no part of the United States which has more ramifications from a literary standpoint than the south with its negro problem, its poor white people, its aristocracy in things social. The old south faltered by tradition and the new south in its period of reconstruction these 70 years past, and one of the nicest characteristics from a literary point of view is the romance which is credited to the south.

"Read Mr. Stark Young's book, 'So Red the Rose,' and you will have to be the most unimaginative soul alive if you are not able to live in the old south again for the period of time it takes you to read it.

"Mary Austin names some of her favorite fiction which has lived from generation to generation, and regional literature is the only kind which lives from generation to generation. She names 'The House of Seven Gables' and 'Scarlet Letter,' by Hawthorne, as typical Puritan literature, but it seems more like old England than New England. She thinks 'Queechy' is the finest portrayed of New England life that she knows of. 'Huckleberry Finn' and 'Tom Sawyer' are of old Mississippi valley favorites. 'Main Traveled Roads' takes us to the middle states and for the edge of the plains she delegates Ed Howe's masterpiece, 'The Story of the Country Town.'

"Miss Austin recommends Kipling's and Carrol's books and stories for children for their regional value. She recommends Joel Chandler Harris Parker and James Schultz books for the exploratory and adventuresome child.

"The oil fields of Texas provide Rex Beach with material for his book, 'Flaming Gold.' 'Tobacco Road,' by Caldwell is a story of proletarian people on an over-worked farm in the backwoods of Georgia.

"It takes, as Edgar A. Guest says, 'a heap o' livin' in a place before one is acquainted with it well enough to write sympathetically of it. It is understandable why Fannie Hurst goes to Hawaii and lives four years to write a book, why Zane Grey lives in the Arizona deserts to write some of his western stories and Harold Bell Wright lived in the backwoods of the Ozarks in southern Missouri to write 'Shepherd of the Hills.'

"The whole of American culture and civilization probably defies the efforts of any one author, and we shall have to be content with many regional books from many authors instead of a great novel from the pen of one."

Mrs. Zell Smith, in giving a biological sketch of Edward Everett Dave, said:

"He is an ex-cowboy, ex-deputy sheriff, ex-postmaster in a little western town, ex-country school teacher, is now head of the history department of the University of Oklahoma with a Ph.D. degree from Harvard, and is the author of books, poems and magazine articles."

"The Prairie Schooner," a four-verse poem, was read by Mrs. Smith at this time.

The biological sketch of Bret Harte and the short story, "A Buckeye Hollow Inheritance," were reviewed by Mrs. F. E. Black.

Members enjoying this program and the charming social hour, so much a part of these meetings, were: Mrs. Frank E. Black, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. Harold Deloney, Mrs. C. H. Dunaway, Mrs. J. Thomas Eubanks, Mrs. W. C. Faulk, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Mrs. Paul H. Herron, Mrs. G. D. By Eve C. Bradford

OCTOBER! A delightful languor lingers in these days when gardens, blissfully content, take their siesta and smoke from our neighbor's bonfire spreads a gentle haze. Tattered corn stalks at ease, nod over a good job done, and with plenty of elbow room, all vines wander about sociably. The Virginia creeper is clinging to the old brick walls as Layton castle is now ox-blood red, and the dahlias in the R. C. Sparks gardens continue to grow in beauty. R. C. has a system, all his own, whereby his dahlias grow larger and more beautiful as the season advances. The Japanese persimmon tree in the Travis Oliver gardens is weighted to the ground with huge clusters of fruit turning a bright red in the autumnal sun. In the Murray Hudson gardens the old japonica bushes transplanted from the ante-bellum gardens of Murray's childhood home, remembered by those who grew up in Monroe as "Sycamore Hall," are being protected from the sun's rays by screens hastily constructed when they commenced to droop. Murray, as brown as the proverbial berry, can be seen working frantically every evening among his cherished japonicas. There is one bush in particular, the only one of its kind in this section of the state, that is being given special care.

Gardening is as legitimate a hobby for husbands as for wives. It's just that men usually go out and silently dig, without holding meetings about it. As for the dahlia fans, those enthusiasts who can go handsomely broke unless they restrain their ardor for new and multiple varieties, are mostly men who work through the year and are rewarded when fall comes with glorious blooms. J. W. Kilbourne is one of the most ardent dahlia enthusiasts. Unless you have seen his gardens with the autumnal sun shining down on blossoms of every hue, you have missed something infinitely worth while.

Frances Keenan is another flower enthusiast who does not let hotel life deprive her of gardening. On the Virginia roof she walks daily among roses clambering over trellises, old fashioned flowers growing close to a white picket fence and geraniums in well ordered rows along the high brick wall. There is the sound of dripping water in the nearby pool and over all is the blue sky by day and the friendly stars by night.

Cecil Frazier, that lovely person with the low, musical voice and the beautiful brown eyes, has moved in town for the winter from the plantation where happy summer days have been spent with her husband, Maurice Frazier, and her two stalwart sons, who are now six-footers. Cecil is wearing a most becoming tan acquired when the Frazier family motored through Yellowstone park this past summer. The family spends every week-end at their plantation and now that fall and winter days are in the offing, friends are anticipating the pleasure of spending the day with Cecil before the roaring fire in the huge stone fireplace in the great living room where comfortable, deep cushioned chairs form a semi-circle around the glowing embers. Mildred Reid, who likes nothing better than donning tweeds and low heeled shoes for a walk with Cecil through the dense woods in the rear of Waverly plantation, remembers one day in particular last fall when they took a narrow trail and walked in a world all crimson and gold and strangely silent. Deer stalk this thickly wooded section where in years past Theodore Roosevelt hunted for bear. While Cecil entertains feminine guests with characteristic grace, Maurice provides his friends with hunting clothes, guns and ammunition and off they go thr ugh the deep woods. Returning home is the best part of all as a table laden with home-baked hams and other country edibles city folk revel in, awaits them. Then of course there is the cozy conversational hour before the fire, a few rubbers of bridge and then the swift ride homeward in the clear, cold night air.

Weeks of toil, frayed nerves, tired muscles, fits of stage fright and all

Mrs. Elbert Speaks At Club Meeting

Dolls of every nation were displayed by Mrs. Johnnie Smith Elbert when she addressed members of the Business and Professional Women's club on the subject of her European trip. Mrs. Elbert visited several foreign countries where she purchased dolls as souvenirs of her trip abroad. Of all the places visited Mrs. Elbert spoke of Lake Como and the Isle of Capri as being the most beautiful. She said, "As a matter of fact, from a tourist viewpoint, Pompeii, Vesuvius, Capri, Ravello and Sorrento provide the real scenery. Many observers agree that the view across the Bay of Naples from Sorrento at twilight, with the volcano giving off a faint glow and the lights beginning to make the harbor look as fantastic as Shelley's ocean of dreams without a sound, ranks near the top among the wonders of the world."

Mrs. Elbert displayed handsome linens from Brussels and a novel ash tray fashioned from the lava from Mt. Vesuvius.

Miss Sue Hefley, guest speaker, was introduced by Mrs. Leon McHenry, program chairman. Her subject, "My Job and Yours," contained many interesting and worth while suggestions.

A social hour was enjoyed following the program and bingo introduced for diversion by members of the entertainment committee.

It was announced at this time that "Nattional Business Women's week," would be observed during the week of October 9-16.

October Time For Changes In Garden

Monroe Club Gives Timely Suggestions On Bulb Planting; Old Mistakes Can Be Avoided

Now that October, the month of "reckoning" in the garden, has arrived, it's time to "take stock." October, with its cool days and the promise of many lovely weeks ahead, is one of the most delightful months to work out-of-doors. It's the ideal time to make changes, as most things can be moved at this time of the year. The failures and disappointments, as well as delights, are still fresh in the memory, so that changes made now will go a long way toward making borders lovelier another year.

Most timely are the suggestions offered by the Monroe Garden club in regard to bulb planting. A successful gardener and grower of bulbs says: "Looking back at this season's garden, I am sure we all remember some things that were lovelier than others because of the 'color pictures' they made, where groupings were good. Golden cosmos, planted behind the hardy ageratum, made such an attractive corner; below the blue hydrangea those few rosy morn petunias --good effects and so easily attained. Yet I've seen that same orange cosmos, well grown but planted near pink phlox, and as a result both were hurt, and solely by the combination of wrong colors.

"Why not look over the border now and by a change here and there work out a few good pictures with the plants you have, and be a bit foresighted about the bulbs you are going to put in? A bit of study with the bulb catalogue in regard to time of bloom and color will repay you in next spring's garden.

"Some of the things seen during the past season, and some tried out in my own garden, may prove worth while as suggestions. Going way back to last spring; there were the bulbs, and to think 'gardens' at this time of the year is to almost think in terms of bulbs—but the planting, not the blooming. There were the crocuses, planted in patches of solid color instead of in mixtures and the effect—far lovelier!

"Grape hyacinths, the indispensable heavenly blue, were used as foils with several kinds of tulips. Planted with them were the early double tulip, Courrone D'Or, a fine yellow, and in still other places an early double pink tulip was used, peach blossom. The deep blue of the grape hyacinths is pleasing with either color. At fairly close intervals along a long border and close to the edge clumps of hyacinths were planted with from three to six of the single early tulip, General De Wet.

"For sheer loveliness there is nothing like the soft pink of the tulip Clara Butt, rising out of some blue phlox (divaricata). It's a simple matter to plant a few of them now, then next spring note how many people exclaim at the picture it makes.

"Seeds of the dark blue larkspur, or of the blue cornflower, if sown this fall, will make much sturdier plants next spring, and in June will be a lovely sight if planted in front of the Dorothy Perkins rambler. But one of the most striking things I saw combined for effect was delphinium in front of a post on which the rose Jacotte was climbing. Another nice thing was the much-maligned mullein pink at the foot of an arbor over which the Pollyantha rose climbs.

"Something to plan now is a doorway where the Paul Scarlet rose will grow with wisteria. In our garden a young azalea is being reared in front of a tree from wisteria, and when both are well established the combination promises to be one of our nicest spring pictures for many years to come.

"Delphinium and madonna lilies are affinities in many gardens, and are always used together by some for effect. With this combination the use of heuchera (coral bells) makes a still lovelier grouping. Another altogether different combination with delphinium, which was grown as a background, was brought about by the use of cassia; its spikes of yellow being a foil for the blue.

"A good background for the soft blue of stokesia is a clump of the phlox, Columbia; or of the older, but still lovely, Elizabeth Campbell; or Daily Sketch, the pink of any one of them contrasting well with the stoke's aster.

"Last, a word about the Oriental poppies, as it is the only time of the year to move them, or put new ones in. Altogether these glorious flowers need no complement when they put on their show in the garden. I still think their extravagant beauty of color and form is greatly enhanced by the close proximity of anchusa dropmore. Its color—blue, and rather coarse form, combine especially well with the poppies."

The Neville High school P.-T. A. had a most interesting school of instruction recently, with Mrs. Carl Couch and Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, district and state officers, leading in the discussion.

The purposes, policies and objects of the Parent-Teacher association were given as follows:

First, to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church, and community; to raise the standards of home life; to secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth.

Second, to bring into closer relation the home and the school that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child, and to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social, and spiritual education.

Mrs. Couch said that the association was a channel through which the problems moved.

She suggested having programs interesting and informing; using consideration in selecting speakers. She explained that the policies of the P.-T. A. were non-partisan, non-commercial and non-sectarian. The election of officers, committees, etc., was discussed and explained in detail.

How the district and state groups function was related, interspersed with humorous stories of actual happenings throughout the territory.

The relation of the local to the state and national unit was explained.

Membership was a most interesting subject, as the week of October 1-8 has been designated by Governor Leche as P.-T. A. week and quite an active campaign for members will be made by all schools in the Twin Cities.

Mrs. Couch explained that mothers and fathers interested in the welfare of youth were eligible as members, and of course, all teachers.

Mrs. King Hunt, president of the Twin City P.-T. A. council, was present and told of the short course at L. S. U. this summer. She talked at length on programs, and told of several good methods used in planning them. She discussed the NYA and the audience was informed that Neville High school was receiving NYA assistance for some of its students.

She said the use of art in P.-T. A. meetings was stressed by Mrs. Roe.

Rodney J. Hobbs Auxiliary Feted

Mrs. C. A. Hunt entertained members of the auxiliary to the Rodney J. Hobbs post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Tuesday night with a benefit party at her home on DeSiard road.

The party was well attended and a nice sum realized for the auxiliary's relief fund to be used in their welfare work. These parties are to be weekly affairs and the proceeds will be used for this purpose. Welfare work amounting to approximately $72.90 has been handled by the auxiliary in the past month. Ten children have been provided with clothing, eight of them of school age.

Work of this sort is very gratifying to auxiliary members who realize that they cannot go wrong by helping the underprivileged child. Auxiliary members are asked to remember the benefit party to be given Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. N. O. Freeman, DeSiard road, and are urged to attend.

Mrs. L. L. Wood and Mrs. Blanche Lee have returned from Hot Springs greatly benefited in health from a three weeks' course of medicinal baths.

Miss Beatty Marries James Harrell Latimer

Miss Pearlee Beatty and Mr. James Harrell Latimer were married recently in a double ring ceremony read by Dr. W. B. Eldridge of the First Baptist church of Ruston.

Ferns and autumn marigolds were used to form the background in the chancel of the church where the ceremony was performed. On either side of the altar were candelabra holding white cathedral tapers.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Robert Brooks played a beautiful program of processional music.

The bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin played by Mrs. Stella Kolb.

Miss Elizabeth Ramsaeur was maid-of-honor and Miss Jessie Gwynn and Mrs. James Stephens were bridesmaids. Miss Ramsaeur's gown was of pale green taffeta with gold trim. It was fashioned with cluster ruffling bodice and puffed sleeves.

Truman Gore of Shreveport served as best man. Ushers were John Brooks and Roland Beatty, the latter a brother of the bride.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. She was exquisite in her gown of white satin cut on princess lines. The finger-tip veil was caught in a beautiful ornament of pearls. Her arm bouquet was fashioned of fern and white roses.

The bride's mother was gowned in a pink lace model with which she wore matched accessories. Her corsage was of pink gladiolus. The bridegroom's mother wore a black fall model with gold trim. Her corsage was pink gladiolus.

A reception was held in the home of the bride immediately after the wedding for a few close friends and relatives.

Following the reception, the bridal couple left for the gulf coast, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Tisdale were to return home today from California, where they attended the national convention of the American Legion and auxiliary in Los Angeles. En route home they spent several interesting days in San Francisco, where they were privileged to attend the presentation of "Faust," starring Conrad Nagel and several other stage productions, including "Candida," starring Ann Harding and Paul Cavanaugh. Of outstanding interest was their trip over the Golden Gate bridge, now under construction and considered to be one of the greatest engineering feats in history.

Mrs. Russell Simms has returned to her home in Gulfport following a visit with her sister, Mrs. John Cannon, of West Monroe.

the rest of the laborious details associated with rehearsals, will bear luscious fruit next Thursday night when the Junior league presents the long-heralded "Follies." There will be plenty of eye-fillers for the audience when the curtain goes up on the opening night. There will be no lagging; no encores to try the patience; no delays between the scenes. There will be no time for hackneyed finale when those who had a part in the play wave their hands above their heads and their voices reach a grand crescendo as the curtain goes down. You are going to see a very sophisticated performance—you can take our word for it, as we have been attending rehearsals and can assure you of a high class performance. You will not find yourself sitting on pins and needles, or burying your head in your program, for fear the cast will get mixed up in their lines or execute false steps.

Eleanor Faulk, president of the Junior league, is feverish with excitement. She walks the terrace nightly watching the show take shape. She was wearing, one night last week, a dark green woolen suit of unmistakable foreign design and cut. We were curious, so found out she purchased it in Austria when she took her trip around the world. The jacket is tight fitting and short and trimmed with the gay colors of the Tyrol. Eleanor attended the Salzburg music festival and wonders if this artistic international playground, where Americans, French and British come in shoals, is being raided by Germans of the fine Austrian wool of which her suit is made and if there is any change in the music—Mozart's Figaro, Verdi's "Falstaff," and Goethe's "Faust," and the wonderful Wagnerian performance.

Sue Graves, general chairman of the "Follies," is another indefatigable worker. She has practically given up home and husband for the time being. By the way, Sue has lost that Mona Lisa look since cutting her long black hair. She has acquired a brand new personality, more charming even than the old one.

Mary Lee Milam is one of the league's unsung heroes. She is about her business every day—selling advertisements, preparing the program, and other prosaic work that is without glamour but without which the show simply couldn't go on.

The Hugh Lennons sailed away into the purple glow on their house boat with a gay company on board when they suddenly remembered they had forgotten the steaks they had planned to broil over a fire built on a sand bar later in the evening. The day was not lost however. When they returned home the steaks were retreived and barbecued in the Amos Smelsers' pit. The appetizing odor made every one in the neighborhood hungry for just such a steak, so great juicy ones were trotted out to the Gordon Cummings' last Wednesday night and everyone appeased his appetite.

Long winter nights are just ahead. If you are looking for something unusually interesting to read, borrow a copy of "Soldier of Good Fortune," by a Louisiana girl, Ruth Cross. It is a story of the old French town of Natchitoches, the first white settlement in Louisiana. The curtain of two and a quarter centuries is drawn back and the reader is taken through a maze of events. In the tapestry of events the author, whom some of you no doubt know, has woven an unforgettable group of character studies. They all become living, understandable men and women richly clothed in the local color of their time and race. Miss Myrtle Rodgers, principal of the Georgia Tucker school, has an autographed copy of the book and expresses a desire to have it placed on the high school collateral reading list of this state.

When Johnnie Smith Elbert went abroad last spring she purchased a doll in every country visited. Last week when she addressed club women on the subject of Europe she displayed these colorful figurines wearing their native dress. She also had on display exquisite linens from Brussels and clever little ash trays made of lava from Mt. Vesuvius. She told of a moonlit night on the Isle of Capri and Lake Como and of the grandeur of the snow-capped Alps.

'Sing You Sinners' Comes To Paramount Next Friday

Couple Play Together For First Time In Madcap Comedy Picture

HOLLYWOOD'S newest pair of screen brothers are Bing Crosby and Fred MacMurray, who head the cast of the madcap Paramount comedy, "Sing You Sinners," which opens next Friday at the Paramount theater.

Playing together for the first time, Fred is cast as the serious-minded and hard-working member of the tempestuous "Beebe" family, while Bing is his lackadaisical and devil-may-care brother, whose inability to land a job and contribute to the household expenses nearly drives Fred mad. Elizabeth Patterson, as the strong-willed mother who ends up as madcap as her sons, and Donald O'Connor, as the kid brother, complete the "Beebe" family group.

The story, written by Claude Binyon, an ex-newspaperman and author of "I Met Him in Paris" and "True Confession," traces the adventures of the unpredictable "Beebes" from their small town beginnings to their thumping final success in the night clubs and racing paddocks of fabulous Los Angeles. Their rise starts when Bing, believing the home town too small for his talents, leaves for the big city, promising to send for his mother and kid brother as soon as he gets well established.

Bing's dizzy career in Los Angeles parallels the star's own colorful life story. After making an immediate killing at the races, he buys a swap-shop with his winnings. But, by the time Miss Patterson and young O'Connor arrive they find he has traded his business for a racehorse, on which he places everything he and they have in the world. Through the unexpected performance of the horse and the intercession of MacMurray, who organizes his brothers and himself into a night club singing trio, the "Beebes" bring their Los Angeles adventures to a successful, although startling, conclusion.

"Sing You Sinners" is paced by four new song hits from the pens of some of the top composers of Hollywood. Heading the list is "Small Fry," written by Hoagy Carmichael, the composer of the never-to-be-forgotten "Star Dust," in collaboration with Frank Loesser. In the picture this song forms an unusual novelty act, in which Bing portrays a southern grandpappy, MacMurray a grandmammy and O'Connor the "small fry" himself. The other numbers are "I've Got a Pocket Full of Dreams," "Laugh And Call It Love," and "Don't Let That Moon Get Away," by John Burke and James V. Monaco.

"Music hath charms, even for savage minds," runs the old proverb, and this scene from "Sing You Sinners," opening next Friday at the Paramount theater, seems to prove it! When Bing Crosby, Fred MacMurray and Donald O'Connor go into action, Bing's racehorse, "Ligaroti," relaxes in order to get the full benefit of the serenade.

Beatrice Roberts and Victor McLaglen, who play the leading roles in "The Devil's Party," will be seen today and Monday at the Capitol theater.

The navy's biggest spotlights now shine on Martha Raye Bob Hope and Jack Whiting who will be seen as the sweetheart of the United States fleet and her two love-struck officers in "Give Me a Sailor," when it opens Monday at the Paramount theater. Also playing a prominent role in this story of sailors high jinx when the fleet's in is beautiful Betty Grable.

DELTA FAIR TO START TUESDAY

TALLULAH, La., Oct. 1.—(Special)—The 21st Louisiana Delta fair, comprising the parishes of East Carroll, Madison and Tensas, will be held at the fair grounds in Tallulah October 4, 5, 6 and 7. Preparations are being made for extensive exhibits in all departments. There will be no charge for admission to the fair grounds but an admission to entertainment in front of the grandstand will be charged. There will be horse races each afternoon and musical concerts, and two performances by the WLS national barn dance will be given each night. The Tallulah High school band will furnish the music.

Friday has been designated as school day and Vicksburg day, and schools of the three parishes will be closed for the day. A large attendance from the three parishes and from Vicksburg is expected. A parade through Tallulah to the fairgrounds with the Tallulah High school band and Sons of the American Legion drum and bugle corps, Vicksburg Sons of the American Legion drum and bugle corps, Mississippi state champions and third place winners in the national convention in Los Angeles, and St. Aloysius High school band of Vicksburg participating, will be a feature.

"Ladies in Distress" with a grand old team, Allison Skipworth and Polly Moran. It plays Tuesday only at the Capitol theater.

"Alexander's Ragtime Band" returns to the Paramount theater Wednesday and Thursday. Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Don Ameche take the leading roles.

Richard Dix, as mystery man, goes sleuthing in "Blind Alibi," with beautiful Whitney Bourne, playing Thursday at the Capitol theater.

McLaglen In Film Now At Capitol

'The Devil's Party' Portrays Marty Malone, Stormy-Hearted Irishman

VICTOR McLaglen turns in one of the best jobs of acting in his long and notable screen career in "The Devil's Party," which opens its stay at the Capitol theater today.

There are moments when his portrait of Marty Malone, the big stormy hearted Irishman who strays from the straight and narrow path and redeems himself by a great sacrifice, approaches his screen picture of that other embattled Celt, Gypo Nolan, in "The Informer." There are pathos, savage aggressiveness, reckless heroism and passages of rich humor as the brawny Victor, fights, loves and loses and sweeps on to his dramatic fate in a climax scene of tremendous power.

Though McLaglen's portrait of Marty is the highlight of the film it is not just a solo triumph. In "The Devil's Party," Universal has produced a picture of shattering dramatic impact, with one of the warmest, most human stories to reach the screen in months. It tells of a gang of five kids from New York's Hell's Kitchen who grow up to positions of power in the city. One of them becomes a priest. Two join the police force. Marty after taking a reformatory rap for his pals as a kid, becomes a night club operator and the girl of the gang sings in his floor show. Gradually all five become enmeshed in a web of terrible danger till the explosive denouement blows things wide open.

The leading feminine part in the picture is played by Beatrice Roberts, a beautiful newcomer to films. As the girl McLaglen loves and loses, she is splendid. Paul Kelly is sincere as the priest. William Gargan and John Gallaudet portray the two policemen in the old gang with an appealing directness. Frank Jenks, one of the favorite comics of this department, is very funny and so is the moon-faced Dave Oliver. The whole supporting cast, including several child players carry their roles expertly.

Special mention must be made of Author Borden Chase, Screen Adapter Roy Chanslor and Director Ray McCarey, who combined to make "The Devil's Party" one of the season's treats.

Here's the trio voted the most popular western stars in a nationwide poll conducted by a movie trade paper. Russell Hayden, William Boyd and George Hayes come to the screen of the Capitol theater next Friday and Saturday in the latest "Hoppy" film, "In Old Mexico."

Minus the South seas sarong which she has made a household word, Dorothy Lamour returns to the screen in Arctic garb, opposite George Raft, in "Spawn of the North," Paramount's saga of Alaska, which plays today for the last times at the Paramount theater.

RODEO, LIVESTOCK SHOW TO BE HELD AT BATON ROUGE

The second annual world's champion rodeo and Louisiana livestock show will be held in the agricultural center on the Louisiana State university campus November 9-13, according to an announcement Friday by David L. Bornman, Jr., parish agricultural agent.

The dates were set at a board of directors meeting held last week at which Governor Richard W. Leche presided, the agent said.

"The rodeo and livestock show will be held after all of the fairs in Louisiana have been completed, and it is the plan of the board of directors to bring to Baton Rouge all of the livestock that has made a creditable showing at any of the fairs in the state," Mr. Bornman said. "Competition in the livestock exhibits will be open only to Louisiana owners. A total of $7,450 will be offered in prizes in the livestock competition and the show will be the biggest all-Louisiana event ever held."

Classes in horses, mules and sheep will be added to last year's premium list, to provide an opportunity for owners of all types of livestock in the state to exhibit their stock in competition with the best. The premium list is being printed now.

Ten performances of the world champion rodeo will be presented during the five days. A limited amount of exhibit space in the agricultural center will be offered to commercial concerns. An office to house the management of the rodeo and show has been opened in the agricultural center, and inquiries should be sent to the office there.

181 PLACED IN PRIVATE WORK

September This Year Exceeds Record Established In Same Month Last Year

Private employers hired 181 applicants referred to them during September by the Monroe unit of the Louisiana state employment service, according to a report rendered by R. E. Young, division manager. This number is said to represent a slight increase over the number of placements made during September, 1937.

Employers needing workers of any type are urged to use the facilities of the Louisiana state employment service, 230 South Grand street. This service is free of charge whether to the applicant or to the employer, as it is an agency operated by funds contributed jointly by the federal and state governments. It is a permanent service, created to deal solely with the employment problem and should not be confused with temporary relief agencies.

The Monroe office is divided into three divisions: (1) the professional and commercial division handles the applicants qualified as accountants, bookkeepers, stenographers, teachers, sales people and others in similar lines; (2) the industrial division handles the applications of carpenters, painters, electricians, brick masons, mechanics of all kinds, operators of equipment such as trucks and tractors, and unskilled or common laborers, and (3) the domestic and personal service division handling bellboys, dishwashers, porters, waitresses, cooks, maids, nurses, washerwomen, chauffeurs, yard workers, in fact all classes of workers who are needed in homes.

The service covers every conceivable group of occupations normally found in this community. To find the best available workers in the shortest possible time, employers are advised by Mr. Young to visit the offices here.

The Baptist Training union will begin at 6:30 p.m., instead of the former hour 6:45 p.m. Splendid programs are arranged for all groups; we welcome all ages to these meetings.

A splendid program of gospel music is arranged for all services and the pastor has a helpful message for all who will come for worship. Central welcomes all this great commonwealth of our district to be with us in all the services of the day. The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the close of the evening worship.

The order of W. M. U. meetings for the week are as follows: W. M. U. 2:30 p.m.; Sunbeams, 2:30; Intermediate G. A., 4:15 Mondays; Junior G. A., 4 p.m.; Junior R. A., 4 p.m. Wednesdays.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Grammont and St. John Streets
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
D. C. Black, Pastor's Associate

So many have been asking questions about conditions in Europe the pastor has decided to bring a message Sunday morning at 11 o'clock on "The European Situation in the Light of the Scriptures." All are urged to carefully read chapters 38 and 39 of the prophecy of Ezekiel and come Sunday morning to hear the pastor's timely message. We had a wonderful day last Sunday in every way, and we are praying for an even greater day next Sunday. Our new Sunday school superintendent, E. H. Miller, is getting things lined up in a fine way for the best year in that department of our work.

The work continues on the building. Further progress depends on the offerings our people and friends make.

Each night next week, beginning at 7 o'clock, the pastor will give a preview study of the Ten Commandments which will be the basis of Sunday school study for this quarter. All our teachers and officers are urged to be present. Others, including teachers from other churches, are invited.

At the evening hour, the pastor will speak on the fourth commandment, "The Right Kind of Children of the Right Kind of Parents." Special music has been prepared by Mr. Black and the choir. The B. T. U. and Brotherhood meet at 6:15. Come praying for a great day clear through to the final "Amen."

GRACE CHURCH
Corner Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Services for the 16th Sunday after Trinity are as follows: The Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a.m., church school at 9:30 a.m., choral celebration and sermon at 10:45 a.m.

Evensong and sermon at St. David's, Rayville, at 4 p.m. Meditation: taken from 1st St. John, 3rd chapter, verse 24: "And hereby we know that He abideth in us, by the Spirit which He gave us." It often seems we live in a world of opposing levels: spirit and ideas; actions and things. However, if we look at the position of man in relation to that scheme, we see that he is the connecting link. Each realm exists to benefit the other, and when we understand this, we can see the world as God sees it, a unit. The unity of life is more correctly understood when people incorporate into their life activity, the ideas they formulated in their communion with the realm of spirit.

A woman was talking to a little boy and said to him, "Who are the saints?" He, remembering the stained glass windows in his own church, replied, "Saints are the people who let the light shine through."

Church is open daily. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Art thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine Holy One? Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity." (Hab. 1.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God, Spirit, alone created all, and called it good. Therefore evil, being contrary to good, is unreal, and cannot be the product of God."

Tarzan

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright 1938 by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. and the Tarzan Syndicate. Distributed by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

DOOMED TO DIE!

BETRAYED BY FANG CHU-FANG, TARZAN FELL SWIFTLY INTO THE HANDS OF THE ENEMY.

HIS MEN CHARGED IN TO HELP HIM, BUT THE SAVAGES BEAT-THEM BACK.

WITHOUT HIS SKILFUL LEADERSHIP, TARZAN REALIZED, HIS TROOPS WOULD BE SLAUGHTERED.

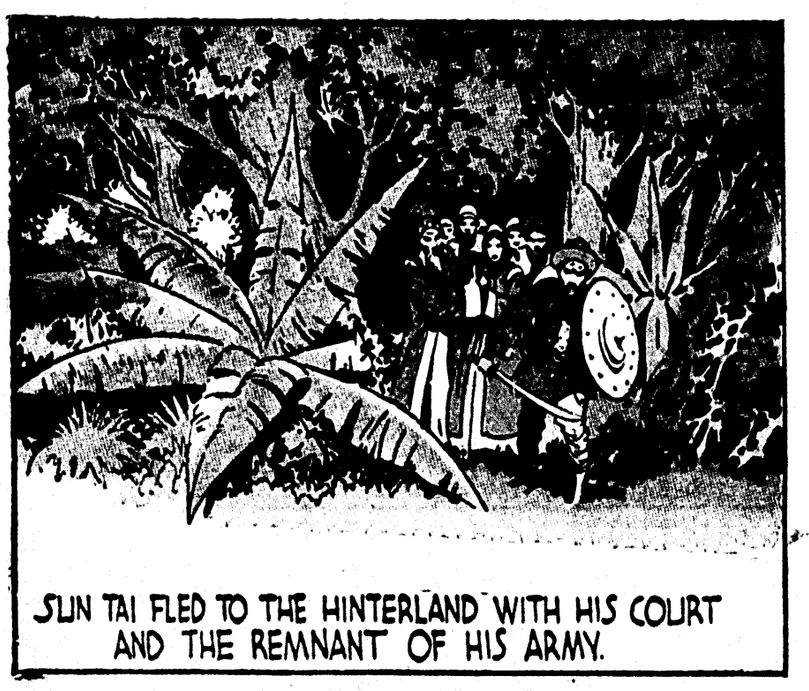

"RUN!" HE SHOUTED; "YOU CANNOT SAVE ME. SAVE YOURSELVES!" AND SO HIS ARMY FLED.

SUN TAI FLED TO THE HINTERLAND WITH HIS COURT AND THE REMNANT OF HIS ARMY.

BUT THE PEOPLE, ATTACHED TO THEIR HOMES, REMAINED, WHILE-------

--THE RUTHLESS HIYEDO MADE HIS TRIUMPHAL ENTRY.

SO HE COMMANDED THAT TARZAN BE TAKEN TO THE GREAT PLAZA, WHERE A SQUAD OF SAVAGES RANGED THEMSELVES BEFORE HIM, TO HURL THEIR SPEARS UNTIL THE APE-MAN DROPPED.

WHAT GETS ME, PAT, IS THE FACT THAT NO ONE COMES TO, OR LEAVES THE PLACE, EXCEPT BY PLANE - AND AT THAT WE HAVE SEEN BUT TWO PERSONS IN A WEEK.

AND THERE MUST BE A FORCE OF MEN IN THERE. THE CHIMNEYS ARE SMOKING, LIGHTS SHOW FROM THE WINDOWS.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE WHOLE THING REMINDS ME OF A PRISON! - MEN HELD IN CAPTIVITY!

SAY, THERE'S GOING TO BE THE DICKENS TO PAY SOON. A NASTY STORM IS BREAKING.

LOOK! A PLANE'S COMING IN TO LAND ON THEIR FIELD!

MEANWHILE LET US LOOK WITHIN THE WALLS OF THE HUGE BUILDING.

YES, SHE TRIED TO KILL ME - BUT SHE FAILED! SHE WAS JEALOUS. JEALOUS OF THAT BLONDE BOVANIAN AGENT I'VE BEEN DEALING WITH LATELY.

BUT, KARPSE, SHE EVEN THREATENED TO TIP OFF THE AUTHORITIES TO OUR WHOLE SET UP!

SHE WOULDN'T DARE! NEVER! NEVER!

TOO MANY GOVERMENTS ARE LOOKING FOR HER SCALP! TO TURN US IN WOULD BE TO END HER OWN CAREER - AND SHE KNOWS IT. SHE'LL BE BACK TO ME ON HER KNEES. WATCH AND SEE.

SAY! WHAT WAS THAT? IS 32 FLYING IN TONIGHT?

NOT WITH THIS STORM ON! HE'D BE A FOOL. THAT NOISE IS THUNDER.

DICK, HE'S HAVING A HARD TIME! MAYBE THE STORM -

TRACY

WHAT ARE THEY, TRACY?
